Q—What evidence of payment of just debts or expenses of last illness and burial should the widow send the VA?

A—The widow's certified statement showing the nature, amount, date and person or firm to whom such payments were made will be accepted as evidence of payment unless records later received raise doubt as to the validity of her statement.

I am a peacetime veteran with service-connected injuries from an auto accident. I have loss of use of my left limb. Am I eligible for the VA allowance of $1,600 toward the purchase of a new auto?

A—No. This benefit is provided for wartime veterans of World War II and the Korean Conflict periods.

her cane warns, "steps!"

That white cane also signals "Curb! Street crossing coming up," and tells drivers that she cannot see.

But even without a cane, she gets from class to class in high school — and very nicely, too.

Her ears are trained to catch the echo from a wall ahead. She knows how to fend off a half-opened door with her arm and to glide her hand along a wall until it touches the drinking fountain. Finding a dropped object has become an art with her and she is as skilled as her sighted schoolmates in playing games and just having fun.

Remarkable young lady? To be sure! But she would insist on people like you sharing the credit.

You see, it takes more than courage to find your way around a blacked-out world. It takes patient coaching from a professionally trained mobility instructor. There is one at the Cincinnati Association for the Blind. The United Appeal helps pay the cost. People like you help the United Appeal. So people like you share the credit.

The only trouble is, there are fifty more blind children than one mobility instructor can handle. There are fifty children waiting, imprisoned by blindness. Waiting for the freedom that comes with learning to walk onward, unaided, though no light shines.

People like you — yes, people like all of us — can give those blind children that freedom.

All it takes is enough people like you who will say to the United Appeal Campaigner, "Put me down for One Hour's Pay Each Month. It's needed for a sightless child."

Why Jesus Came

Lesson for October 11, 1964

Background Scriptures: 1 Timothy 1:15 through 2:14
Devotional Reading: John 10:1-16

WHEN we ask the question "Why?" we can mean either one of two things by it. One "Why?" looks backward, the other forward. Imagine a straight line with an arrow at each end, one pointing right, the other left. Let us follow the straight line.

represent any event, let us say your grandfather's moving to Alaska. Now if I ask, "Why did your grandfather move to Alaska?" I can mean either: What was the cause of your grandfather's move? or, for what purpose did your grandfather move? Now, if we let that line stand for the coming of Jesus Christ to this world, "Why did Jesus come?" can mean what was the cause, what were the causes, or what was the purpose. What were the purposes? In this week's study we ask the second question. For what purpose did Jesus come?

To save sinners. The first answer, which includes most others, is that Jesus came "to save sinners." Let's not skip over that as if we knew what it meant already. It suggests a great deal, and points up some of the differences between Christian and other religions. Some religions deny that man, any man, is a sinner. Communism, which is a kind of religion in reverse, gives up the notions of "right" and "wrong" for the simpler ideas of "correct" and "incorrect." Even if the words "good" and "bad" are used, they do not refer to God at all, for the communist recognizes no God. One may offend man but not God, they say. There are people who behave unpleasantly, but none who sin. For sin is a religious word, a word with God in the background.

To be a bridge

Another reason for which Jesus came—and comes every day—into this world, is to be a "Mediator." There is one mediator between God and men, Paul says,—himself man, Christ Jesus. The gulf between man and God seems too deep and too wide to be spanned. Man looked across and could see nothing but darkness and mystery. The Hebrews themselves, who knew much that is true about God, when they built a temple, left one room in it without a window and without even a place to set a lamp. This dark room was God's room, its darkness symbolizing man's ignorance of God. It was written in the Old Testament that God said, "No man shall see my face and live." The Apostle John in the New Testament speaks of God as one whom "no man has seen at any time"; and in this same letter to Timothy God is one whom "no man has seen nor can see." (1 Timothy 6:16) How terribly discouraging this is. Unless somehow this gulf of darkness is crossed, we are doomed to be forever separated from God.

To give himself

Jesus, we say, revealed God. He did this in words, in his teachings. By the way he talked about God, yes and the way he talked to God, Jesus opens for all who will look, windows into the character and purposes of God. But the unique and amazing thing about Jesus is that he not only gave us information,—the truth he had done that; he gave himself. He was not merely a wise man who told us much about God we did not know. He offered himself as a sacrifice, for our sakes. He is the Bridge; one who is not only a sharer of wisdom and truth, but one who shares our sorrows and even takes on himself the burdens and shame of our sins. He gave his wisdom, his time, his courage, his faith, his love; and in giving these things he was giving himself. Christ, in short, belongs to us.

Ideas are very much like children...your own are wonderful.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend church regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plans to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Hooky...

THE MORNING I PLAYED

This picture will always live in my memory. It was Sunday morning, and I was about eleven years old. I was on my way to Church School when I met Tom Snyder. It didn't take much urging for me to join him in a fishing expedition.

I had always thought it would be fun to play hooky. It came as kind of a shock that it wasn't. I was downright uncomfortable, sitting there with my line dangling in the water. I kept thinking about how nice our Church School teacher had been to me, and about how my parents would be looking for me in Church. And pretty soon I found that inside me I was wriggling.

I think that's the first time I ever realized I "ought" to do anything. I didn't catch a fish that morning, but I did learn a big lesson. I learned that there is very little honest joy in doing something you shouldn't be doing. I learned that we have a certain duty to God and to ourselves, and that we can't be happy when we turn our backs on it.

From then on, my Church School attendance was 100%. Now that I'm older, I try to maintain that same record. Sunday means the Church to my family.

A Look At Education

—by—
Eugene Robinson

Student Absences

Student absences will be excused and makeup work allowed on the basis of illness, death in the immediate family and school sponsored educational trips.

All other absences are unexcused without the privilege of making up work missed and without penalty. No student or other student will be excused from school for the purpose of finding summer or permanent employment. This must be done on the days school is dismissed for holidays, weekends, spring vacation, etc.

After being absent, each student should bring a note from home which explains the cause of absence. The note is to be given to the Director of Pupil Personnel who will give the student an excuse slip permitting him to enter classes.

Each student is responsible for the work missed and may make it up with an excused absence. Work must be made up within 3 weeks after the six week period closes. Any student who is absent from school without an excuse will be given a "0" (zero) for that day's work and will not be allowed to make it up.

Students will not be allowed to leave class for any reason except in an emergency or on principal's request.

Grading, Reporting

Six weeks grades will be determined by counting daily grades 3/4 and six weeks tests 1/4. Semester grades will be determined by counting six weeks averages 3/4 and semester tests 1/4 (add three six weeks grades and semester test grade and divide by 4).

All testing, six weeks and semester, will be scheduled for one hour sitting only. If a teacher desires more time for a semester test they will need to make the test in two parts over a two day period. If tests are held on one day only the other day will be used for regular class work.

Students may be exempted from semester exams by maintaining an average of 90 in any subject and having nothing below "B" in conduct. Periods 1, 3, 4, and 5 will take exams on the first scheduled testing day—periods 2, 4 and 6 will take exams on the second scheduled testing day. Teachers desiring more than one day for testing will start tests one day earlier.

Report cards are to be sent to the parents on the second Tuesday after the close of the six weeks period. Any student who loses his report card must pay a fee of 25c before receiving a new one.

Students who miss less than 15 days of a six weeks period because of sickness, and who do homework sent home by teachers and are graded for that period. However, the following periods or the previous periods may be or may not be sufficient for the student.

To make the "B" honor roll, the student must obtain at least a "B" in each of his subjects and in conduct. To make the "C" honor roll a student must obtain an "A" in each of his subjects and in conduct. No honor roll will be made for grades 1-4. The first grade pupils do not receive grades until the end of the second six weeks. Grades 1-6 will receive an alphabetical report while grades 7-12 will receive a numerical report.

Extra-Curricular Activities

All students participating in athletics, cheerleading and majorettes must pass 3/4 of their subjects at all times during the year to be able to receive their awards and to be allowed on the squad.

Only one extended class trip will be made, that during the senior year. The trip will be made by train or bus to Washington, D. C. or Washington, D. C. and New York if the money is available in the class fund. Classes will comply with schedule and tour planned and will not cancel any part of the trip. Classes under supervision of teachers may take one day outings or picnics not to exceed 100 miles from Walton. These trips will be taken on Saturday.

Students in school groups on educational tours, on the pep line at ballgames, etc. must return with the group or lose the privilege of making such trips. Sponsors in charge of the trip will keep a close check and report any violations to the principal. The only exception will be that of returning with a parent.

The Walton-Verona Schools do not sponsor and are not responsible for any type of student social activity being held out of the school.

That is to be influenced by our social attitude, even to the most humble people. For every man, a God given state of life. We have not been far from a global war. There are moral and humanitarian reasons for helping society. $100 per year is the average income for people in some countries. Ignorant people have no earning capacity. ## The best place to dry your wash

Some home-makers argue that the kitchen is the best place to dry the family wash... others prefer the basement... a few claim the bathroom is best.

We think any are excellent so long as you have an electric clothes dryer! It's a woman's most wanted appliance. Lets her "waltz through" washday; saves time so she can do more things with the family. And, with winter coming on, clothes drying is simple, even on rainy days.

Wherever you dry your washing, do it the modern, easy way. Electric clothes dryers are safe because they're flameless.

ELECTRIC CLOTHES DRYER

Forget about rainy weather on washdays... let a modern, safe, electric clothes dryer do your work. Call us for free information.

FERGUSON SPEAKS TO PRECINCT WORKERS

Bruce Ferguson

Bruce Ferguson of Union, the Democratic candidate for County Judge, spoke to a meeting of precinct workers at a political rally held Tuesday evening at Burlington. Mr. Ferguson outlined his attitude toward the duties facing the office of County Judge and stressed the County and Country's need for a strong democratic vote on November 3rd.

"The many and complex problems that our nation faces require, it seems to me, the continuing in office of President Johnson and Congressman Frank Chelf. I am very proud to be a part of the Democratic ticket and to represent the party in this fall's race for County Judge, of Boone County. Both Mr. Chelf and I are native Kentuckians, having always lived here. Our opponents are both natives of Ohio."

"Boone Countians are facing many problems caused by its rapid growth. I have faith that we can meet the challenge of this growth with strong, positive actions tempered with good judgment and concern for the desires of the People. I have an abiding faith in the character and stamina of all Boone Countians. Together, we will respond to the challenge of continued progress and change."

"Any local Government is as good or bad as the voters want it to be. No elected public official can long remain in office if he performs contrary to the will of the people. The fact that Boone County has enjoyed a clean, decent government is because the people are clean and decent!"

"If the voters are so inclined I would like to devote my entire self to becoming a good County Judge. I have been privileged to serve almost nine years on the School Board during which time our school population tripled. Believe me, I am acquainted with the problems of rapid growth in our County."

"During my life-long residency here, I have traveled over every road and by-way in the County either on business or pleasure and during these travels I have found the same warm nature and desire for good government from all our people. No community is remote from my concern, no person is without my interest in their welfare."

"My main objective in offering myself as a candidate on the Democratic ticket is to bring the government of Boone County to the people. To do my best to allow the people to be aware of the issues that face us with the sure knowledge that properly informed they will react wisely. My faith is that the voters of Boone County will express their confidence in themselves and faith in me by honoring me with this position. God willing, I will operate the office of County Judge as the people want, with integrity, justice and wisdom."

She had known Ruby was in Hamilton, O., for the summer, and planned to come for a visit but with fall here she had given up hope and thought Ruby had returned to Florida for the winter. Ruby will spend this week visiting friends in the area before leaving for Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Maus, Sr. have left for the winter. They will visit their daughter in Texas until after Christmas, then go to Florida for the rest of the winter and return to Kentucky next spring.

George Lykins returned home Saturday evening after spending two weeks in St. Elizabeth Hospital. We hope he is soon able to be out and feeling his old self again.

Layman's Day at Oak Ridge Baptist Church was observed last Sunday and was a great success. Ten men of the church filled the choir, taught all the Sunday School classes, and led the singing. John Atherton brought the sermon in the morning, and Mrs. Charles Asch brought the sermon in the evening. Congratulations on a job well done.

We were sorry to hear of the death of Mrs. W. K. Green, Sunday. She had suffered a stroke on Wednesday. Our sympathy is extended to her fine family.

The Annie Allen WMS of Oak Ridge Baptist Church met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Jill Bailey, with Mrs. Leslie Breeden furnishing the refreshments. Mrs. Helen Hollingsworth presided. The program was based on the duties of the new officers and the ways that each officer contributes toward furthering mission education and promotion in her church and community.

Mrs. Geneva Murphy of Erlanger, spent the weekend with her cousin, Mrs. Alma Yales. They spent Saturday visiting various relatives around Fiskburg.

Dennis Tugate of Plantation Heights, who is a senior at Simon Kenton High School, had an accident on his motor bike Friday evening near Fiskburg. He is in the intensive care ward at St. Elizabeth Hospital. He suffered a broken shoulder, facial cuts and bruises, and a torn kidney.

Simple Pie, Simply Great

Everyone loves pie; everyone loves ice cream. Chocolate Ice Cream Pie is certain to make a big hit. A brand new product, Chiffon Soft Margarine, is big food news, perfect for making the crumb crust. Chiffon is so smooth that it blends right from the refrigerator—or even the freezer. It comes in decorative little tubs, two to the pound. And because it contains so much liquid safflower oil, it has less saturated fat than any other spread including the corn oil ones. Has a delicate, fresh flavor like butter, too. Combine the soft margarine with chocolate cookie crumbs and nuts to make a crust, fill with ice cream, and add chocolate sauce for a real treat.

Chocolate Ice Cream Pie
4 tablespoons Chiffon Soft Margarine
1 1/2 cups chocolate cookie crumbs
1/4 cup chopped nuts
1 quart plus 1 pint vanilla ice cream

Blend together soft margarine, cookie crumbs and nuts. Press on bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie plate. Chill. Spoon ice cream into crust; freeze. When ready to serve, drizzle some of the Chocolate Sauce* over top of pie. Pass remaining sauce.

*Chocolate Sauce
1/2 cup Chiffon Soft Margarine 1 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
1/2 cup milk
Combine soft margarine, milk, and chocolate pieces in saucepan. Place over low heat; stir constantly until chocolate melts and mixture is well blended, 3 to 5 minutes. Serve warm or cold. YIELD: 1 1/2 cups sauce.

It takes 1000 tons of coal to build just 1 mile of concrete highway!

That totals approximately 700,000 tons of coal if Kentucky uses concrete to complete its Interstate Highways. Kentucky needs new coal markets, new highways. Concrete brings the two together. The result? Better business. Better highways.

Today's new-type concrete is smooth and solid all the way... is laid flat to stay flat. It actually has a life expectancy of 50 years and longer, with upkeep expense 75% less than for asphalt (based on Kentucky records). This is vital because the Federal Government pays 90% of initial construction cost—but not a single cent for maintenance. Add it up. Concrete means greater coal usage, greater driving comfort, and greater maintenance savings.

Fred Bullard, President of the Kentucky Coal Association, says: "Cement and reinforcing steel are two basic ingredients of the modern concrete highway. With their high consumption of coal during manufacture, we believe that putting Kentucky's Interstate Highways with concrete would be an invaluable aid to the state's coal industry."

A little time spent cleaning up plant refuse in the flower garden this fall will save headaches next spring and summer. There are two good reasons for fall care of ornamentals. The first is that by pruning and removing all dead branches and dead foliage and cleaning around the plants, the general appearance of the area is improved.

Perhaps even more important, however, is that most of the ornamentals live over winter on the dead branches, twigs, and leaves which will still be on the plant or on the ground beneath it. Next spring these organisms will be present to cause damage to the new plants. However, if the plant materials which harbor these organisms are pruned off, raked up, and burned, there is far less danger of disease attacks next spring.

Farm fires inflict six times as much damage per fire as city fires. The difference is attributed to isolation of farms, lack of fire fighting equipment, and less rigid standards for wiring and construction.

Fire and lightning strike two out of every 100 farms each year, with fire losses being 6 times greater than lightning losses. Together, fire and lightning destroyed 180 million dollars worth of farm property in 1963. This is 9 percent higher than 1962 and 46 percent higher than 1960. Rising property values largely account for the spiraling losses.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture distributed almost two billion pounds of food nationally during the fiscal year 1964 to further increase effective usage of this nation's agricultural abundance.

Schools and charitable institutions used considerably more donated foods this year. The quantity distributed to all outlets however, decreased by 3 percent, reflecting lighter participation among needy families as a result of improved economic conditions, according to the U. S. D. A.

Good companions are more to be desired than a bottomless purse.

Proclamation—

Whereas, it has come to my attention that each year at Halloween time the begging by children, young people and, in some cases, adults, is on the increase. Many homes have been visited at least a week in advance of Halloween. We do not object to children enjoying this season of the year, but feel that it is being overdone.

Therefore, I do proclaim October 31 as begging night in Walton, Ky.

I ask all home owners or residents of our town not to issue treats of any kind until the above date.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Church Offices
Lesson for October 18, 1964

Background Scripture: I Timothy 3:1-15;
Psalm 133:1-3.
Devotional Reading: Ephesians 4:11-16.

AMBITION is no sin. Provided—1. Provided the ambitious man is not just scheming for himself. Provided the man has the qualifications and does not fool himself into believing he amounts to more than he does. Provided also that he can serve God better if his ambition is fulfilled. Now the position of an overseer in any line of work is a highly responsible one. The title makes no

Dr. Foreman great difference; it may be foreman, manager, superintendent, colonel, bishop. The top man in the outfit, that's what we mean—the man who not only has his own work to do but has to supervise and direct the work of others also. In the church such a man is called a Bishop. He may be given different names, such as Executive Secretary, Moderator, or just Overseer; churches that don't like to use the Bible word Bishop have leaders all the same. And we have it from Saint Paul himself that it is no sin to be ambitious to be a Bishop.

No lever of money

By the time the letters to Timothy and Titus were written, years had gone by since Pentecost. It looked as if Christ were not coming back right away, and the church might have to last for a long, long time. It was time to get organized. This called for leadership. The old apostles were dead or dying off, and the church had grown so that they could not have handled it alone if they had all come back to life. Officers were needed, more and more. Paul lays down the qualifications for church officers in these "pastoral" epistles. When the first officers of the church were chosen soon after the first Pentecost the leasing qualification mentioned was being filled with the Spirit (see Acts 6). But in these pages of Paul on church officers not a word is said about the Spirit. Why is this? One reasonably good guess is that the church had found that not all spiritual men or women make good leaders.

Sensible and dignified

Almost every quality Paul mentions is an everyday commonsense one. He is planning for a church that will live and grow in a highly practical world, a church with its feet on the ground. Such a church does not need a poor innocent lamb for a leader. It does not need an egotist nor a lazy dreamer. How solid (hardly inspiring!) the phrases are—above reproach, temperate, sensible, dignified. . . . Most of us know people who are bright enough, but they never seem to hold jobs very long nor to make many friends, just because for all their brilliance they don't make sense. A bishop who is long on prayer and short on sense does not make a good bishop. (The same goes for any church officer.) A bishop must be dignified. Trivial? Not at all. Some things that are no sin when other people do them, are sins for a bishop. It was not a sin for a small boy to skinny up the pillars in front of a church; but if the preacher or the bishop did that, what would we all think?

Gifted man wanted

When Paul wrote to the Corinthians he spoke about spiritual gifts, and some of these we should call miraculous; but in this letter there is not a line about miracles. What must a bishop be able to do? Not turn stones into bread nor water into wine. Very simple things: for example to teach, and to manage those whom he loves. To teach and to manage; it would sound more romantic to say "to speak in tongues and to cast out demons." But good teachers and good managers are the kind that make good bishops. For after all, an overseer or supervisor of men must know men; he must know how to teach men; he must love them and at the same time know how to manage them.

After a man passes sixty, the things that were important in his youth no longer seem so, but things which he formerly took for granted now become important.

Practical jokes are funny for a time, but the trick is to call a halt before somebody gets sore or bored and a friendship is broken.

WATCH FOR THE SIGNS

Mike was lucky! He lost his way completely along the thickly-wooded roads during his vacation last summer until suddenly he came upon a small service station. The friendly attendant told him he was only a short distance from the lake. "Just watch for the signs," the man said.

It's easy to get lost . . . it could happen to anyone. At times, our lives get so confused that we don't know which way to turn, and we feel that nobody cares. When that happens, just watch for the signs.

What signs? Well, there's the fragrant beauty of a rose, the laugh of a child, the glory of sunrise, the sound of great music . . . signs all around that point to the constant presence of God who loves us.

The Christian Church is the most important sign of all . . . created solely to reveal a new and meaningful way of life to all who seek it.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL - ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and read your Bible daily.

DO WE PAY TOO MUCH FOR CONVENIENCE?

A man will go into a barber shop and hire three people to work on him at the same time. These people are idle half the day in order that they may be available at any moment for the convenience of customers. Think of the taxi cabs that are held in idleness so that they may be available at the command of a voice over the telephone. Of course we all enjoy the refinements of service, and we are flattered when our every want is anticipated. But the cost of all these fancy overhead expenses is frightful, and most of them are merely vanity.

There are fewer snooty people these days than ever before, mainly because fewer people have anything to be snooty about.

As our income increases our former extravagances become necessities, and we discover new follies.

Northern Ky. District Training Conference

The annual Fall Training Meeting of the Northern Kentucky District of the Future Homemakers of America was held on Saturday, October 3, 1964, at Simon Kenton High School.

The Walton-Verona Chapter was well represented, having a total of sixteen present. Those attending were: Sandy Spillman, president of the Walton-Verona Chapter; Judy Walton, first vice-president; Linda Blah, second vice-president; Connie Crow, secretary; Candy Thornton, treasurer; Shelley Kendall, reporter; Myrna Barton, Historian; Brenda Duchemin, parliamentarian; Merlede Keeten, song leader; Donna Webb, recreation leader; Mrs. Shirley Frost, Chapter Adviser; Beverly Arnold, Lorraine Gadd, attended as members-at-large; and Mrs. Jess Thornton and Mrs. Jean Scroggins, Chapter Mothers.

The main purpose of the meeting was to train officers. The theme was, "Leadership Under the F. H. A. Big Top." The main goals of the conference were to understand the responsibilities of my office; to learn more about the F. H. A. organization; make friends and have fun; to develop an appreciation of my office in F. H. A.; to grow as a leader of F. H. A.

Among the interesting activities included in the program were: Welcomes, one given by Mr. Geo. Edmondson, principal, Simon Kenton High School, and one by Miss Diane Case, State First Vice-President. The relation of the F. H. A. Big Top, which was presented by the District officers, gave all present a better idea of the interdependence of the F. H. A. organization.

During the Business Session, presided over by District President Sandy Spillman, the new district program of work was presented and accepted.

Each District Officer conducted a training session for all of her chapter officers. There was also a meeting for members-at-large and chapter mothers.

Two inspirational talks included in the program were given by Miss Diane Case, State First Vice-President and Mrs. Helen Blanton, Chapter Adviser of Boone County High School. Miss Case's talk was outlined on the basis of "Who Are You?" It challenged everyone to work toward their desired goals, and brought out that fact that you get out of something what you put into it. Mrs. Blanton's talk was based on a circus. She used different animals and their specific characteristics to show the responsibilities of each person in a chapter, and emphasized that in order to work together, everyone must co-operate and do her part.

Every one grew in knowledge of the way to carry out the duties and responsibilities of an F. H. A. Officer.

Keeping Fit
Lesson for October 25, 1964

Background Scriptures: I Timothy 3:14 through 4:16
Devotional Reading: I Corinthians 9:24-27.

AS USUAL, there is a great deal more in the passages of Scripture which have been selected for this study than we shall get out of it. But the reader will be rewarded for his own explorations. The topic chosen is one out of several that are to be found here. One striking thought in these few sentences is that there is a likeness between athletes such as you see in an Olympic contest, and soldiers of

Dr. Foreman the spirit. The first thing an athlete in any sport has to learn—and if he doesn't learn it he never learns anything else—is keeping fit.

Fellow directions

When a boxer goes into training, or a swimmer is pointing toward the big meet, there is always a trainer. Whether it's body-building exercises in general or working up a good leg in tennis, or whatever, if you won't or can't take directions you won't go far. We can think of Paul as Timothy's spiritual teacher. Timothy was an unusually good man, you would think he did not need any one to tell him; but his friend Paul writes to tell him what to do to become a better Christian, a better man, a better minister. If you get to thinking you know more than the coach, you won't stay on the squad long. Yet a good athlete is not a mere robot, he thinks for himself. One of the jobs a trainer has is to cultivate, in the men he is training, independence of judgment, ability to act quickly in new situations. In the same way, growing in the spiritual life is going to be impossible for the person who refuses to learn from those who are better at it than he is.

Good food

Another essential in physical training is good food. You don't feed a football team on cokes and malteds all the time. You can't build up a strong body by eating and drinking half-spoiled food and drink. It's the same way with what is more important than your body, namely your soul. Your soul is just your real inner self, your soul even more than your body is you.

Train yourself

The old-fashioned word "godliness" means simply God-likeness. There is no higher aim possible to any man than to become like God. But Godlikeness does not descend on us like sunshine and rain. Timothy at any rate (and no doubt you and I too) was expected to train himself in Godlikeness. Remember Timothy was a good man. If anybody could grow spiritually without trying, surely it was he. But Paul talks about toiling and striving—he followed his own advice! It is not easy to grow as a Christian. Paul himself referred to the whole of the Christian life as a fight, a race. Anyone who sincerely wishes to grow more like the master has a fight on his hands. There is too much in this world that hates goodness, for goodness to be had just for the wishing.

Practice

Watch a pitcher warming up in the bull pen. Why does he do it? He's been on the mound scores of times before. Baseball is nothing new to him. And yet he, this seasoned pitcher, has to practice just as if he were a rookie. No matter how good you are as an athlete in any line, you need practice to improve. One pole vault is not enough to perfect your form. This is just as true in the inner life. One act of kindness does not make you a kind man. One deed of self-sacrifice does not turn you into a saint. It is only the beginner in golf who keeps thinking how to hold his wrist. Only after years of practice will he be able to hold his wrist right without thinking. How much more important it is to live rightly with God and other men! But if you don't practice you'll never learn.

No matter how busy a person is, they're never too busy to stop and talk about how busy they are.

Rail cars transporting one year's supply of coal for the new John Sherman Cooper Station at Burnside, would be lined up from Louisville to the plant site.

Read the classified sections.

Another new church! The newspaper article says the population in Bill's suburban neighborhood is growing so fast that even more churches will soon be needed. Bill thinks this is just great.

"A community is a better place when there are plenty of churches," he says. "It's good for the children and the young people... it's good for everybody! We all need some sort of anchor for our lives, and the Church is the best one I know of."

Bill's right. When people work together for their church... when people pray together for guidance... it can't help but lead to a greater spirit of tolerance, fellowship and cooperation in the whole community.

In order to play its full part, the Church needs you, your prayers and your support. In return the Church offers you a priceless gift... the Truth that shall make you free.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Fall-treated plant beds are like blue chip stocks; they bring dividends. The fall plant-bed treatment means farmers have that job finished when spring rolls around.

Some recommendations:

1. Proper Site, should be fertile, well-drained area entirely free from shade, close to a water source. Pick a disease-free site. 2. Fallowing: Do this at least two weeks before a treatment, earlier if possible. Fallowing eliminates air pockets and brings weed seed to surface for easier killing. 3. Working bed: Do this in relation to your proposed weed-control plan. If burning is used, only top of dirt turned up needs to be knocked off. If using a drench or chemical, make sure a thorough seed bed and break up clods. Soil should be moist enough to work well because the weed seed must be moist for the most effective kill. 4. Weed Treatment: Soil temperature must be at least 50 degrees F. for any method used, and soil dry enough to work. Don't treat if soil temperature is less than 50 degrees F. Materials used in fall-treatment are just effective (if soil temperature is not below 50 degrees F.) as they are when used any other time of the year. Incidentally, temperature of soil is measured one inch from the top.

Two insects will be annoying homeowners in the near future. They are (1) cluster flies and (2) boxelder bugs. Neither insects damages fabrics or humans, but are nuisances.

CLUSTER FLIES these flying pests are about the size of the house fly. They are sometimes called the attic fly. On warm days they can be found anywhere in the house, particularly in attics, etc., or around windows. They seem to cluster in groups, and will invade inhabited areas of a home. They probably get in the house through unscreened attic louvers.

They can be controlled by sprays directed onto them of aerosol bombs that contain pyrethrin. Remove the dead flies by vacuum cleaner. Household residual sprays in glass jars (worked by a plunger device in the cap) also are good.

Outside the home, use the 45% strength emulsifiable concentrate of Chlordane wherever cluster flies are observed on the walls. Use ½ cup of this material in each gallon of spray water. This mixture can be used in the attic, too. If infestation is severe, a 4 or 5 percent strength Malathion dust, or a 1% Lindane dust can be applied to all areas between attic studding. One application should be enough. All these recommended sprays will help control silverfish, spiders or firebrats. Vapona resin strips, one for each 1,000 cubic feet of space in attics or unused rooms are helpful.

BOILER BUGS: These are small bright red bugs. They usually congregate on trunks of boxelder trees but in cold weather will try to get into residences. Use the 45% strength emulsifiable concentrate of Chlordane, one-half cup for each gallon of spray water, for outside treatments on tree trunks or window sills. Inside, use the pyrethrin aerosol bombs.

Best control of these pests is in the spring, with DDT or Malathion applied to tree foliage.

Mrs. Mabel Vanlandingham had many friends in this area who were sorry to hear of her death, last week.

Master Todd Petty of Farway Drive, who was operated on Thursday at St. Elizabeth Hospital, went through the ordeal just fine and is now recuperating satisfactorily at home.

The animal population at Bide-A-Wee Farm was increased once last week when Charlie Dorsey's "Sugar" brought in a beautiful baby pony. The kids are all tickled pink over it.

One night last week after supper we settled down in our easy chair with pencil in hand and our favorite crossword book and turned on the television. We don't know just what happened after that but the wife woke up several hours later and we found the following poem and the pencil needed sharpening:

I took off my shoes,
Left on my sox,
As I sat in my chair
By my picture box.
At the end of the day
I was tired and drowsy.
In other words
I felt quite lousy.
A voice came to me
From the metal and wood,
Old Man it said,
You may have tired blood.
My teeth, full of holes,
Some are falling out.
A booming voice
Then began to shout.
"Stop eating sweets
See your dentist each day
Brush often with Gist
It's the modern way."
My hand's sore and rough
From my garden work,
Then a voice from the box
Where the cure-alls lurk.
The voice says "Cheep up
And don't lose hope;
Your troubles are over,
Use our miracle soap."
When I get into bed
I know I won't sleep;
Then the voice says again
Don't worry, don't weep.
Just take Domnam
And asleep you will fall;
You'll know nothing more
Till the rooster's first call.

One more complaint,
I am skinny and thin;
But the voice was silent,
Well, you can't always win.

CHARLES WILEY, as Boone County Judge, will give the county a progressive and sound administration

"Things need to be done in Boone County, but we don't intend to approach any situation as anything to be afraid of or to brush aside. We're going to roll up our sleeves, use some practical ingenuity, and get to work. In Boone County we have over 30,000 of the finest people you'll find anywhere; they have as much pride in their area as I have, whether lifetime residents or newcomers. They're as anxious to solve their problems as I am. All we need here right now is some leadership, some willingness, and man-to-man cooperation. I think this is what the people want, and this is—unequivocally—what we will give them.

Elect Charles Wiley Your County Judge Nov. 3

Wiley-for-Judge Committee—Maurice Blair, Chairman

"What does your government owe You?"

asks Clyde Middleton,
CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS

"Frankly, it's the other way around! You owe it a lot! Actually we owe nearly $2,000 for every man, woman and child in the country and it's still climbing. Your present Congressman has shown by his voting record he prefers to increase your debt, not decrease it."

"Believe me—it is your debt, and my debt, and the debt of every other American. No one is going to pay it off for us. We are not like other nations. There is no 'Rich Uncle Sam' we can go to!"

"In the last two years alone your present Congressman has voted for increased debt ceilings that amount to $98 million for the Fourth District. This has added $823.00 to the share of every family in the district."

"I know how hard you work for your money, and it disturbs me greatly to see your tax dollars thrown away in Washington."

"If elected to Congress, November 3rd, I pledge you my support in eliminating government waste and fiscal irresponsibility. I know I can count on your vote!"

Barry Goldwater Speaks ON SOCIAL SECURITY

● I favor a sound Social Security system, and I want to see it strengthened. I would never vote against Social Security.

● I want to see those checks paid in sound 100-cent dollars. Protecting the value of the benefits is a basic necessity.

● I can't imagine the Congress in its most wild and stupid moments voting to end Social Security.

● President Eisenhower pointed with pride to improvements in Social Security. I share his pride. I was there. I worked right down the line on behalf of Social Security.

● Anyone who says I am against Social Security lies—and I say the record proves it.

Barry Goldwater Speaks ON STATES RIGHTS

● I am old-fashioned enough to believe that people—not government men, but plain people—know best what their needs are and how best they may be served.

● It is the state and local community that can most quickly and efficiently meet human needs.

● It is at home that the needs of the people first arise, and it is there—not in Washington—that public servants must act.

● States rights is no mere slogan. It is the backbone of our constitutional system.

● It is a check on the steady growth of big power in the hands of national bureaucrats.

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—When I enter a VA hospital next month, may I continue to draw by disability pension?
A—Veterans with dependents will not have their disability pensions reduced while in a VA hospital. The situation for veterans without dependents would depend on the public law under which their pension falls.

Q—The premiums on my $10,000 National Service Life Insurance policy are waived because of total blindness. I have now been trained so that I anticipate full-time work. Will this affect the waiver of premiums?

A—No. Waiver of premiums may continue where the veteran suffers certain disabilities. Permanent loss of use of both eyes is included in these disabilities.

When everybody agrees, there is very little thinking.

Why Pay Twice?

You already pay taxes to support a generous federal-state medical program for those over 65 who need it. Why pay again for a plan that isn't needed?

Surprised? Chances are you never heard of the Kerr-Mills Law, passed by Congress in 1960. We call it...Health Opportunity Program for the Elderly.

This program enables individual states, with federal assistance, to guarantee to every elderly person who needs it the health care he or she requires. Thousands of people every day are being helped by its broad benefits.

Yet, the supporters of the proposed Medicare Tax would have you believe that its passage is urgent...that persons over 65 are deprived of needed medical care because they can't pay for it.

So why pay twice? Find out about the health program you're already supporting. For information on health care for the elderly in your area, ask your doctor or contact your state or local medical society.

Proclamation—

Whereas, it has come to my attention that each year at Halloween time the begging by children, young people and, in some cases, adults, is on the increase. Many homes have been visited at least a week in advance of Halloween. We do not object to children enjoying this season of the year, but feel that it is being overdone.

Therefore, I do proclaim October 31 as begging night in Walton, Ky. I ask all home owners or residents of our town not to issue treats of any kind until the above date.

A Look At Education

—by—
Eugene Robinson

Parties

There will be no more than four elementary parties held in the classroom during the year and then on the judgment and approval of the teacher. There will be no birthday parties. The seasonal parties could be such as Thanksgiving, Christmas, Valentine, Easter, etc. Any picnics held at the end of the year on a school day will have to be held at the school. No buses will be available on any school day.

Visitors

All visitors must check with the principal and explain the reason for their visit. Parents are encouraged to visit our schools at any time for any reason. Visitors other than parents are discouraged from making social calls during school hours.

Money Raising Campaigns

No sales campaigns will be conducted by the first six grades. No business houses are to be canvassed during door-to-door sales campaigns.

The sale of all tangible items will be limited to one per activity or class. No sale of religious materials will be permitted. Items to be sold will be screened carefully by the principal and sponsors of the activity or class. No sales campaigns will be undertaken until the principal has approved the project. Bake sales may be conducted by any organization in grades 7 through 12. Each organization will be limited to two bake sales during the year.

The sale of tickets for skating parties, movies, special ballgames, band concert, talent shows, plays, etc., shall be limited. The sale of tickets for dances sponsored by classes or activities will be permitted only after close counsel with the principal and sponsoring teachers. No student will be penalized for not selling tickets or other merchandise.

Car washes shall be limited to juniors and seniors. Each class shall be permitted to have no more than three car washes during any one school year. Hobo day will be open to sophomores, juniors and seniors. The seniors will operate the bookbooth.

Concessions at basketball games and other school activities are a public service and will be encouraged. These include soft drinks, coffee, hot dogs, candy peanuts, pretzels and coat check, and will be operated at varsity games and special events with the principal's approval.

The rummage sales are limited to the PTA only. No organization will share in the Halloween Festival with the PTA. The Band Boosters may have their annual birthday calendar project.

Students may solicit during the yearly magazine sales and yearbook sales and at no other time during the school year.

No activity, club or class will charge dues to its members. If money is needed for parties or other projects members may at that time contribute.

The graduating class will conduct its money raising projects for the sole purpose of financing their annual trip, commencement speaker and stage decorations. Since school equipment and other resources are used for these money raising projects any excess money in the senior fund at the close of the year will be used for some school betterment project. The seniors and administration will work cooperatively in selecting something that might be purchased and left in the name of the graduating class.

Dress

Since proper dress is a vital part of one's social and school life it is imperative that students learn and practice good dress habits. In fact, we are told that many jobs are lost during interviews because of improper dress. All students of the Walton-Verona Schools will wear clothes that are clean and in good taste at school during the day and at all school sponsored activities after school hours such as baseball games, basketball games, plays, PTA meetings, etc. Boys will wear trousers with belt and shirts with tails in and will have the conventional hair cut along with clean shaven face. Girls will wear dresses or skirts. Blue jeans or pedal pushers (not shorts) may be worn by the girls when activities make such dress more practical. When marching band, majorette practice or other activity where garb rather than dresses or skirts are worn is over, the girls will change back to their dresses before returning to the regular school routine.

Subscription: $2.58 Per Year

HALLOWEEN PARTY AT SCHOOL, FRIDAY

The spooks and witches will be looking for you at the annual Halloween Festival, Friday night, at the Walton-Verona school gym, sponsored by the PTA. Doors open at 7:00 p. m., and the Grand March begins at 7:45. There will be games, prizes, and things to sell or buy.

Please bring items donated to the school by Friday afternoon. The list sent home was just suggested things... anything useable can be donated. If there are any questions, call 485-4738. Donations and helpers are still needed.

ATTEND CONVENTION

Mrs. Lewis Davis and Mrs. Gaines Robinson, both of Richmond, attended the Democratic Women's Convention of Kentucky, held recently at Cumberland Falls.

Eugene Robinson and Dr. Samuel Lee

DR. LEE ON READING

Eugene Robinson, Superintendent of Walton-Verona Schools, is showing Dr. Samuel Lee at All Saints School, Walton, where Dr. Lee gave an address on Thursday evening, October 8, on the subject, "Your Child and Learning."

The purpose of the lecture and discussion period that followed was to help teachers and parents understand the causes that lead to poor reading ability in children, how to recognize them and what to do about them. Dr. Lee gave some fascinating new insights into the elements that make for a solid foundation for good reading ability. Among those present were Eugene Robinson; John Shoemaker, principal; Thomas Hatley, principal; Mrs. Lillian Acree, Mrs. Barbara Curd, Mrs. Vada Lawrence, Mrs. Betty Roter, and Mrs. Sarah Sleet, all from the Walton-Verona schools. Sister Sylvester, principal, Sister Dorothy and Sister Evelyn from All Saints, a few teachers from St. Pius X Elementary school on Dudley Pike... as well as a good number of parents from Walton and environs.

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—I will retire from military service after the deadline for schooling under the GI Bill expires on January 31, 1965. I have some service incurred disabilities. What is the deadline for vocational rehabilitation training for veterans with qualifying vocational handicaps?

A—If you qualify, you would have nine years after your release from active duty to complete your training.

Q—I have just reviewed my National Service Life Insurance policy and it appears I should consider converting my term policy to one having a stable premium rate. Where can I get information?

A—Information is available from any regional office of the Veterans Administration. Or you may write the office to which you make your insurance premium payments.

Q—I understand that a disabled veteran has preference in employment by the Federal Government and many states and cities. How do I go about establishing this preference?

A—If you were retired for disability by the Armed Forces, your service can furnish you proof. If you have established your disability as service-connected with the VA, the Regional Office which has your records can furnish you the appropriate certification.

At the October 13 meeting of the Piner Homemakers, Mrs. Wm. Wolterman led a discussion on "Sense and Nonsense About Food and Nutrition." She brought out the true facts about such things as various aspirins, leaving food in open cans, white or brown eggs being most nutritious, etc.

Home Agent's Party Line

Spaghetti and meat sauce for breakfast!

Don't be horrified. With a glass of milk and perhaps a piece of fruit, it's a pretty good—though somewhat unorthodox way to start the day. And if your youngsters will stop long enough to eat it, give it to him.

Any food in the morning is better than no food. Some choices, however, go farther than others in meeting the day's needs. All too often teenagers, and even grade-school youngsters, will skip breakfast. They need more time to get dressed; the bus is waiting. They have play practice, a band rehearsal. Or maybe they think the breakfast Mom serves aren't jazzy enough. That's when you come forth with a hamburger or frankfurter—with all the trimmings. Along with fruit juice and milk, this makes a good breakfast.

Your first-grader may prefer a peanut butter sandwich, a serving of last night's pudding, and a glass of milk. He can take an orange along to school to eat at recess or snack time.

It's not so much what foods children eat, so long as they get the nutrients they need. A child doesn't necessarily have to drink milk for breakfast. He can have it in pudding or even as ice cream. Vitamin C is most easily obtained from citrus fruit or juice, but there are other ways of getting it, too. Teen-agers probably would go for a big chunk of watermelon in the summer, or cole slaw with that hot dog. Both contain Vitamin C.

So include foods your youngsters like for breakfast—be off-beat—be imaginative. And they'll come to the table just to see what's new!

"We are strong enough to win any war . . . wise enough to prevent one."

JOHNSON ON EXTREMISM:

"Let us put an end to the teachings of hate and evil and violence. Let us turn away from the fanatics of the far left and the far right, from the apostles of bitterness and bigotry, from the defiant of law and those who pour venom into our nation's bloodstream."

JOHNSON ON SOCIAL SECURITY:

"Every American family will benefit by the extension of Social Security."

"Let us repay our older Americans for their sustained creative participation in our national and community life by providing them with a wide range of meaningful opportunities."

JOHNSON ON POVERTY:

"This Administration now declares unconditional war on poverty . . . our aim is not only to relieve its symptoms, but to cure and prevent it."

" . . . this office (of President) holds a special responsibility to the distressed and disinherited, the hungry and hopeless of this abundant nation."

Senator Goldwater says:

"I would put nuclear weapons in the hands of local commanders of NATO."

"We should get back to the . . . doctrine of brinkmanship."

"I think that a general war is probable—I don't see how it can be avoided."

GOLDWATER ON EXTREMISM:

"Extremism . . . is no vice."

" . . . I am impressed by the type of people in it (John Birch Society)."

"I don't object to a dictatorship as violently as some people . . ."

GOLDWATER ON SOCIAL SECURITY:

"Social Security has been weakening individual personality and self-reliance."

"Let welfare be a private concern."

"Chiselers" is the word Goldwater has used to describe welfare recipients.

GOLDWATER ON POVERTY:

"The government must begin to withdraw from social welfare programs, education, public power, agriculture and public housing."

"$2,000 annual income permits reasonably handsome living."

"We have no business supporting federal aid for . . . depressed areas."

JOHNSON-HUMPHREY

What would you do if you were President?

Would you use your executive powers to cover up governmental and moral scandals such as the Bobby Baker Case, the Billy Sol Estes Case, and the Walter Jenkins Case?

Would you resort to deceitful 'fear advertising' in your election campaign, mocking the statement of Franklin Roosevelt that THE ONLY THING AMERICANS NEED FEAR IS FEAR ITSELF?

Would you veto a bill that would strengthen Social Security simply because it did not contain everything YOU wanted?

Would you stand for a foreign policy that means cooperation with the Communists on THEIR terms, despite the acknowledged fact that their only intention is to destroy our nation and establish a world-wide Communist state?

Would you demand that your running mate (who will be but a heart-beat away from the presidency) be the most avowed Socialist thinker and ADA leader in our government today?

Would you seek MORE farm controls, when even now farm prices are at 74% of parity (a new low), the chief cause being dictatorial bureaucratic controls and mass import of foreign livestock?

Would you earnestly build moral integrity in the government and put an end to graft and corruption, thereby acting in a leadership capacity to rebuild the moral fiber of our country?

Would you recognize the rights of individuals to control their own lives rather than be bound and fettered by federal bureaus & controls?

Would you endorse and seek sound Social Security policies to keep the program fiscally sound, and the dollars invested worth something to the individual who must live on this income?

Would you stand strong and firm against Communism, knowing that only strength will keep the peace, and would you pursue a policy that would permit THEIR children to live in Freedom, rather than OUR children under Communism?

Would you stand for strong states rights and personal rights, in the belief that it is just as wrong to have forced integration as it is to have forced segregation?

Would you end governmental policies and controls that have forced farm income down, and give the farmer rights and privileges enjoyed by other working groups, to use his own judgment in securing a successful livelihood?

"We Will Give Boone County
A Policy Of Progress"

Charles Wiley

This is the emphatic statement of Charles Wiley, candidate for Boone County Judge. His initial program is outlined in material distributed throughout the county. It is a sound program, from which rapid strides can be made toward other areas of improvement as the county grows.

It will—

- Lift Boone County out of her doldrums and establish Civic Pride.
- Open up Burlington and clean the dust out of the Court House.
- Establish conditions that will make our county attractive to industry, recreation, and good citizens.

Charles Wiley believes in action. The Kentucky Post Times-Star describes him as having the push of a steam-driven piston.

WE NEED A

says Clyde Middleton,
CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS

"It is my opinion—and I think yours—that a Congressman who spends all his time in Washington (even when the House is NOT in session), and who doesn't get back to his district to discuss problems and issues, does not care very much about the folks back home."

"A Congressman should vote as the people of his district wish him to vote. A Congressman should clarify, not cloud, the issues; he should make clear how he intends to vote on them."

"You know as well as I that your present Congressman has not done these things. His voting record, which is 87% with Hubert Humphrey's left-wing ADA, proves he does not vote the wishes of the majority of 4th District voters."

"We know from his voting record that he enjoys nothing more than spending the taxpayers' dollars—yours and mine. He has voted 17 out of 20 times FOR spending the last two years alone."

"I pledge to maintain personal contact with the district if elected. I pledge to vote with consideration for the people's wishes. I pledge myself to be a 'Congressman who cares'."

"The thousands and thousands who have met me on my trips" throughout the 4th District know that my pledge made is a pledge kept."

"Your vote for me November 3 is a vote to return the government to the people. Will YOU help?"

State 'Detectives' Find Epidemic Culprit

"SLEEPING SICKNESS" or encephalitis virus, is the object of this laboratory test by Mrs. Elizabeth Loasby, microbiologist, and Dr. B. F. Brown in the State Health Department at Frankfort. Dr. Brown is director of the Division of Laboratory Services. They are looking for virus response in blood specimens. State health workers identified the virus causing the disease as the "St. Louis type." This encephalitis virus was the one causing the recent Boyle County epidemic. With this identification, mosquito control programs helped to control the epidemic in Boyle.

Mr. Wiley Speaks

Charles Wiley, candidate for Boone County Judge, spoke out on needs for Boone County. "We definitely do need more and better county roads, bridges, and schools, parks and playgrounds. However, adding to our taxpayer's additional taxes won't necessarily solve the problems," he said. "Our big problem right now is that we're sending too much of our tax money to Washington and Frankfort where it is lost in bureaucratic waste, boondoggling, and bungling. Rule of thumb would show that individuals in our County alone are paying more than $10 million a year in taxes of one sort or another. Would not it be nice if we could keep half of it here for our county use? This, plus tax money acquired from property, corporations, businesses and the like would give Boone County some real working capital."

"My opponent," continued Wiley, "wants many of these things for the county that I do. Yet he advocates electing the incumbents to office, incumbents who are taxing us and adding to our national and state debt in alarming proportions. I simply cannot go along with philosophies that say the only solution is more taxation, and more and more federal power and controls. That is why we always seem to have money to buy bridges in Europe, Asia, and Africa, and still we can't seem to find money to build just one two-lane bridge to Burlington."

"When my opponent," added Wiley, "wants a 'welfare state' group sent back to Washington, he is not thinking of the welfare of Boone County. I say that before we can expect to have an adequate County Treasury, we're going to have to cut down on that big, big federal treasury in Washington, D. C. I would not hesitate to say that we can spend our fair share better here than they can there!"

Wiley also promoted ideas for a 'Citizenship Week' to be held in the late spring of every year. "Rather than 'bitching for our county, let's start featuring her good points," he remarked. "I would like to see various civic groups organized to do a paint-up, clean-up job on our Court House and Civic Buildings once a year. Certificates of merit could even be awarded to those groups doing the best or most ingenious job. I want to see civic pride reestablished and with projects such as these, with as many people as possible participating, we should go a long way in promoting pride in our county."

"This is just one item in our policy of changing the 'status quo' to status Go! in Boone County," he concluded.

Janet Miller, Publicity

Keen Teen 4-H Club

The October meeting of the Keen Teen 4-H Club was called to order at the home of John and Jim Vogelopol, by the president, Paul Kunkel.

During the business session, new officers for 1964-65 were elected, as follows: President, Barbara Wolking; vice president, Jim Vogelopol; secretary, Charlotte Richardson; treasurer, Betty Messing-schlager; reporter, Jane Kunkel. Four new members were voted into the club: Rita and Louis Vogelopol, Elaine Justice and Helen Eggleston. This gives the club a total of 17 members.

A discussion took place on whether to have a candy sale this year. Twelve members, three leaders and a county agent were present.

An old man told me that women don't believe half of what they say to other women and not a tenth of what is said to them.

Let no man presume to give advice to others who have first given good counsel to himself.

Mr. Ferguson Speaks

Bruce Ferguson, Democratic candidate for Boone County Judge, summarized to party workers at a recent meeting the developments of his race. He said:

"It seems that my opponent has become ashamed to mention the party he is representing in this election. He has managed to make sure that his party's name is omitted from his posters and propaganda. It seems odd that he lacks the support of the only man that represents his party in our county government. This is a rather sharp indictment of either what that party has offered or is attempting to offer."

My opponent is doing a fine job of paying young boys to introduce his picture to utility poles of Boone County but seems to be neglecting the people who would like to meet him face to face. I've heard it said that he can't find Petersburg.

I'm glad to hear that he proposes no new taxes. Of course, I never heard of an office seeker who did propose new taxes—while running. When he worked for the Hospital association did he think it was going to drop down from heaven like manna? He was working earnestly to increase our taxes then. What has happened? Is he now against the hospital or just trying to buy votes with the oldest gimmick since the invention of double talk? Someone should kindly inform our aspiring judge that a county judge cannot increase our taxes one cent without the consent of the people or their elected representatives.

The so-called platform he has introduced wouldn't support a gnats whisker but I'd be pleased to publicly debate it with him any place at any time and pay for the rental of facilities. His match platform only illustrates his lack of knowledge of what is going on in Boone County.

The voters of Boone County should be interested in what they can expect a county judge to be and do rather than what heus pro can be cooked into a phony platform.

Boone County is blessed with a good two party political structure. A capable person is still capable regardless of his party affiliation. We have all benefited from the fine service given by both Republican and Democrats and our county has prospered. I don't believe any person should be disqualified from any local public office just because of his party membership, but it is the challenge of each party to place its most capable and qualified men before the voters.

Again let me affirm the pride I take in representing the Democratic Party and the humility of having my name presented to the people of this great county. I am willing to face the test and work for the will of the people."

The 4-H member pledges: "My head to clearer thinking; my heart to greater loyalty; my hands to larger service, and my health to better living."

Thinking and reading are closely related. The man who is to succeed must supplement his personal observation by grasping the thoughts and facts of other observers.

Piner Teen Bees

Five members of the Piner Teen Bee 4-H Club entered their record books for county achievement. Two members were in the senior division.

Mary Cummins entered her clothing achievement record book, and Kay Cummins entered her farm labor service achievement record and was awarded a county championship. Her record book was then entered in the district achievement at Alexandria, where she received the district championship. Her record book was then sent in for state competition.

Mary attends Midway Junior College at Midway, Ky., and Kay is a senior at Simon Kenton High School.

Those entering the county junior achievement were Debbie Bailey, clothing record book; Tommy Cummins, entomology achievement record book, and Eddie Cummins, tobacco record book in the field crop division. Tommy and Eddie were chosen county champions in their respective divisions and attended junior achievement day at Camp Ernst, Boone County, Oct. 10. Tommy was awarded a blue ribbon on his entry, and Eddie also received a blue ribbon.

Debbie and Tommy are freshmen at Simon Kenton, and Eddie is a seventh grader at Twenhofel Junior High.

A future Teen Bee also entered two achievement records for county achievement. She was Rhonda LaFollette, who entered her foods record book and her dairy record book. She was chosen county champion in the junior division of the dairy project. She also attended junior achievement day at Camp Ernst, and was awarded a white ribbon. This is Rhonda's first year in the dairy project.

Achievement records are judged on the basis of two years' records in the same project.

Rhonda is a sixth grader at Piner Elementary School, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond LaFollette of Piner. Debbie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bailey of Demosville. Kay, Mary, Tommy and Eddie are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cummins, Crittenden.

County Agent's 1/2 Acre

—by—
Joe Claxon

Soil—that thin layer that covers part of our earth—is really important to all of us. Yet few people realize that it even exists. Many people know more about dirt that accumulates in homes, cars, offices, or dust in the air than about the soil that produces most of their food, clothes, and shelter they live in, and a place to stand and live. One would think that when our health and our children's health was concerned we would want to know more about this material called soil. And we can say the same thing about the water. Those tiny raindrops which we are happy to hear patter on the roofs are so important to our lives. Would you believe that we have a limited amount of water on this earth? This means that as our population and industries increase we will have to learn to use this resource more wisely. These problems affect everyone. It matters not who you are, what you are doing, or where you live. Soil and water are things we have to learn to live with. It is suggested that we learn to live wisely with them—we can't live without them.

Farmers may have spent much labor on their burley crop this year. But if they don't prepare it properly for market, they'll lose some fruits of their hard labor. Here are some recommended practices to ready cured tobacco for the market:

1. Take hanging tobacco down at the proper time. Fat (uncured, still sappy) stems should not be present in any portion of the plant. If they are, use heavy fires to dry them out in the barn.
2. Strip tobacco when it is ready. If left in the barn after it is ready for stripping, it will darken and cause the farmer to be penalized with a lower support price.
3. Stripping rooms should be efficient. They should be comfortable, properly heated, well-lighted, and have wall presses.
4. There are five basic grades on a stalk, i. e., flying, lugs, bright leaf, red leaf and tips. Sort leaves into these basic grades for higher support prices and better auction floor grading. Mixed grades probably will bring less money.
5. Press tobacco lightly. If tobacco is pressed too hard, the buyer may leave it on the pile and not buy; he doesn't have the time to examine caked tobacco carefully.

Truth About Money

Lesson for November 1, 1964

Background Scripture: 1 Timothy 4.
 Devotional Reading: Proverbs 10:1-31.

IF YOU add up the people in the world who are rich and the people who want to be rich, you will just about have the sum total of the people in this world. Even those who want to be rich don't always hope to be rich, but that is another story. Now the Bible's attitude to money—meaning God's attitude to it—is surprising to the average American. Because the average American will say "Yes with enthusiasm."

Dr. Foreman says to three ordinary questions about money. Is money a good thing? Is it all right to want to be rich? Is it all right to get rich? If I get rich will I be happy? These who want to be rich. Suppose some one says to you he has an ambition to make big money. You would be likely to say, "Fine, I hope you make it. More power to you." But in the Letter to Timothy we read what Saint Paul has to say to his young preacher-friend about what to say and preach to people about money. Paul has no illusions about wealth. He had seen wealthy men and was not impressed. He has some pretty hard things to say about wealth. Perhaps he knew that Jesus had said, "You cannot serve God and Mammon" (meaning wealth). Paul says money is a temptation and a trap. He even says that money, or rather the love of it, is the "root of all evils." He doesn't mean that every wrong act and sin is done for the sake of money. Anybody knows that would be an exaggeration. But if you want to see how right Paul was, just look over a newspaper and see if money doesn't figure in a majority of the crime stories.

These who are rich. You can hear members of Timothy's congregation the first Sunday after he got his letter from Paul. Maybe the first Sunday, surely some time Timothy would talk along lines that Paul's correspondence had suggested. He would be preaching away about the dangers of wealth, how we can bring nothing into the world and take nothing out—saying that the love of money is a soul-destroying thing, and so on. You could almost hear some man thinking: "What's this got to do with me? I made my pile before these missionaries converted me. I can't see that wanting money or having it ever hurt me. Am I a sinner just because I'm rich?" Timothy's answer to that question (if it was ever put to him in so many words) might have been to point out what Paul said about contentment, for one thing. The happiest people you know are not often the richest people you know. This doesn't mean that poverty is the best state for everybody. It does mean that if we look to our bank accounts for happiness, that is not the right place to look.

The conversion of money. Is a man ever converted until his money is converted? That is something that can be debated. But how do we convert money? Money is just a thing, and things can't have faith, hope or love. True, but in the strict meaning of the word "convert," meaning to change, money can be turned into something else. Money or can be and is a tool, an instrument. It can be used to crush other men, it can be used to build up pride and selfishness; it can be a dog and staid the soul to death. On the other hand, money used as a gift from God, carefully used in stewardship, not as if we owned it apart from God, such money (or possessions of any sort, for that matter) can be converted into good deeds. The question for Christians to ask is not, What would I do with a million dollars? The question is, What do I do with the money I have? It is just as easy to be selfish with a dollar as with a million dollars. And it is just as possible to be generous with your few possessions as it would if you were a millionaire.

Nearly 2,500 local medical personnel in Indonesia, South Viet Nam, Peru, and Ecuador have been trained by the more than 600 American physicians, dentists, nurses and technicians who have served aboard the hospital ship, S. S. Hope.

You can read many things in the Bible. It is often the mirror of our emotions. It is sometimes the reflection of our character.

But almost never does the face reveal the needs of the human soul. Like some artificial mask it can look satisfied when the soul is starving. It can look calm when the soul is troubled. It can look content when the soul is restless and yearning.

How then can we read our soul's needs?

We can read them in the Bible. And in the centuries of man's universal reaching for God. In the prayers that a hundred million lips have framed. In the hymns and psalms that generations have echoed.

God alone fully understands the needs of a human soul. He who created us knows what is essential for His creatures. And when we come to His House, trying to understand these deep spiritual needs . . . all the while He is supplying them, satisfying the hungers of the soul.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL—ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and read your Bible daily.

1. (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Verona Homemakers

The Verona Homemakers held their October meeting at the home of Mrs. Sally Hicks, with seven members responding to roll call.

The lesson, "Planning My Time" was given by Mrs. Lillian Stephenson. The club voted to change the meeting time to the first Tuesday of each month at 1:00 p. m. This eliminates the covered-dish and the hostess will be responsible for refreshments.

The November meeting will be at the home of Vicki Hicks...and please remember time change... November 3.

Those in attendance were: Mrs. Florence Florence, Maureen Wilson, Vicki Hicks, Adeline Reed, Lillian Stephenson, Phyllis Stephenson, and Sally Hicks. Visitors were Mrs. Lizzie Baker, Miss Roma Stephenson and Masters Ray and Randy Hicks and Timmy Hicks.

Labor Raises Hospital Costs

Labor cost is the prime factor in the rising cost of hospital care. A survey of the nations hospitals showed their labor costs up 545 percent since the end of World War II and traced these factors: High salary for personnel; more highly paid specialists and technicians; large number of employees needed to care for the same number of patients.

There is nothing wrong with having nothing to say, unless you insist on saying it.

VERONA

Florence Edrington, Reporter

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hamilton and Miss Shirley Ogden attended the graduation of their son, Jim Bob Hamilton, at Ft. Knox.

Mrs. Florence Edrington was calling on Mrs. Minnie Davis and Mrs. Rita McManama, recently. The Wyna King Circle met with Mrs. Gwyn Dunn last Thursday afternoon.

We were sorry to hear that Ray Gullion had entered the Veterans Hospital for an operation. We hope for his early recovery.

Bro. Lewis Searcy and son, Doyle, attended a hymn sing in Anderson county, one night recently.

Mrs. Flossie Greenwell of Erlanger, spent the weekend recently with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hamilton and children.

Mrs. Betty Brinkman has been quite ill at the home of her sister, Mrs. Wanda Morris.

A baptismal service was held at the church recently. There were three to be baptized.

Oak Hill Homemakers

The regular October meeting of the Oak Hill Homemakers Club was held in the Owen County B. E. C. C. Building, Nicholson Road.

Mrs. William Gibson brought the lesson in a most interesting way with a panel discussion on "Conserving and Making Real Use of Each 24-Hour Day." The club was pleased to have as a guest, Mrs. Gene Roland, one of the local teachers.

Refreshments furnished by Mrs. Raymond Brewster and Mrs. Ed Berkemeier were enjoyed by Mrs. Roland, Mrs. John Hetterman, Mrs. Robert Porter, Mrs. William Gibson, Mrs. Herbert Day, Mrs. Leo Flynn, Mrs. Richard Ryan, Mrs. Luther Stephens, Miss Beatrice Flynn, Mildred Clegg, Mrs. William Speagle, and Mrs. Dorothy Speagle.

Staffordsburg

Mrs. J. A. Keeney, Reporter
Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Barnett had as recent guests, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Griffith and Floyd McBurney, relatives from Warsaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Lathan Brinkley and daughters were the weekend guests of his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Brinkley recently moved into their new home on Harris Road.

Our sympathy is extended to Howard Noel in the loss of his uncle.

Our neighborhood was shocked at news of the sudden death of Mrs. Mabel Vanlandingham at the home of her son on Steep Creek Road. Having spent practically her entire life here, she was well known and well loved by a host of friends. Our sympathy is with her family.

The revival, which was in progress last week, was fairly well attended and Rev. Rucker preached some wonderful sermons. Though visible results may not have been great, we feel sure many were strengthened for the tasks ahead.

The WSCS met with Mrs. George Fennell for the October program, with a good attendance. Mrs. Marjorie Rich presented the topic, "Missionary Work of the Methodist Church in South America." Delicious refreshments followed the business session, conducted by the president, Mrs. Don Keeney.

You can never conquer an enemy until you have won his friendship.

A Look At Education

—by—
Eugene Robinson

Next week the PTA, students and faculty will be sponsoring an open house in observance of American Education Week. I want to urge every parent and friend of the school to plan to attend to attend this program. In keeping with this theme I want to use the space for my article to reproduce something that appeared in the October issue of the K. E. A. Journal. I'm sure that some people have read this, however, I think it will benefit and be interesting to parents that have not read it. The title of the article is "Advice to Parents on School Visitation."

Are you planning to visit your child's school during American Education Week? If so, you probably will not be alone, since some 30 million others will have the same desire. In a sense, they will be saying, "Stop the school, I want to get on!" during the annual visit-the-schools observance, November 8-14.

Except that the school won't "stop," you will find your visit there can be a real learning experience for you if you make some plans ahead, keep your eyes and ears open while you are there, and do your "homework" afterwards.

What are some of the things a parent can do to make the most of this visit?

1. Circulate through the crowd. If you don't already know your child's teachers, try to meet and speak to each of them and to the school principal, even if just for a moment. This is one of the big plus values of American Education Week visits, according to most of the teachers and parents who have been through the process.

2. Introduce yourself to the teachers. Even though you have met the teacher before, be sure to remind her: "I'm Kevin Jones' mother." Teachers meet so many parents that at once, it often is hard for them to remember which parent goes with which child.

3. Don't corner a teacher for a personal interview about your child's progress during a group event in school. She cannot give you full attention, and by monopolizing her time you are shorting other parents who want to talk to her. Do take this opportunity to ask for a personal interview at a later date.

4. Ask questions when the opportunity is given. Here is a chance to clear up some of the puzzling stories Johnny has been bringing home about cafeteria lunches, "mayhims" on the playground, the condition of the library book, and the school bus schedule. When you hear from responsible sources what the true situation is, you may want to make that famous hairpin of cred by one teacher to parents of her students: "Dear Parents: If you will promise not to believe everything your child tells you about what happens in school, I will promise not to believe everything I hear about what happens at home."

5. Keep an eye peeled for the things that make school different nowadays than when you went to school—such as educational TV sets in the classrooms, foreign language, laboratories, and even teaching machines being used experimentally.

6. Keep an ear cocked as the teachers tell you about new methods in use nowadays to enrich your child's learning: team teaching, advanced and accelerated classes, laboratory programs in science, the updating of curriculum in mathematics, social studies, physics, chemistry, and biology, and even English composition.

7. Pick up and take home any information materials, offered by the school. Read them later at your leisure, and offer them to any other adult in the family who will not be able to visit the school with you.

8. Most important of all, don't make your American Education Week visit a one-night stand only. Plan to make this visit the first of many such home-school contacts. In fact, you may even want to offer your services, through PTA, for "active duty" on behalf of the school.

Cooperation like this helps to unsmear the communications between home and school, which sometimes get woefully mixed up, as S. Omar Barker reminds us: Out of the mouths of innocent babes True wisdom may be spread As well as some of the unwise things Their parents shouldn't have said.

PTA Observes Father's Night

The Walton-Verona PTA held its regular October meeting at the Verona School on Monday night, the 28th. Mrs. Maude Webster, president, conducted the business meeting.

This was Father's Night and a large group of fathers were in attendance. Rev. Lewis Searcy, pastor of the Verona Baptist Church, gave the devotional directing his statements to the indifference in our feelings toward education both on the level of parents and teachers. Rev. Searcy read a passage from the 13th chapter of Romans.

Mr. Shoemaker, principal, announced plans for Open House to be held at the Walton School on Tuesday, November 10 in connection with National Educational Week. Open House will start at 7:00 p. m. All parents are urged to come pay a visit to the school, meet and discuss any problems with the teachers or principal. Come see the equipment and facilities for teaching the children in the Walton-Verona school. The PTA will serve refreshments.

On Thursday, November 5, at 10 a. m., an outstanding speaker in the field of Science will be at the Walton School to speak to the student body and all interested citizens and parents are invited.

Mr. Mathis' 8th grade won the regular room count and Mrs. Barbara Curry's first grade won the "Father's Night" prize with the most fathers present.

Several sets of Encyclopedias and dictionaries have been purchased by the PTA for use in both schools.

A film "The World Under Water" was enjoyed and refreshments were served following the meeting. The November meeting will be November 23rd at Walton School.

Heads Simon Kenton FHA

Linda Lunford, senior at Simon Kenton High School, has held the offices of recreation leader, treasurer, and now president of the FHA Chapter. She has her Junior and Chapter degrees. Miss Lunford attended the State Future Homemakers of America meeting at the University of Kentucky, this year.

Some of her other activities are: Y-Teens, Future Teachers of America, History Club, and a member of the Student Council.

Miss Lunford is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Basil C. Lunford, Green Road, Walton.

Florence Man In Hospital

Florence Councilman W. A. Brown entered Good Samaritan Hospital for surgery, last week. He was in an accident in 1962 and this is the fourth hospitalization since then.

Mr. Brown and his wife, Marge, own Brownie's Cleaning Center in Florence.

Walton Homemakers

The Walton Homemakers will meet this Friday (November 6) instead of the regular date. This is because of NKEA.

UA OVER-THE-TOP

According to a release from F. J. Middleberg Southern Division Chairman for the United Appeal, Boone County raised $7,486, 392.2% of its quota which is a tremendous showing. J. F. Shaffer, Florence, was the local chairman.

The Erlanger-Elmore and unincorporated part of Kenton County, also did quite well, having raised $6,000, 106.1% of its quota. B. A. Smith was chairman in this area.

American Education Week

A special P.T.A. committee interested in education has been named to plan the annual American Education Week observance in the Walton-Verona schools. Mrs. Clifford Ryan heads this committee.

American Education Week is designed to spotlight what the schools are doing and to remind citizens that good schools are the responsibility, too. Nationwide, more than 32 million parents are expected to visit their schools during the week of November 8-14.

WATER OFF, NOV. 10

According to Daisy Hill, Walton City Clerk, the water will be off from 9:00 a. m. to 3:00 p. m., on Tuesday, November 10, in order to fix valves on Main and Church Streets...please remember this.

Crew Leader For Agriculture Census

Mrs. Ruby E. Worthington, of Piner, has been named a crew leader for the 1964 Census of Agriculture, according to Robert Yerkey, director of the regional office of the U. S. Bureau of the Census in Detroit. The crew leader is one of about 1,823 persons throughout the U. S. to receive this appointment.

The new crew leader will supervise teams of census enumerators who will visit all farms in Campbell, Kenton and Boone counties to collect official census questionnaires from farm operators. Enumeration of all farms in these counties will take place in November and early December.

The census will be taken in the following way: Shortly after November 5, the Bureau of the Census, an agency of the U. S. Department of Commerce, will mail census questionnaires to all rural census holders. Those required to fill out the forms should do so and hold the questionnaire until a census enumerator comes to collect them. At that time, the enumerator will help answer any questions that may have proved troublesome.

The crew leader recruits and trains the enumerators, schedules their work, reviews the accuracy of completed forms, and conducts difficult interviews.

Mrs. Worthington spent the past week at school, training for her job, at Elizabethtown.

County Agent's 1/2 Acre

Joe Claxton
Fall soil testing has the edge over spring testing in several ways. Farmers who have their soil tested now get the jump on those who wait until spring. Farmers who have soil test results available in the fall will have all winter to plan next season's fertilizer program. Having enough time to plan can often mean the difference between a successful fertilizer program and a poor one. There's another important advantage, too. If the soil test indicates a need for lime, autumn is the ideal time to apply it. Lime added in the fall has time to begin its beneficial reaction with the soil before spring planting season. Fall application of fertilizer is also good, especially where the soil needs phosphate and potash to build its crop-yielding level. Have your soil tested; see your County Agent.

If you have not already done so, now is the time to plant spring-flowering bulbs, particularly tulips. Plant tulips, narcissus, and hyacinths in a fairly rich, well-drained soil. Spade the soil 8 to 10 inches deep and mix thoroughly. Bone meal or 20% superphosphate is a satisfactory fertilizer for most bulbs. Apply it at the rate of one pound to every 25 square feet at the time of soil preparation. Crocuses are usually planted in the lawn without any special soil preparation. If you have ordered lily bulbs for planting outdoors, they may not arrive before the ground freezes. If so, cover the area now where they are to be planted with a thick layer of leaves, straw or hay. Place a few boards or branches on top of the layer to keep it from blowing away. This will keep the ground soft and make late planting easily possible.

Summer-flowering bulbs, such as dahlias and gladioli, should be dug and stored as soon as the tops die down. When you dig these bulbs, never expose them to the sun more than a few minutes because there is danger of injury to them. Leave them in a dry, well-ventilated place for a few days. Then remove the roots and tops and clean off the dirt. They should be dusted with sulfur or a combination fungicide-insecticide to lessen the chance of insect and disease damage.

Some bulbs are stored in open trays and others in dry sand, peat or vermiculite. The storage location should be dry, well-ventilated and screened against insects and rodents. A 36-degree to 50-degree temperature is ideal for dahlias and gladioli. Never let the bulbs freeze. In heated cellars where the air is dry, cover the tubers or corms with peat moss, sand, or vermiculite, or wrap in newspaper to prevent excessive drying and shriveling during storage.

Beechgrove Homemakers

Pledge allegiance to the flag and the Lord's Prayer opened the October meeting of the Beechgrove Homemakers Club, conducted by president Mrs. Roy Kummer. The guest and prospective members were introduced. All chairmen gave their reports. Motion to buy the Homemakers postage stamp for use in the club, there was also a motion to have the December meeting at the White Horse Tavern.

"Common Sense and Non-Sense" was the subject of the lesson given by Mrs. Wm. Endres and Mrs. Roy Kummer as they ask, Are we as well informed on food facts and fallacies as we should be? Mistaken ideas about nutrition and certain foods were stressed in the lesson.

Installation of officers was conducted by outgoing president, Mrs. Roy Kummer. Installed were: Mrs. Stanley Parker, president; Mrs. Wm. Wolsing, vice-president; Mrs. Virgil W. Kelly, treasurer; and Mrs. Raymond McHale, secretary. Other members attending were: Mrs. Frank Afterkirk, Mrs. Howard Clark, Mrs. Bryan Armstrong, Mrs. Wm. Clinkenbeard, Mrs. Lou Lee, Mrs. Verner Stephens, Mrs. Gus Shadler, Mrs. Ervin Dewald, Mrs. Fabian Powers, Mrs. Raymond Dickson. Guest were Mrs. Russell Quick, Mrs. Ernest McKinley, Mrs. Harry Osterbrook, Mrs. James McHale, and Mrs. Torey Sterling.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Fabian Powers with Mrs. Gus Shadler co-hostess.

Ryland Homemakers

"Sense and Nonsense" about food and nutrition was the topic of the lesson presented by Mrs. J. H. Lawson and Mrs. Everett Wilson to the Ryland Homemakers Club when they met at the home of Mrs. George Campbell. They pointed out that as a nation of people we are very glibly to new food fads, new food products and food containers. Our only protection is our own intelligent skepticism and knowledge of reliable information. If in doubt—call the local Food and Drug Administration. Mrs. Harold Halthill presided.

Miss Ruth Schmidt, program chairman, discussed the origin of "Halloween" and presented Mrs. Charles Fruedinger as the new music leader choosing "Oh What a Beautiful Morning" for the song of the month. Mrs. Fruedinger also encouraged members to attend the concert and participate in woman's symphony drives.

A theme for the Christmas exhibit will be completed when the group meet November 3 at the home of Mrs. J. H. Lawson. The Annual Christmas exhibit for Kenton County will be held at Trinity Methodist Church, Latonia, Ky., on November 10th, 11:00 to 9:00 p. m.

4-H Reporter, Donna Grizzell says it better late than never to report 4-H activities.

The Kenton Cardinals 4-H Club chartered a Green Line bus and treated themselves to an enjoyable evening at the Ice Capades in Cincinnati Gardens, Friday, Oct. 2.

Some of the members had never seen an ice show before so it was most enjoyable for them. The members thought since the leaders had worked pretty hard and put up with us the past year, we would take them along as guest of honor with all expenses paid. The leaders were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jackson, Mrs. Hugh Mullins and Mrs. Charles Grizzell and of course they served as chaperones for the evening.

The Kenton Cardinals would like at this time to thank all the parents and friends who helped us in all our undertakings this past year. Your help was most appreciative.

It's everybody's job!

BRINGING NEW INDUSTRIES to a community and keeping them happy after they get there is everybody's job. No one man or organization can do it alone.

Community leaders help by initiating and carrying out long-range civic policies and programs attractive to industry. Owners and managers of existing plants help by welcoming industrial newcomers and making them feel at home. Men and women workers help by showing their willingness to do a full day's work for a fair day's pay.

Yes, and Southern Railway helps, too! Southern's Industrial Development Department constantly seeks new industries for available plant sites. Throughout the year, our national advertising urges industrialists to "Look South" for new and greater opportunities. And we do our best to provide an ever-better, low-cost mass transportation service, so vital to the modern industrial South.

All of this effort helps all of us. For a community's economic growth does more than provide new and bigger job opportunities. It quickly spreads out in all directions to benefit men and women in almost every type of service, trade and profession.

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—My husband and I are receiving pension for two children of a deceased veteran who are living with us. Will the pension continue if we adopt the children?

A—Yes.

Q—Is a peacetime veteran protected by re-employment rights?

A—Yes, if he left other than a temporary job to enter service and if this service did not exceed four years. Usually he must apply to his former employer within 90 days after separation from active service. However, reservists and National Guardsmen who perform service of from three to six months must apply within 31 days of their release from active duty.

Q—A principal beneficiary under a National Service Life Insurance policy elected to take the proceeds on a monthly installment plan, even though a lump sum settlement was available. He died before receiving all of the installments. Who receives the unpaid portion of the policy, the contingent beneficiary?

A—The remaining installments would not be paid to the contingent beneficiary. Where the principal beneficiary has the option of a lump sum payment and survives the insured, the rights of the contingent beneficiary are wiped out. The commuted value of the unpaid installments would be paid to the estate of the principal beneficiary.

Waltz Through Washday with a new automatic WASHER & DRYER

These two make beautiful music together every washday.

You "waltz" from the washer . . . after twirling a dial, adding soiled clothes, soap or detergent . . . to other household duties. And, there's no fiddling with a pesky clothesline . . . or lugging heavy washbaskets . . . when you have a dryer.

It dries clothes, anytime . . . day or night, rain or shine. Things are softer . . . cleaner, too, than sun-faded, wind-whipped, soot-specked wash hung outdoors.

Compare the many electric washers . . . and gas and electric dryers . . . now in CG&E's downtown Cincinnati Lobby, Fourth and Main!

P.S. Be sure to take your Electric Bill Insert to your appliance dealer for your FREE Waltz Through Washday DASH Measuring Cup.

Witness

Lesson for November 8, 1964

Background Scriptures: II Timothy 2:15, 17, 18; Deuteronomy 32:1-4, 19-20, 24-25, 27-28, 35.

THE BEST advertising is not in print. Manufacturers set aside enormous sums to full-page ads in newspapers or slick magazines, for posters and billboards, for spots on TV, and so forth; but what no company can buy is the best advertising of all — word of mouth. One person telling another: I've tried it, and it's great! is the surest way of setting the truth — if it is Dr. Foreman true — spread around among the population. You can pay to have lies printed; but you can't pay people to lie about your product; word-of-mouth advertising is generally truthful.

For Truth, not trifles

Christian life is more than talk. It begins with faith, and this is a matter of attitude, of response to God, not of words. The real test of a Christian is never first of all. What does he say? Nevertheless words are a part of the Christian life, and an important part too. Man is a word-using and word-making creature, and if Christianity were a silent wordless thing, it would be unfitted for the life and needs of men. The amount of words poured out in conversation every day is enormous, no one can count them; but how many of those are Christian words? This brings up another question: What kind of talk is Christian? For one thing, the Christian speaks up for truth, not lies, — of course. Many books today, many speeches from public platforms, many editors, feed the public with lies or half truths. The Christian man will not ask first of all what is pleasant and popular, but what is true. A lying Christian is no Christian at all. But the truths for which Christians speak are the important ones.

For those who have no voice

A communist will tell you that all religions, including Christianity, are gigantic frauds; tranquilizers to make people forget their fears and troubles; and that only communism has any real interest in the people on the bottom levels of society, the poor, the depressed, around the earth. This is one of the communist lies. A great deal was said and done for the oppressed and voiceless of the world long before any communists were heard of. For example: In England, when machines were first used in industry, much of the work was done by little children, as young as seven years. Their working hours were from five A.M. to eight P.M., standing all that time. In the mines it was even worse: little children five years old, boys and girls, had to drag tubs of ore out of the mines, through roadways often under 28 inches high, — for a sixteen-hour day. Those child workers were voiceless, they needed a voice to speak loudly for them; and it was Christian voices, especially that of Lord Shaftesbury, one of the great Christians of any century, who roused the conscience of England, and changed the laws. A "Christian" who is silent about injustice when he has a chance to speak, a "Christian" who is blind to injustice hardly deserves the name of Christian.

For Christ

A Christian's witness then, is always for truth; always for justice; and also, first and last, for Christ. Speaking up for Christ seems often more difficult than speaking for truth and for the victims of injustice. Don't we often leave all the winning for Christ to the preacher? But the fact is, if we do that we are dodging what can be not only our duty but our delight. What does it mean, really, to "witness to Christ"? It just means speaking up for him. When you hear some one talking-down a Christian truth, whenever you hear some one denying that Jesus was right, whenever you hear Jesus ridiculed as long out of date, or hear Christians caricatured as starry-eyed fools, then is the time to speak a good word for him. Speaking out for Christ means letting people know you are a Christian.

The best some of us can do is listen and try to look intelligent.

HOW DOES LIFE GET SO TANGLED?

Interesting thing about a rope—it rarely becomes tangled when it's serving some useful purpose. It stretches firm and taut . . . reaching . . . holding.

But lay the rope aside . . . waiting without a purpose . . . and it becomes so tangled you can't even find the end.

Life is like that! For some folks it seems an impossible tangle of conflicts, worries and disappointments. They haven't discovered how to devote their strand of years to a vital, constant purpose.

But for others life stretches firm and taut from birth to Eternity. The tangles disappear as men reach across time to hold certain the truths by which God would have us live.

Life without tangles . . . life with purpose . . . discover it in Church next Sunday!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a nucleus of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four reasons why every person should stand across regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to take this opportunity to thank each of my friends and relatives for the beautiful cards, the visits, the calls, the flowers, fruit and food during my recent stay in Booth Hospital and at home. Also to the ministers for their calls and prayers in my behalf; to the doctors, nurses and hospital staff for their help in restoring me to health. Your kindness will never be forgotten. May God bless each of you in my prayer.

MORNING VIEW

Helen Dance, Reporter

S. E. Rich of Piner, spent Thursday and Friday with his daughter, Mrs. Frank Elliott.

As my articles cover the events of the last week, it presents problems, as in last week's copy when I sent my article in, Kathy Held was released from the hospital. However, when the paper was distributed on Thursday, she was back in the hospital where she underwent surgery on Friday at St. Elizabeth Hospital. I have no results, but I'm assured that all hope for her speedy and complete recovery.

Miss Louann Elliott of Portsmouth, Ohio, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Elliott.

Last week the choir of the Morning View church held a Halloween party for members and friends. Prizes were given for the best costumes, ugliest, prettiest, funniest and most original. Games were played and refreshments served. All departed with a feeling of warmth from all the fun we had had.

The election is over as you all well know. Mr. Johnson is our new president. Whether you voted for Johnson or Goldwater, we should realize, whether or not we

County Agent's 1/2 Acre

—by—

Joe Claxon

If you read the newspapers or listen to the comments of many people, you are sure to see or hear that agriculture is a "declining" industry. Let's take a look at some facts about this "declining" industry of ours. About the only way in which agriculture is "declining" is in the number of farms, farm workers, and acreage farmed. It is true that each of these factors is below the figures of a few years ago. But, so is the number of automobile manufacturers, TV set manufacturers, railroads, newspapers, national magazines, and many other parts of our economy. Certainly we recognize that these changes are due to increased efficiency, competition and many other factors. Well, the same is true in agriculture, but agriculture today is still our largest industry.

The 7 million farm workers are more than the combined total in transportation, steel, public utilities and the automobile industry.

Agriculture has assets of some 214 billion dollars... more than 2/3 the value of all current assets of all U. S. corporations, 3/5 the market value of all stocks listed on the N. Y. Stock Exchange. And this "declining" industry has made us the best fed, best clothed, best housed nation in the world.

Here are some tips on pressing and bulking striped burley that may help a farmer get a better price on his leaf.

1. A tobacco press is a good investment and inexpensive. It can be made on the farm. Have one press for every two tobacco leaf-strippers. As you fill a stick (12 to 14 hands) put it in the press and leave it until the next stick is filled.

2. As sticks are removed from the press, make a chicken coop bulk pile. Put tobacco in square bulk pile so that the butts form the four sides of the bulk, with the tips loose in the middle. Leave tobacco in bulk about 5 days, or until it is in safe keeping order. Then put it in a solid bulk to stay 8 or 10 days before moving to market.

3. Sort tobacco into grades on the farm and load it on the truck in the same manner as it was taken from the stalk. That would be lowest quality first, then in order through the best flyings, lugs and bright leaf. Leave tips on top. Cover the crop well before heading for market to protect it against rain or snow.

A Look At Education

—by—
Eugene Robinson

CHEWING GUM: There must be absolutely no gum chewing at any time during school hours.

STUDENT CARS: All students' cars must be registered in the principal's office and must carry insurance. Proof of insurance must be presented when car is registered. No student will be permitted to drive an unregistered car to school. Students are to park in the area of the parking lot assigned to them, and are not to move the cars after arriving at school. Also, when cars are registered the name of riders must be given to the principal.

Students who drive will not interfere with loading and unloading of students such as tagging along, following too close or being a hazard in any way to the bus driver. All students who drive must remember they are subject to Laws of the State of Kentucky and all violations shall be reported to the Kentucky State Police for court action, including damage on school property or violations of speeding in school zones.

DAMAGE OF PROPERTY: Any student that willfully or accidentally (while in the act of horse play) damage school property must pay for damage or will be sent home and not allowed to return until his parents come to school to make adjustments for such damage.

SMOKING: Students must not smoke in or around the school building during school hours. Anyone caught will be subject to expulsion. Students will not carry cigarettes in the school during school hours.

TELEPHONE: The office telephones are off limits for long distance and toll calls except in the case of emergency. Long distance and toll calls are to be paid for by the person or organization for which they were made and the pay phone is to be used. Use of the telephone for local calls is discouraged except for school business.

INITIATION: Initiation and hazing are not allowed in the Walton-Vernon schools.

HOURS FOR STUDENTS: Students must not return to the buildings in the afternoon after dismissal unless they are under the supervision of a teacher. Students that come to school in cars or walk will not arrive until 15 minutes before school starts. Only those that can walk will go home to lunch and then only after a note is brought from home.

JANITORIAL SERVICE: The janitor will be at the building all day and will not leave unless he has a substitute, except in the case of an emergency. He may leave at noon for 30 minutes to eat if he does not care to eat at school.

Each classroom and all other areas will be swept once a day. The gym floor will need cleaning more frequently. The classroom may be swept at any time during the day that the room is empty and therefore not be swept at the close of the day. Dust mops will be run in all halls at least twice a day.

All restrooms, shower rooms and drinking facilities will be given special attention with good cleaning and properly treated with disinfectant each day. All restroom floors, all shower room floors will be mopped each day with soap and disinfectant; all bowls, wash basins, etc., will be cleaned and disinfected each day. The deodorant and disinfectant spray will be used daily. Hand towels, soap, and sanitary napkin dispensers must be checked regularly to see that they are full.

Each room, halls, stage, gym and all areas of the school must be dusted and chalk trays cleaned at least once a week. The janitor may do dusting and other work, except sweeping, while students are having classes.

All stairs will be swept each day. Stairs will be mopped weekly or as needed.

In cleaning floors special attention will be given to corners. All entrances and walks near the building will be swept each day.

The janitor will supervise the grounds, and at least once a week will pick up cans, paper and other trash in the immediate area of the building. The janitor will also be responsible for mowing the grass.

The janitor will be at the school for night activities without extra pay. He will be at the school to open the doors for such activities, and will stay during the activity, then close the doors after the crowd has left.

In cleaning up after night activities the janitor will clean up the gym, halls, restrooms and concession room in the basement. This cleaning may be done the following morning, and if so it must be cleaned before the area is needed.

The janitor is responsible for getting ready for night activities by putting out chairs, cleaning, etc. The janitor will be paid $5.00 by outside groups using the school facilities.

In order to further this janitorial service and the school program in general, every teacher should be saving as possible in the use of supplies, electricity, heat, etc. Teachers can be helpful to the janitor by seeing that all lights are out, windows closed, and that any loose article that would hinder sweeping is picked up from the floor.

Any teacher needing work or repair by the janitor will turn in a written request describing what they want done.

METERS COMING BACK

According to unofficial reports, citizens of Walton favor the return of the parking meters, and same will be put into operation again, possibly by the weekend.

TAYLOR MILL PTA

The November meeting of the Taylor Mill PTA on Monday, Nov. 16, at 8:00 p. m., will initiate the school's observance of American Education Week, Edgar Baker, principal, announced.

The observance was postponed one week as tests are to be given during the week officially designated. Parents have been invited to attend the open house and also to visit the classrooms during the week, 18th through 24th, at any time to see the classroom in progress. Of particular interest to most parents will be the opportunity to see the Educational Television programs which have recently become a regular part of the school program through the efforts of the PTA.

There will be an executive meeting on Thursday, Nov. 12 at 1:30 p. m. at the school. School will be closed Nov. 13 for NKEA.

4-H's Campaign for SAFER Use of Drugs, Chemicals

Main emphasis this year of the National 4-H Safety program has been safe use of household chemicals and drugs, reports the National 4-H Safety Development Committee.

Throughout the state, 4-H Club members and leaders have alerted families and communities to the dangers that misuse of common household products can cause.

There are at least 250,000 chemicals and drugs for home use that would be harmful if improperly used, they warn. These include everyday items such as cleaning aids, cosmetics, medicines, paints and insecticides.

They point out that in one year more than 1,300 deaths resulted from accidental home poisoning, of which 30 per cent were children under 5 years of age. Another 250,000 persons suffered disabling illnesses.

This year marks the 20th anniversary of the 4-H safety program sponsored by General Motors in cooperation with the Extension Service and the National 4-H Service Committee. Safety program membership is around one-half million.

During this time hundreds of clubs have been cited for conducting life-saving community projects, and thousands of boys and girls have been individually recognized for doing an excellent job in promoting safety, the committee reports.

The 4-H'er with the best project in the state will be the 1964 safety delegate to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. Medals will be presented to four county champions, while eight members from across the nation will receive $500 college scholarships. Clubs also will be honored for outstanding local safety programs.

Enrollment for the 1965 program begins this fall. Traffic safety will predominate. However, numerous projects will be carried out in the home and on the farm involving other vital areas of safety.

Additional information can be obtained from the county extension office.

New Lake Part of "Era of Progress"

A $1 MILLION LAKES PROGRAM FOR KENTUCKY made possible this highway-fill dam in Nelson County, one of 13 completed since 1960 under the "chain-of-lakes" program described in the Department of Natural Resources Progress Report just released. The report points out that the appropriation from the 1960 Legislature also made possible three other dams under construction and three in the planning stages. The new report summarizes the accomplishments of the Natural Resources Department in all areas—forestry, strip mine reclamation, flood control and water usage, soil and water conservation, and beautification—from 1960 through June 30, 1964, a period labeled the "era of progress" by Natural Resources Commissioner J. O. Matlick.

Vocational Training

FRANKFORT STATE HOSPITAL AND SCHOOL'S industrial workshop plays a major role in the vocational rehabilitation of residents there and the sale of some 1,000 hand-tied fishing lures last year helped make the program self-supporting. Here Charles Bredwell demonstrates the technique of tying feathers onto one of the flashy lures. Weaving, caning, basketry, and other crafts are taught at the workshop, along with simple manufacturing skills such as collating multi-page reports and sorting small pieces of hardware. A recent contract between the State Department of Mental Health and the State Education Department's Bureau of Rehabilitation Services will soon introduce at Frankfort and Outwood hospital-schools for the retarded new accelerated rehabilitation programs similar to the ones initiated at the four State mental hospitals in 1962.

A church-wide banquet of turkey and all the trimmings was held at New Banklick Baptist, sponsored by the Athletic Committee, Saturday night, with a large part of our congregation attending. The team we are most proud of is our junior boys. They were undefeated in the season, losing only one game in the tournament, therefore winning the season winner's trophy and the tourney trophy. The senior team won the tourney trophy also, and our girls were third in the league. We were honored to have two special groups to entertain us with special music. ## Chow Time at Valley Forge

FEEDING 50,000 HUNGRY TEEN-AGERS three meals a day was an exercise in logistics during the Sixth National Boy Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge State Park, Pa.

Tons of meat, produce, dairy products, and baked goods were trucked into the park daily to provide basic ingredients from which Scouts prepared their own meals. To keep perishables fresh and untainted, 46 Bally walk-in refrigerators insulated with vermin-proof, fire-retardant urethane foam were erected. Now resold to local councils, the same units are being shipped around the country to regional camp sites for permanent installation.

Special Scout recipes helped youngsters prepare appetizing meals at the Jamboree. Economy-minded mothers may like one that shows a way to stretch 1 1/2 pounds of hamburger to feed 10 people.

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—I am 35 years of age and my $10,000 World War II GI Life Insurance is still on the term plan. Next month it must be renewed for another five-year term at a premium cost of $90 per year. Should I convert to one of the permanent plans...say 20 or 30 Payment Life?

A—Term insurance costing you $90 per year at age 35 will cost $470 per year if you have to renew it at age 45 and $731.80 per year if renewed at age 70.

Premiums on permanent plans never increase. In addition, the permanent plans provide more than protection in the form of cash, loan and other reserve values. For complete information, get in touch with your VA Regional Office or write to the VA Office where you send your insurance premium payments.

Q—I was retired from service because of disability. Must I file a claim for compensation with the Veterans Administration in order to qualify for vocational rehabilitation?

A—No. A determination of your entitlement will be made if you apply for training.

Q—is it too late to file a claim for illness incurred in service?

A—No. A claim can be submitted to the VA at any time.

East Kentucky RECC has a generating capacity of 276,000 kilowatts including the new 100,000 KW unit at the John Sherman Cooper Station at Burnside. In five years, the total is expected to nearly double.

Your winter woollens will give you better service if you brush and air them often. Wool usually will spring back into shape if you give it the chance. The wrinkles of wear "relax" with each fiber resuming its normal position... airing helps this process. Brushing removes hidden dirt particles which cut the fibers, causing wear. Brush woollens after each wearing, if possible. Use a good clothes brush with strong, firm bristles. Work from top to bottom with firm brushing strokes... this lifts the nap and helps refresh the texture. Give extra attention to pockets, cuffs, lapels, and pleats.

Then give the garment a day's rest if you can. Be sure to hang it where it will get air circulation before putting it in a tightly closed closet. If a woolen garment is very wrinkled, hang it in a steamy shower or bathroom for two hours or more... the steam will usually cause the wrinkles to disappear. This method is especially helpful when traveling.

THE BIBLE
SPEAKS
Sunday School Edition
BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Workman
Lesson for November 15, 1964

Background Scripture: II Timothy 3:1 through 3:12
Devotional Reading: Isaiah 40:3-11

A SOLDIER, an athlete, a farmer: what do they have in common? They are all masculine, for one thing. They are strong and active; they do often what is unpleasant or even dangerous at the time. And they all are valuable to the society in which they live. It is interesting that the author of II Timothy does not liken Christian men to angels, students, members of an audience, or women no matter how good. He sees in the soldier, the athlete, and the farmer symbols of what the Christian is intended to be. Christian life is a battle; it is a game (played seriously, as games should be); it is a working life. The Christian knows what not everyone knows; he thinks and says what most people do not either think of, or say. But above all and with it all the Christian is a doer.

For every good work. This little letter to Timothy was written to a preacher by a preacher. Then why read it if I'm not a preacher? Well, it's more than a matter of looking over Paul's or Timothy's shoulder to see what preachers talk about when they are by themselves. Paul speaks of the man of God. (And if you, layman or not, don't think you are God's man, then those men are you!) Paul speaks of equipping the Christian for every good work. Now the work of a preacher is not the work of the housewife, not the work of the scientist or the business man. But if the church had thought that Paul was writing for one preacher and for no one else, they never would have preserved the letter and eventually put it into the Bible. "Every good work" means EVERY good work — what we do for a living and what we do for others in our off hours — whatever any man does that is good.

The well-equipped workman. There never yet was a workman, professional or do-it-yourself type, who couldn't improve his work by using better tools. Now the tool or tools for the Christian's good work is nothing less than the Bible. The better a man learns to use his Bible, to understand it and to live by it, the better his workmanship will be.

Don't end do. How the Bible operates is shown in one of the best-known and often quoted sentences in the letters to Timothy. First of all Paul says it is inspired. That is, the Bible's power does not lie in its literary polish nor in any of the qualities that go to make what we call a strong book. The power of the Bible is the power of God who speaks through it. Paul says further that it is a teaching book, — he does not call it mainly a preaching book. As a teaching book, it works in two ways. First is "reproof." A sincere reader of the Bible will come to thoughts — in parables, poems, stories, letters — which pierce his armor of self-satisfaction and bring him up short. For the Bible brings in many ways the judgment of God on many of man's cherished ways and cherished delusions. It is like a red light above a highway that says STOP!

But the Bible does much more than show us what is wrong with us; it shows what the right way is. The Bible was not written by or for people on a tropical island who can live ideal lives without running into resistance. The Bible was written by men who knew what it is to try to live a good life in a bad world. If the Bible did nothing else for us, it would be priceless for the inside stories of men "of like passions with ourselves" who in the midst of an uncertain and sin-infested world, were able to live above and through it all as sons and daughters of the Most High. For God's book brings God's life to God's men.

Everybody knows how to express a complaint, but few can utter a graceful compliment. It's a matter of practice.

FREEDOM'S DISCOVERY

There is joy in giving to God. That is freedom's ultimate discovery. And the hundreds of thousands of churches which we have built and supported bear testimony to the fact.

But when there are nations who despise God... who tear down churches... or forbid their support, how shall we teach this Christian joy to the boys and girls who will be our nation—tomorrow?

Karen and Paul are placing Sunday School "envelopes" at the foot of the children's altar.

Of course, what Karen and Paul and their classmates can give will hardly pay for an altar. But our world of tomorrow cannot be built on Kremlin economics.

A mighty generation must learn to worship in prayer and faith and sacrifice. There is joy in giving to God!

A Look At
Eugene Robinson

On behalf of teachers and students, let me express our appreciation to all the friends and parents that came by the school last Tuesday evening, November 10, during open house. This proves to us that you are interested in what is going on at your schools and it encourages us to know that you do care whether we are doing a poor job or a good job.

I am sure that you saw some things that did not please you as well as maybe some things that looked very good. We would be very happy to receive and consider any constructive criticism. If you saw something or know of something that you feel could be or ought to be changed then please come and talk to us. Also, I would like to take this opportunity to remind everyone that you could not necessarily judge good teaching by what you saw on display in classrooms. Some subjects and some grades do not lend themselves to projects and displays. For example, industrial arts could display articles which fine graders have not been in school long enough to make anything for displays. What I am trying to say is sometimes the best teaching goes on with the least display of visual effects.

I want to express my personal thanks to all of those that worked so hard in arranging the program honoring me. I thought some odd things were going on in preparation for open house but did not realize that I was to be honored as I was. I want to thank the committee for not digging too deep into my life because they might have found something worse than the report card. Seriously, I appreciate the work of the committee as well as the people that attended the program. It was a fine tribute to the part of many of our people, the parents and friends of the Walton-Vernon Schools.

Two brief, impressive ceremonies preceded the "This Is Your Life" program. Mrs. Ashley Logan, representing the Boone County Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, presented a flag to the Vernon School. Principal Tom Hatley accepted this flag. This was a large flag that has been flown over the Capital Building in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Eva Waters, representing the local American Legion Auxiliary, and Mr. James Wethington, representing the local American Post, presented flags to the St. Louis School. Father Reuther accepted these flags and pronounced that they would be used in accordance with the best of intentions.

In closing, I want to impress upon every reader of this article that American Education Week is not the only time that education is open. There is "Open House" for you every day that you can and will come to your school. You are it to your child, his teacher and even yourself to visit your school and let your wishes and desires be known. It doesn't hurt to give the teacher a word of praise and encouragement, especially if she or he is deserving of it. We never hesitate to criticize them if they need it. I hope to see you at school real often.

F. H. A. and Y-Teens
Aid In UNICEF Drive

Did you have a young goblin caller on Thursday, October 29? If so, we appreciate your contribution, for in that evening, some 35 young people, disguised as witches, fairy princesses, satyrs, hobgoblins, and other eerie creatures, toured the town of Walton to collect money for the local Y-Teen UNICEF drive. This year, the Walton-Vernon Chapter of Future Homemakers of America also helped with the proceedings.

Everyone met at school, and the Y-Teens and F.H.A. members were each bringing something to help with the refreshments. All the smaller children had to bring was themselves, and plenty of energy. (Ask any Y-Teen or F.H.A. member — they had in great abundance.) After each older girl, a Y-Teen, Junior Y-Teen or F.H.A. member was assigned two or more children each, she was then assigned a certain area of town to cover. Some of the older girls stayed at school to help Mrs. Kathryn Baker, Y-Teen Adviser, prepare the refreshments.

At about 8:45, children, Y-Teens, and F.H.A.s arrived back at the school tired, cold, hungry and rich. Each on emptied his or her milk carton (which had been saved and washed out by the school lunchroom staff) into a pitcher, and then made his way to the refreshments, which consisted of hot chocolate and cookies. Everyone left the school around 9:10 to 9:15.

The total money raised from this year's UNICEF drive was very gratifying to the Y-Teens and F.H.A.s for it was one of the highest totals ever received. $41.29 was raised to send to the National UNICEF Drive.

D. A. R. Places
Marker On Grave

For a few minutes one Sunday afternoon recently time stood still in the old Burlington Cemetery as tape was played by Don Eger of the Boone County High School Band, when the Boone County Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, assembled to place a bronze and granite marker on the grave of Israel Gilpin, a Revolutionary War soldier.

The Boone Trail Society, Children of the American Revolution, was represented by Margo Grubbs, who led the pledge to the flag, and Carol Ferguson, who unveiled the marker. Coming from Frankfort to give the invocation was Mrs. Bailey Wooten, State Chaplain of the D.A.R. Mrs. Robert Hume, State Regent, brought greetings from the Kentucky Society D.A.R. Also represented were members of many DAR chapters in adjoining counties, the Lafayette Chapter of Lexington, and the Northern Kentucky Chapter of SAR. A representative from the Filson Club of Louisville was present.

Mrs. Ashley Logan, Regent, gave a warm welcome to those present. She introduced the guest speaker, Walter A. Wentworth, Frankfort, past president general of the National Society, Sons of the American Revolution, and state chairman of the Historical Markers Committee, Kentucky Historical Society. Mr. Wentworth said the marker was a tribute "to one whose life is epitomized by the verse Mr. Gilpin had requested be placed on his tombstone," which is as follows:

"Pause, stranger, are you wondering feet you turn and from the grave this lesson deed to learn. A soldier's ashes sleep beneath your feet, patriot's heart once in his bosom beat; that freedom, which in youth, he fought to gain he leaves to thee, to cherish and maintain."

Israel Gilpin was born August 1, 1740 of English ancestry, and died in Burlington, July 4, 1794. In 1776 he served under Generals Horatio Gates and Anthony Wayne and as a captain organized the first company in Newcastle County, Delaware. He was in the Battle of Brandywine, which was fought on his own farm.

The marker was dedicated by Mrs. J. Proctor Brothers and accepted by Judge Mary Jane Jones on behalf of the county. Mrs. William Conrad concluded with a most moving meditation, and Rev. Chester Rankin gave the closing prayer.

A reception followed at the Burlington Methodist Church where Miss Mary L. Rankin, accompanied by her mother on the organ, rendered several appropriate solo selections. Mrs. William Vickers and Mrs. David Cleve poured at either end of the table which was centered with a floral arrangement enhanced with several feathered red Kentucky cardinal birds.

School Head Is Honored by PTA

Eugene Robinson, Superintendent of Walton-Vernon Schools was honored when Open House was held at the Walton School last Tuesday. The program "This Is Your Life" was presented to honor Mr. Robinson, who is now in his seventh year of service to the local schools.

Open House was held at school on Tuesday evening as part of American Education Week observed in schools November 8 thru 14. Over 300 parents and children visited in the school rooms and talked with teachers from 7:00 to 8:00, or enjoyed listening to the band and watching the majorettes perform during that hour in the auditorium.

Open House was conducted by Mr. John Shoemaker, Principal and the teaching staff to better acquaint parents with the facilities and program of the school.

At 8:00 p. m., everyone assembled in the auditorium to enjoy a program planned and prepared by Mrs. Clifford Ryan and Mrs. John Laddox. Mr. Robinson welcomed parents and friends to the Open House and introduced Mrs. Ashley Logan who presented a large flag for the flag pole to Mr. Tom Hatley, Principal of Verona School. It was a gift from the Boone County Chapter D. A. R. and Mrs. Eva Waters of the Legion Auxiliary and James Wethington of the Johnson McElroy Post, who in turn presented to Father Reuter of All Saints School flags for new classrooms and the flagpole at that school.

Asa M. Rouse took charge of the program and called Mr. Eugene Robinson to the stage and the happenings of his life began to unfold as Mr. Rouse announced "This Is Your Life, Mr. Robinson."

Guest presenters to have a part on the program were Mrs. Georgia Conrad of Dry Ridge, who presented son's 5th grade teacher at New Columbus; Bradford Mallory of Florence, a good friend; A. W. Glasgow, principal of the Walton School; and Mr. Robinson coached there; and Lloyd Ogden, present coach at Grant County High but a student on the 8th grade and on the basketball team coached by Robinson. Others participating on the program were Doris Robinson, Martha and Mark, wife and children of the honored guest; and Rev. Joe Tackett, pastor of the Walton Baptist Church of which Mr. Robinson is an active member.

Asa Rouse unfolded the story as the guest told the place and William Rorer showed some enlarged snapshots, flashed on a screen, to fill in more events along the way to bring up-to-date in this man's life story.

Mr. Robinson was born in New Columbus, Owen County, and attended grade school in his home town. He attended high school at Corinth and Bethany, a graduate of Georgetown College, served with the armed forces, coached and taught in a number of schools until he came to Walton in 1958 to begin his duties in the Walton-Vernon School system.

Parents and teachers appreciate Mr. Robinson, the efforts and things he has given to the schools. An honor well deserved and a recipient a bit surprised.

Refreshments were served by the P. T. A. and a pleasant social hour followed the program.

I know that we badly need rain and the people with cisterns are hurting from having to buy so much water, but I for one, am thoroughly enjoying these lovely fall days. All too soon it will be cold and icy, so, the longer these warm, sunny days last the better I like it. I remember just such a fall a few years ago when we still had roses blooming on Thanksgiving Day, but the day after Thanksgiving it turned cold, and the temperature did not get above freezing for two weeks.

WHITES TOWER

Mrs. Ralph Howard, Reporter

Well, the beautiful weather still holds out. There seems no reason to leave home for a warmer climate as we have it right here.

The style show at the Whites Tower School was just lovely. Everyone was very pretty in their attire, put on by the Penney Department Store. It was so well attended lots of folk had to stand, after which were refreshments and an enjoyable evening spent by a large crowd.

The exhibit put on at Trinity Methodist Church, Latonia, by all Kenton County Homemaker groups was a beautiful sight with every group having different ideas and different but just lovely displays. Those who could have gone and did not, really missed a beautiful and original display, the prettiest of any year yet.

Mr. and Mrs. Carmichael of Latonia, were on their way to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Rapp of Decoursey Road, last Sunday, when they were crowded off the road at Harris Pike and Decoursey, hit a telephone pole and did quite a bit of damage to their car, though no one was hurt.

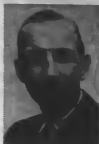

Mr. and Mrs. James Burke and daughter spent Saturday at the home of her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Eghenburger of Latonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lancaster of Staffordburg, have returned to their home from Indiana, where he has been working.

County Agent's 1/2 Acre

—by—
Joe Claxon

Never store your pesticide sprayer or duster for the winter unless you first make sure that it is clean and dry and in the case of the hand-cranked duster, empty and oiled.

Proper care of this equipment will result in many years of good service. Sprayers should be washed out with hot water and a good detergent, and then hung up to dry. This will prevent rust and clogging of the hose, and working parts. A light coating of oil may be applied to the parts which are not stainless steel or copper. This will prevent rusting.

The duster should be emptied. Old dust will likely not store well inside the duster, since it will pick up moisture and probably clog the mechanism. Since dust materials are inexpensive, it's best to try to store them from one year to the next. Scatter them over the soil surface and water them in or mix them with the soil. After the duster is cleaned, moving parts should be oiled.

As we approach the season when reports of hunting accidents become a staple item in the morning newspapers, these basic rules are well worth keeping in mind.

1. Treat every gun with the respect due to a loaded gun. 2. Unload a gun not in use; take it down or open the action. 3. Watch that muzzle! Carry your gun with the safety on. 4. Be sure the barrel is clear of obstructions and that your ammunition is the proper size for your gun. 5. Be certain of your target before you pull the trigger.

We're talking about the electric clothes dryer, of course!

It lets you "waltz through" washday . . . a flick of the dial and you can forget about drying the family wash—even on cold, rainy days. Electric clothes dryers are safe; you can even dry delicate synthetic fabrics. Best of all, use your electric clothes dryer anytime.

Electric clothes dryers make wonderful Christmas gifts; an ideal present to buy with your tobacco money. They're a woman's most wanted appliance.

Home Agent's Party Line

—by—
Nancy White

The holiday season is rapidly approaching, and homemakers are busy cleaning their homes in preparation.

Miss Nancy White, Home Demonstration Agent, shares some cleaning hints with you this month.

A careful wash for hardwood furniture is in order when it begins to look clouded and scummy in spots of dirt. Use a soft cloth and a mixture of warm water and a little ammonia. A good polish, a little made furniture wash, that is liked by some women consists of pure gum turpentine added to one qt. of hot water. Mix well and allow it to cool. Wring a soft cloth out of this mixture and clean a small area at a time, wiping each section dry as you proceed. No rinsing will be necessary. Polish the furniture after it has dried completely.

A similar mixture can be used to clean dirty looking chair seats of rush, cane or splint. First, use your vacuum brush or hand brush to remove all loose dust. Next, clean the seat with a mixture made by adding a tablespoon of turpentine and three tablespoons of boiled linseed oil to one quart of hot water. Keep this solution hot until you have finished by using a double boiler or setting in a pan of hot water. Do not set over a direct fire because both turpentine and linseed oil are highly flammable.

Daub the wash onto the seat with a cloth pad, then scrub it into the crevices with a brush. Let the seat dry completely.

Boiled linseed oil is ordinary linseed oil that has gone through a complicated industrial heating process. You buy linseed oil either "raw" or "boiled" depending upon the use for which it is intended. You cannot boil it yourself. Both can be bought in most hardware stores.

Questions and Answers

Q—My $5,000 U. S. Government Life Insurance is now paid up. However, my wife has just died. I have over a thousand dollars in bills and need as much insurance as I need. Can I change my insurance to meet this situation?

A—Yes. You may borrow against your insurance, or you may cash it in. In part it is the amount of protection you consider necessary. Your beneficiary designation probably should be revised, too.

You can do what you think you can. You may succeed when others do not believe in you, but never when you do not believe in yourself.

MORNING VIEW

Helen Dance, Reporter

I am pleased to announce the marriage of Miss Sarah Huffman to Mr. Edward Greshower. The wedding was held November 7 at St. Mary's Church. All of us, I'm sure, wish them all the good luck and happiness in the world.

I'm happy to report that Miss Kathy Held came through surgery just fine. As of now she's in fair condition on the fourth floor of St. Elizabeth Hospital, Covington. I'm sure cards and letters showing your wish for her recovery would help cheer her at this time of illness.

Thanksgiving is approaching. The signs are there. The tinge of winter in the air, the planning of Thanksgiving dinner, and the turkey's active concern for his welfare. Can't you hear one turkey say to another, "Well, that time of year is here once more. Guess I'll start my diet." But as all of us tend to be, they're greedy, so they gobble their grain and feed only to have their "spoon cooked." But all of us must remember why we have Thanksgiving and show our proper respect for this great holiday by giving thanks to God for all the blessings he has bestowed upon us, His people.

The MYF of Morning View Methodist Church, along with Kenton Baptist Church, are holding a skating party November 19. Come out to Lloyd's Roller Rink, Latonia for a great evening of skating and fun.

Thought for the Week: The biggest decision facing today's teenager is whether to have character or be one.

Seize the moment of excited curiosity on any subject to solve your doubts; for if you let it pass, the desire may never return and you remain in ignorance.

SAT'DAY, NOVEMBER 21 7:30 P. M.

HOME OWNERS: Now is the time to beautify your home with the Fall planting of nursery stock. The Hillside Nursery is holding its annual Fall auction of evergreens, shrubs and shade trees... consisting of Colorado Blue Spruce, Norway Spruce, Yews of all varieties, Pyramidalis, Junipers (blue and green), Globe Arbor Vites, also 10 varieties of Pyramidal Arbor Vites, Holly Bushes, Magnolias, Red and Green Barberry, Flowering Shrubs of all kinds, White and Pink Dogwood, Red Bud, Rose Bushes, Shade Trees, Fruit Trees and Grape Vines. This sale consists mostly of evergreens.

This nursery stock is some of the finest in the state. It is freshly dug and state inspected. Many people find this is a very convenient and conservative way to buy. Some come early and inspect our stock. All stock will be on the floor for inspection from 4:30 p. m. until sale. All stock is grown by the Hillside Nursery, located at Dublin, Indiana.

Mr. Darter, owner of the nursery, will be here to answer all questions and help with your landscape problems.

Lesson for November 22, 1964Background Scripture: II Timothy 1:10-13; 4.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 94:1-10.

ANY ONE who thinks the road to eternal life is lined with roses and paved with violets should freshen up his memory of the Apostle Paul. He was a saint, but not a quiet one. He was perpetually in trouble with the government. Many people, some of them influential, in the church were against him. He was called liar, crank, agitator, heretic, traitor to his own people.

Dr. Foreman Altogether a controversial figure, a man who was always (so it was alleged) stirring up trouble. Now many men lead stormy lives; but not all of them are saints. The thing that sets Paul out, for us, in the ranks of the great servants and champions of God, was the fact that he never doubted that he was right and that he was on God's side. In spite of his rough and partly unsuccessful life, he was and remained a happy man.

The good fight

By the time Paul wrote this letter to Timothy, he was near the end of his time on earth, and he knew it. He can look back on his life, as an old man can, and sum it all up once and for all, before the final fall of the curtain. He uses language which is a long way from saying he had had an easy time. I have fought the good fight, he says. Not just a good fight, but the good fight, the struggle between God and evil. It is a fight that began before the human race appeared on this earth. It burst out anew when mankind arrived on the scene: every man is involved in it whether he knows it or not. For whatever a man does counts for God or it counts for evil. Some good people, appalled by the dreadful power of evil, and shaken by what they see going on in the world around them, have sought refuge in flight. They have gone into hermits' cells or into monasteries—anywhere out of this wicked world. Paul was not of that stripe. He stayed to join the fight. Perhaps Paul was thinking of the Roman "games" in the Coliseum, between small armies of gladiators, fighting to the very death. At any rate Paul was not in this great struggle "just for kicks" but to the end even if that meant death.

The great race

At any rate, when Paul says he has fought the good fight he uses a word which can be expressed in athletic terms: I have played on the team. A member of an Olympic team (now, and then also) is not a soloist. He has to keep in mind that he is competing as representing a nation as well as a team. Paul is thinking of life as a struggle in which the contestants encourage and help one another.

Along with the business about the fight, Paul uses another figure of speech to get his meaning across. I have finished the race, he says. Finished—any one can start a marathon, but how many can finish it? There is something about the word "race" that just fits as a description of the Christian's active life. A runner must not be distracted by crowds, by applause or booing. He must keep his eye, or his mind's eye, on the finishing tape.

I was rescued

Paul learned it the hard way: life is not all a fight or a race. It is not all a glorious struggle with many spectators. It is often a matter not of doing but being done to; not of active living but patient suffering. Paul in jail for the "crime" of preaching the truth about God; Paul attacked by slander and unwilling to slander in return; Paul kept on the anxious seat for years waiting for a corrupt judge to pass a verdict; Paul with his "use in the flesh" that would not go away... much of his life was just standing what he had to stand. But always God was there; always he would find God standing there too. A saint must struggle; a saint must suffer; and he does not always get his crown in this world.

Kaister Advertising Service, Inc.
Strasburg, Va.
Not old enough for a novel, a dictionary, an encyclopedia.

But old enough for the Bible!

For in these very years before she fully understands its truth, a child learns to respect God's Word. Reverence is born. A sense of the importance of religion develops.

The passages must be short... and sensibly chosen. Childish but searching questions must be answered. Mother and Dad will soon discover that explaining Truth to their child deepens their own comprehension. Take advantage of a parent's most sacred privilege. Introduce your child to God. Make the Bible part of the family. Participate in and cooperate with the Church's program of religious education.

A child grows spiritually whose parents grow spiritually!

Twenhofel Open House
Twenhofel Junior High School, 6955 Taylor Mill Road, Independence, held open house Monday, November 9 as part of National Education Week. Activities began at 6:30 p. m.

Not only did the 175 parents meet with teachers, but they also were able to see both band and basketball practice.

Both the art and industrial arts departments featured displays in ceramics and electronics, respectively. This open house, an outgrowth of a faculty request made at the October 23 "In Service Day" was termed a success by Willard Shropshire, principal, and his staff of 24 teachers.

"Hopefully," Mr. Shropshire said "the parents who came found out not only what Johnny is doing in school but why, and perhaps the teachers got to know Johnny just a little bit better."

Simon Kenton FHA
Enjoys A Field Trip

On November 12, thirty-six Simon Kenton FHA members, Mrs. Abell, and Mrs. Lunsford, Chapter 1009, took a field trip to the Cincinnati Gas & Electric Company and the Ford Motor Company.

At CG&E, the group saw the most modern washers, dryers, household appliances, and two up-to-date kitchens. The girls especially enjoyed being introduced to today's most modern cooking appliance, an electric range that cooks a meal within a matter of minutes.

They also visited the division of lighting where they learned a proper way a room should be lighted and the most modern and attractive fixtures of today. The party then enjoyed lunch, served by the company.

After lunch, the group toured the Ford Transmission Plant in Sharonville, where they were shown all the parts of a transmission and how they are made, painted and cleaned.

It was a day of no school, a day of fun, but also a day where one was brought up to date on what the homemakers are using and what we have to look forward to in the future.

THANKSGIVING

November 26, 1964

Pilgrims yet are we in this land of great abundance and opportunities. A nation of free people, strong through unity in our basic beliefs, the most important issues of life, endless endeavors, and striving for the betterment of all peoples of the earth.

In 1621, the Pilgrims and Indians met around a bountifully set table for a day of giving thanks to God for the pious harvest and for friendship. How much more should we pause on this Thanksgiving Day and again thank Him for each expression of love to us.

Let us give "thanks" to God for peace and prosperity, food and friends, houses and homes, opportunities and obligations, and the promise of a continuation of His grace through our faith and trust. HAPPY THANKSGIVING DAY.

—By James Lawrence

Boone Co. Chapter
D. A. R. Meeting

Mesdames Floyd Roberts, Frank Wendenhoff, Clifford Coyle, Howard Allen and Davis Gaines were hostesses for the Boone County Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, November 18, at the Southern Trails Restaurant, Florence.

Mrs. Ashlin Logan, Regent, presided at the D.A.R. Ritual and welcomed the guests. She read the President General's message which stressed the diamond jubilee soon to be started, also library expansion. A display in the window of Denham's Drug Store commemorates Constitution Week. The window contains copies of the Declaration of Independence, a flag which has been flown over the Capitol in Washington, and a large family Bible, among other things.

It was read from Hindman School in Knott County, thanking the chapter for a large box of crayons sent recently.

Cora Logan announced she had received a request for a flag from the Verona school for its outdoor flagpole, and that she had written to Frank Chelf in Washington, to a flag which has flown over the Capitol.

Mrs. Frank Sayre, chairman of the D.A.R. magazine, said there were 1,106 subscribers in Kentucky and that Boone County Chapter was on the honor roll, having 25% of its members subscribing to the magazine.

Mrs. William Long, program chairman, introduced Carol Brady, a student from Lloyd High School, whose subject was "Soil Conservation." Miss Brady recently won an award of a $25 Bond for this essay. Her subject covered a resume of girvin forests since the beginning of the United States. She praised the work of forest rangers who watch for diseased trees and fires. She also stated that scientists are trying to prevent disease in forests.

Mrs. Logan then presented a gift to Miss Brady on behalf of the chapter.

Guests and members enjoyed a delightful social hour which followed.

Good Brand of Ball

After losing in the first round of the first annual pre-season Northern Kentucky Independent Athletic Conference tournament, Walton-Verona Bearcats have split their first two regularly scheduled games. Both were decided by one point when last Tuesday, Nov. 17, the "Cats beat Grant County by a 49-48 score, and on Friday evening, Nov. 20, suffered a one-point defeat, 65-64, at the hands of Deming High School in Mt. Olivet.

The Northern Kentucky Independent Athletic Conference was formed and is operating for the first time this year. The Pensagan was abandoned after both Grant County and Pendleton County pulled out of the conference. The newly formed NKIAA is composed of Walton-Verona, Williamson, Falmouth, Augusta, St. Henry, Broast, and St. Thomas.

In the second game of the first round of the tournament, Walton-Verona was pitted against Augusta. At times the W-V boys showed good defense, but never picked right and Augusta led all the way and finished on top 91-65. There was some question in the minds of many fans as to just how good of a team Walton-Verona would have. Of course one game cannot be used to judge what a team will do during the rest of the season, especially is this true after one game. In fact it takes several games, however, if the last two games can be used as any indication as to what fans can expect, they can be assured of getting their money's worth.

Never has a Walton-Verona basketball team played a better team game and a better game in so far as effort is concerned in winning and in losing. They displayed a fine defense and seemed to be determined to win. If this defense and team effort will continue there will be several proud and happy nights before this season is over. These boys seemed to realize that they can do a better job by passing and working for a good shot and they looked as if they liked it.

At Grant County, the Bearcats jumped out into a lead and were in command with a good lead into the final minutes of the game. The losers tied the score and went ahead by one point. At this point the W-V boys showed their determination and a little extra effort when they went on top to stay with two free throws by Reuben Baker. Some considered this an upset, however, from a good lead, the Bearcats were best. They were better in team work, better on defense and they put for the greatest effort. Will they be best in these three areas a team will win regularly.

At Mt. Olivet, Friday night, the "Cats took charge in the same manner as against Grant County and jumped into a 19-9 lead and seemed to be on their merry way to a second victory. However, in the second quarter our boys made a few mistakes and the Deming lads displayed some of the uncanny shooting they are noted for and took a half-court lead of 32-29.

Walton-Verona outscored Deming in the second half but time ran out on them and the scoreboard said they were one point behind. Of course this is what counts, however, our boys made a fine showing. Even the fans and coach of the Deming team were impressed by our effort.

Keep mowing lawns and other turfgrass areas through the fall and until growth ceases due to cold weather. Many people let the grass grow somewhat higher in late fall on the theory that it will be better able to withstand winter temperatures. This is not true. When grass is allowed to grow higher than normal and goes into the winter in this condition, it is often wilted and may be more susceptible to injury than when cut to normal height.
It is essential to remove leaves as quickly as possible throughout the fall period to prevent smothering the grass. Don't burn the leaves. Place them on a compost pile as a future source of organic matter for flower and shrub beds.

Last year, more than 1,850,000 tons of ground limestone were applied by Kentucky farmers, an increase of more than 300,000 tons over the 1963 figure. The 1963 figure was more than 500,000 tons higher than any of the previous seven years (1962 back to 1955).

This trend in use of ground limestone is encouraging, but points out that of 46,000 soil samples tested by the UK College of Agriculture's supervised soil testing labs, between 60 and 75 percent of pasture and cropland in the state still needs liming. To do this properly, about 10 times the amount used in 1963 would be required.

Adding ground limestone to pastures and cropland has many benefits. One is that plant nutrients, particularly phosphorus, become more readily available when acid soils are limed. Soil microorganisms also are more active than in acid soils, and decomposition of crop residues and organic matter is more rapid. Also, nitrogen fixation by soil bacteria and those in the nodules of legume plants is better when acid soils are limed.

In strongly acid soils, excessive amounts of manganese and aluminum become toxic to plants. Ground limestone also supplies calcium and considerable magnesium, both of which are required by growing plants.

Fall is the ideal time to apply ground limestone because the ground is firm and equipment can get over fields more easily. Limestone also will have the winter to work into the ground and react. A soil test is a must before ground limestone is applied. Some soils in Boone County may not need any ground limestone. Applying it without a soil test may cost the farmer money.

Kentucky schools are authorized by the Federal Government to spend more than $3.6 million under the provisions of the National School Lunch Act in their national school lunch programs. This is a part of $38 million the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture has apportioned to nine southeastern states to be used during the 1964-65 school year.

Turkey at Thanksgiving and at Christmas is traditional, but it is a pity people save turkey only for the holidays when it is so delicious and economical for big dinners any time.

To cook a turkey, rub the cavity of the bird lightly with salt. Just before roasting, stuff if desired and truss. Place turkey breast side up on a rack in your roaster. Rub the skin generously with butter. Wrap the turkey loosely in a buttered cheesecloth.

Roast in a slow oven 300-325 degrees F according to the timetable below. During the cooking period, baste frequently with melted butter. When done, drumsticks should feel soft and drumsticks move up and down easily.

Caution About Stuffing: Moist stuffing does not keep well. It should not be mixed with liquid until time to use. Do not stuff the turkey until ready to be heated thoroughly to prevent the possibility of food poisoning. Therefore, stuffed turkey should be roasted completely—not started one day and finished another.

The stuffing should be served hot. After serving, promptly remove it from the bird. Chill leftover turkey, stuffing and gravy; each covered in refrigerator. Use stuffing within three days; reheat only enough for one meal at a time.

The reason that the stuffing should be removed promptly is that it cannot be cooled quickly if it remains in the bird. Slow cooling causes spoilage and possible food poisoning.

Chart for Roasting Turkey
Weight	Temp.	Time
4-6 lbs.	325-4	3-3 1/2 hrs.
6-8 lbs.	325-4	3 3/4-4 1/2 hrs.
8-12 lbs.	325-4	4-5 hrs.
12-16 lbs.	325-4	5-6 hrs.
16-20 lbs.	325-4	6 1/2-7 hrs.
20-24 lbs.	325-4	7 1/2-9 hrs.

OAK RIDGE

Shirley Tallent, Reporter

Tiff Richardson is feeling under the weather these days and isn't able to be out.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hermes have moved into their new home on Rice Road, and are getting settled. It poured rain the day they moved which made things pretty much of a mess. Dorothy says she is never going to move again.

Judy Thompson is at home recuperating from a blood clot in her arm. She hopes to be able to resume her studies at UK by next week.

Several of the men in the community went rabbit hunting last week when the season opened. The ones who hunted close to home had better luck than those who went away.

The Junior GAs of Oak Ridge Baptist Church went on a skating party Saturday and enjoyed it very much. Some of them could not skate but were very persistent in trying, and before the afternoon was over they could get around the floor without falling. Those attending were Judy and Glenn Waters, Toni Richardson, Debbie Orfaly, Belinda Hancy, Joan Wren, Bobbi Wren, their counselor, Mrs. Tallent, and Kevin Tallent.

The Oak Ridge Homemakers Club met November 17 at the residence of Mrs. Kenneth Galloway. The president, Mrs. Reece Kennedy, opened the meeting. Roll call was answered by each member telling a funny story of something that had happened to her. Mrs. Ollie Miller gave the devotional on Thanksgiving and what Thanksgiving should mean to each of us. Mrs. Kenneth Galloway gave the landscape lesson and told us we should all clean up our garden tools and put them away for the winter, where they would not rust. The club purchased 5 dolls for Steinfelds to be given to needy children for Christmas. The annual Christmas party will be held at the Lookout House, December 15. Mrs. Charles Cummins and Mrs. Ollie Miller taught the lesson, "Selecting Furniture." They told of the scarcity of good wood for making furniture, and that much of the furniture will contain more metal and plastics in the future. A good piece of furniture will undergo 16 to 21 steps in finishing, to build up a good, hard finish. The consumer should look to see how a piece of furniture is put together, whether it is fitted and dovetailed, screwed, and glued well, or whether it is nailed together. If it is nailed together it will not hold up. A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses. Those present were Mrs. Kenneth Galloway, Mrs. Reece Kennedy, Mrs. Charles Cummins, Mrs. Chester Tallent, Mrs. Russell Yates, Mrs. Allen Monson, Mrs. Ollie Miller; four new members, Mrs. Robert White, Mrs. Donald Scroggins, Mrs. Dallas Barton, and Mrs. Henry Kuhn. Guests were Mrs. William Hutchins of Louisville, and Debbie Kennedy.

Tourists spent over 300 million dollars in Kentucky last year, making tourism perhaps the fastest growing business enterprise in the state.

During the past two years the number of camping and picnicking facilities on the Cumberland National Forest has increased from 169 family units to 484.

"The Thread That Runs So True" was the book review by Mrs. C. J. Castleberry when the Ryland Club met recently at the home of Mrs. J. H. Lawson. During devotions by the reading chairman, Mrs. Anthony Wolf, the "Thanksgiving Story" was described. Mr. Harold Schmidt presided.

Miss Ruth Schmitt outlined the 30th annual District meeting of the Kentucky Federation of Homemakers at Warsaw, Kentucky. Eleven counties were represented with 170 clubs. The theme of the meeting, "Our Changing World".

Giving Away Candles

Ashtand oil service station dealers are giving away a heap of candles—more than 150 tons of them, in fact.

Between now and the first of next year, customers will receive a free tapered red candle with a purchase of seven or more gallons of gasoline.

The offer is in keeping with the Christmas holiday, and also symbolic of Ashtand Oil & Refining Company's 40th anniversary, being celebrated this year.

Over 260 million tons of freight and over a million passengers moved on Kentucky rivers last year.

Some people argue religion as stubbornly as if they had it.

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—My husband died as a result of injuries received in World War II. He obtained a GI loan during his lifetime, which is now paid off. Am I, as his widow, also eligible for a loan?

A—Yes. Any widow of a World War II or Korean Conflict veteran may be eligible for a GI loan if the husband's death was service-connected.

Q—What assistance can the VA give me in locating my husband who is receiving compensation?

A—The VA may forward mail to veterans. However, the VA is obligated to keep information concerning a veteran confidential and an address may not be revealed without the veteran's consent. Letters sent to the VA to be forwarded should be placed in an unsealed envelope and mailed to the VA Regional Office last known to have handled the veteran's claim.

Q—What does the VA do about my GI insurance if my wife and I should die? It would go to my children but they are too young to handle it.

A—The VA Legal Division would appoint a guardian to handle this as well as any VA pension to which the children might be entitled.

Q—I am a member of the police force, and I find that there are some restrictions in commercial life insurance policies because of this. Is this true also of my GI life insurance?

A—The restrictions you mention are those imposed because law enforcement is considered a hazardous occupation. There are no such restrictions on GI insurance.

Sprains Ankle Last Week

G. J. Poore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Poore, Alta Vista Drive, a member of the Walton-Vernon High School basketball team, severely sprained his ankle in the first game of the season last Tuesday night against Grant County at Dry Ridge. He will be out of action for three or four weeks, according to reports.

Over 52 million dollars were invested in new industrial plant construction or expansion in Kentucky last year.

Nearly everyone has a remedy for the troubles of everyone but his own.

Hunting season opened very quietly in our community. Could it be that tobacco stripping is keeping everyone busy?

Mr. and Mrs. Linnie Wagner entertained the following this weekend: George Mickels, Linda Gray, Myra Gray, Mrs. June Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Wagner and Larry.

We extend our sympathy to J. M. Richardson and family in the loss of his mother. Also our hearts go out to the family of George Farris of Walton-Nicholson Road.

Bill and Barbara Bussle, along with their three little Bussles moved into their new tri-level home on Wilson Road. We wish them every happiness.

The revival at New Bankluck is now in progress. We are sure you will enjoy these services with Bro. Fred Hill and the special music.

Congratulations to Pam Schader and Terry Barnes on their marriage at Grace Baptist Chapel on Friday evening in Independence.

Mrs. Ella Jump of Latonia Lakes was a recent guest of her daughter, Mrs. Jess Webster, of the Tower.

Glad to report Mrs. Ott Inabnit much improved at this writing. A letter from Bud Ryle, Naples, Fla., informs us that he is now working in a real estate office near Naples.

Now the weather sharks are beginning to see that what we said about the weather and the atom bomb having something to do with it may be a possibility, as something has sure happened to the weather lately. Even the thunder has a different sound than it ever did.

Walnuts were scarce this year. Trees near a lake or waterway were loaded, while those on the hills were bare. However, to our friends who bought last year, we have about 8 or 10 pounds of walnut kernels this year.

Duke Belew and wife, our neighbors, have gone to Florida for the winter. We envy them, though we had our chance when we were down there in September. The folks wanted us to stay and wanted us to stay all winter. Well, we all do some dumb things sometimes.

Work on the Sallee subdivision on Harris Pike is going at a fast pace for the last two weeks.

Top Hat 4-H Club

The Top Hat 4-H Club was organized November 5 at the home of Mrs. Donald Riddle.

The club meets the first Thursday of each month. Projects for the year were discussed. Nine members were present. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Gospel in Brief

Lesson for November 29, 1964

Background Scriptures: Titus 1:1-2; 2:11-14; 3:1-6
 Ecclusiasticus: Ecclesiastes 3:1-10

THIS WEEK we shall do something a little different. This is an invitation to study the Bible together. The verses under "Background Scripture" are remarkable in bringing out, in their brief sentences, many of the most vital truths taught by the Christian Church. Taught to the church, we ought to say, first of all, for what the church teaches the first learned, at least Dr. Foreman in vital germ, from her own first teacher, Paul, and above him, our Lord himself.

The grace of God
 The word of "grace" often means gracefulness, as when we speak of the grace of a violinist's work, or the invitation of a hostess. In the New Testament it means gracefulness, a quality some people have without knowing it, the quality we associate with true aristocracy. We can say for instance that Dean Rusk is a more gracious character than Gromyko. Grace is not the same thing as goodness; some people can be mighty good without being very gracious. Grace is goodness come to life, shining. In the New Testament the grace (Graciousness) of God is mentioned far oftener than the grace of men. (Why should this be so?) The New Testament speaks often of the grace of God as something which has up to now not been well known or understood. For the crowning act of God's grace is the gift of his son, Jesus Christ, the grace, walking grace of God in human living. The supreme moment of that grace, of course, is Christ's identifying himself with sinners and being willing to "give his life a ransom for many" — to use his own words. The grace of God and the Saviorhood of Jesus are not two different things; they might almost be called, from the Christian point of view, the same thing.

How Christian life begins
 Paul speaks here also of how the Christian life begins. It starts with what theologians call "justification," which literally means a judge's verdict of "Not Guilty". Justification refers to man's status in God's sight, not to his state. A newborn baby is in a wretched state. He badly needs a bath. But he is his parents' much-loved child all the same. They do not demand that he must do something lovable before they love him; they welcome him with love even before he is born. God is like that. He loved us before we were born not because of what we have done but because he is love.

How Christian life operator
 The life of God in the life of man; how does this operate? There is mystery here, to be sure; but some things are clear. One truth is that it means to be daily, even constantly renewed. The Christian's life is not an automatic business that starts with one big Bang! and keeps on with no further effort. The greatest Christians are those who feel most strongly the need of being continually re-created. This has its definite effect. The Christian is one who becomes, with the passage of time, more and more godly, that is, God-like. This is so tremendous we sometimes shrink from it. We find it enough to be like our parents or someone else we admire. Our heavenly Father wants us most of all to be like himself. He wants us to love what he loves and to hate what he hates. He really (though much here has not been touched) the Christian lives a life of hope. He expects Christ to be Lord of All. No Christian ever wept that he was born too late for the Golden Age. The Golden Age for us is not in some lost yesterday, it is the great tomorrow, when all tears have been wiped away and God shall be all in all.

Social at Independence

The Altar Society of St. Cecilia Church, Independence, will sponsor a social Sunday, November 29 at 2:00 p. m., in the church basement. This is an annual affair which is given for the benefit of the sisters. Refreshments will be served. The public is invited.

More Than Enough

We are the most prosperous people the world has ever seen! Even the poor among us live in princely comfort compared to some in other lands. Our country is famous for its beauty and fruitfulness, our cities are as modern as tomorrow, and our future glows with promise. God has indeed been good to us.

But with His bounty of wealth and power, God has given us responsibilities. Because we have so much, we are called upon to share what we can spare. And we are required to work and pray for the end of ignorance, poverty and suffering wherever they are found.

To be able to give is a blessed privilege. Let us all our churches and join in heartfelt thanks to God that we have enough . . . and more than enough . . . to share.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL, ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

A Look At Education

—by—
Eugene Robinson

Class Management

You have to be as mighty good to have a might good class. The successful teacher understands the psychology of handling an audience, practices the artful skills of the popular public speaker, is as alert as a boxer, and is as good in footwork as a ballet dancer. If you're having trouble in controlling your class—well, look at your audience psychology, your public speaking devices, your alertness, your footwork. Skill in attracting and holding the attention of an audience is as vital to the success of a teacher as it is to a public speaker or an entertainer. The skill with which the popular speaker engages and keeps interest alive is not the result of chance, nor is attention in classrooms. Students hope the teacher will succeed in making the class period pass pleasantly and swiftly, but if they discover that teacher is ill at ease, poorly prepared, or unresourceful, they grow restless. The mischievous ones try and usually get the opportunity to create a diversion.

A high school girl wrote in a theme, "When I get to be a teacher, I am going to be different. I am going to smile at my pupils." Don't you think that is a good idea? Smile and say, "Good morning" or "Good afternoon." Begin a conversation that will lead into a discussion of the material to be covered. After contact is established, there is a problem of maintaining it. Continued eye contact is important. Bending the head to refer to aids cuts off the speaker's communication lines as effectively as closing a door.

No matter how well the stage is set, however, in the final analysis it is the teacher's skill in attracting and holding the attention of a group that will keep the pupils from becoming bored enough to seek means of passing away the tedious moments often called "poor discipline."

Suggested Teacher Tactics

Be business-like. You are engaged in the greatest and biggest business in our community. That of dealing with potential citizens.

It isn't a bad idea to smile a little more than halfway to get along with folks. Don't allow yourself to always be on the defensive.

It is well to arrange for a personal chat in dealing with a dissatisfied patron. Hold an even temper at all times. Do not allow yourself to be left out on a limb giving a snappy answer.

It is professional "suicide" for a teacher to welcome the attention of the town rascal or puppet.

Avoid telling the public the superior points of yourself or the town that you came from. Even if it is true, they don't want to hear it.

"Sauciness" teachers are out of date and not much in demand. Your mission as an educational worker cannot be fulfilled from 8:15 Monday until 3:30 Friday. Attend school functions, let the people know that you are really interested in their children.

If we feel that the community expects too much, we chose to

Republican Club Party

The Boone County Republican Club will hold its annual Christmas party on Thursday evening, Dec. 10, in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Howard Ravenscraft, on Riverview Drive, Hebron. All members of the club, their families and friends are invited. The meat course of ham and turkey will be furnished by the club with a covered dish to be brought by those attending.

Chairman Carrie Martin and her committee of Mrs. George Morfitt, Mrs. Nick Mikkelsen, Donna Miller and Connie Sanders, have spent much time in preparation. There will be door prizes as well as party favors for the children. The festivities will begin at approximately 6:30 p. m. The party will replace the regular monthly meeting, according to Chas. Wiley.

KENTON CO. COUNCIL

"Emotional Problems Among Children," was the topic of Edward Requa's discussion at the November meeting of the Kenton County Council of P.T.A.s. Mr. Requa, teacher in charge of the Child Guidance Home School in Cincinnati, was introduced by the council president, Mrs. Frank Palmer, Jr. The information given about the school and its patients was very enlightening. This Guidance Home School, started in the late 1920's, is the second largest training center in the U. S. It is a treatment center as well as a training center and we are well aware of the need for these schools in our country. Mr. Requa said "A sick child doesn't get sick by himself, the cause goes back to the parents."

Mrs. Palmer welcomed the newest unit to the Kenton County Council—the Whites Tower Elementary P.T.A.—a new school, a new P.T.A., and the 16th unit in the Kenton County Council.

Mrs. Richard Williams and Mrs. James Feagan are in charge of the Founders' Day Program, Jan. 18, to be held at the Covington YMCA.

Christmas Ideas Display

"The Night Before Christmas" came early this year at the annual Christmas Ideas Display by Boone County Homemakers. The displays were shown November 19 at the Florence Christian Church.

Around 500 people attended during the afternoon and evening, to gain ideas for their Christmas decorations. There were 18 tables laden with Christmas decorations that Homemakers had made. The articles ranged from a large snow man and mobile to bookmarks. Flour sacks, records, peanut butter glasses, and traditional Christmas fare, plus lots of ingenuity were used to fashion the articles for this display.

Mrs. Norman Perkins, Mrs. Mildred Baker, Mrs. William Cannon, and the Sanders Drive Homemakers Club served as chairmen of the event.

THE NEW HAVEN PTA sponsored a successful smorgasbord recently, and the ladies pictured above had charge of arrangements. Mrs. Audrey Guard, Mrs. Kathleen Hamilton, Mrs. Bert Tanner, Mrs. Mary Ann Hatton, and Mrs. Jo Criss.

Immediately following the dinner, the regular PTA meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Kathleen Wiley. Mrs. Mary Haines, program chairman, introduced Jack Sizemore, Tri-City YMCA director. He said the YMCA mirrors the community in which it is located, and he told of expansion plans for the area. Slides of various activities enjoyed by "Y" members were shown.

Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Tom Brown. Mrs. Gertrude Henson, membership chairman, announced the winners of the membership contest. Mrs. Marston's third grade was awarded first place prize, and the second place prize went to Mrs. Presser's fourth grade.

Pretty Wedding at Banklick Church

Miss Joyce Ann Schwab, daughter of Mrs. C. E. Hemphill of Walton, was married at 7:00 p. m. Saturday, in the New Banklick Baptist Church to Mike Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Johnson of Independence.

Rev. Don Davison performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate families. A reception followed at the Firehouse Building in Florence.

The bride wore a street length white tulle gown embroidered with crystal and seeded pearls. Her veil was flower effect with petals matching the embroidery on her gown. She carried a cluster of white orchids and carnations.

Mrs. Virginia Lou Murray of Augusta, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a street length dress of red velvet and carried red and white variegated carnations.

Her Johnson of South Ft. Mitchell, was the groom's best man. After a brief honeymoon, the couple will reside temporarily in Walton.

HELD TO GRAND JURY

Robert P. Murphy, 23, of 46 West 5th St., Covington, after a preliminary hearing before Trial Commissioner Asa M. Rouse in Boone County Court, was ordered held to the December grand jury under $2,500 bond.

Murphy, arrested by Newport Police, who found two chain saws in his car, said the saws had been given him by a drunken motorist in Covington for helping him get his car started.

The saws had the same serial numbers as two which had been reported stolen from the Erlanger Tractor Co., School Road, Walton. Detective Alvin Roberts of Kentucky State Police told the court that fingerprints found on a rear door matched those of Murphy.

LIONS COMPLIMENTED

The following letter was received by the Walton Lions Club in regard to their eye program: Louis Davis, President Walton Lions Club Route 2, Richmond Road Walton, Kentucky

Dear Mr. Davis: On behalf of the Walton-Verona students and faculty I want to express my appreciation to the Walton Lions for your interest in the welfare of the eyes of our boys and girls.

I am aware of the hard work and planning involved in the securing of expensive equipment used to check eyes and then the following up you do in the purchase of glasses for youngsters. Only after watching the expression on a youngster's face after he receives glasses and realizes that he can see, can you begin to realize the amount of good you really do. Thank you and all of the members for your interest and the wonderful work you do in helping humanity.

Respectfully,
Eugene Robinson, Supt. Walton-Verona Schools Walton, Kentucky

Rev. Moore Speaks At P. T. A. Meeting

Attendance at the November meeting of the Walton-Verona P.T.A. fell off considerably to what were present for earlier meetings this year. The P.T.A. needs the support of the parents, so try to come to all meetings.

Last Monday evening, Rev. William Moore, pastor of the Walton Christian Church, presented a program on Thanksgiving. He pointed out many things for which we, as Americans, should "give thanks."

Mrs. Harry Henson played the piano for some group singing to tie in with the theme of Rev. Moore's talk. Mrs. Paul Beighle gave a timely Thanksgiving devotional.

Mrs. Maude Webster, president, presided during the business meeting at which time a report of the Halloween Festival was given. The P.T.A. will not give their regular Christmas treat, as all the school rooms will be having Christmas parties. There will be no December meeting. Mrs. Roter's second grade won the room count prize.

The next regular meeting will be held on January 25.

young profession.
 "All men are created equal."
 Let us not leave the impression with any citizen that we consider ourselves superior to him.
 Your attitude toward the community will determine the community's attitude toward you.

Think wisely, speak prudently, and behave worthily.
 The only excuse we have for existing in the community is the good we can do for the boys and girls. Schools are not maintained to provide jobs for college people or politicians.

Education is an investment and never an expense.
 Don't allow folks to tag you as a complainer. It is better by far to be known as one who works and says little, than to be known as one who says a lot and works very little.

Be Mr., Miss or Mrs. Teacher, rather than John, Henry or Alice to your students. Never allow students to become too personal with you. Remember, familiarity breeds contempt. Contempt often breeds a discipline problem.

It is the host of little things that you do over and above what is expected of you that is most appreciated.

MORNING VIEW

Heien Dance, Reporter

I would like to remind everyone that the Willing Workers of Morning View Church are selling Christmas cards. There's a large variety to choose from...the cards are also printed with Bible verses or the standard holiday greetings. For more information, contact any member of the Willing Workers.

Morning View is filled now with the bustle and bustle of stripping tobacco. The markets are over-and tobacco growers are working feverishly to get their crop on the market. Huge baskets wait in the warehouses to be evaluated and bought by a buyer for a real good price...we hope. The farmer sees the fruit of his labor being "sized up." The precious plants we have worked so hard for is tied in "neat bundles" to be sent off to be pounded into "neat cylinders" with paper around them or for other uses. Well, fellow tobacco growers, the Dances are with you in hoping this crop will prove to be a good one.

Thought for the Week: A smile never hurts anyone, in fact, its really quite helpful.

Beechgrove Homemakers

Mrs. Raymond McHale, citizenship chairman, informed members of the Beechgrove Homemakers Club that several pounds of clothing and bedding had been delivered to the social service agency of Kenton County. The items were made and donated by the club.

Consumer information on buying furniture was the lesson given to the club by two leaders, Mrs. F.
 M. Powers and Mrs. Ervin Dewald. Reservations were taken by the program chairman for the club to go to White Horse for their club Christmas party Dec. 16th.
 Plans were completed for the family Christmas party to be held at the new REA building on Walton-Nicholson Road, Dec. 19.

Mrs. Vernon Stephens, ways and means chairman, displayed and took orders for cook books of favorite recipes of Kentucky and Tennessee, which contain 500 recipes from Women's Club leaders in Kentucky and Tennessee. Included in the recipes is Mrs. Raymond McHale's favorite recipe.

Hostesses for the day were Mrs.
 Virgil Kelly and Mrs. Stanley
 Parker.

Business of the club was conducted by the president, Mrs.
 Stanley Parker. Thirteen members and three guests attended the meeting.

Bradford Lodge to Meet

A study made jointly by the Agricultural Experiment Stations of Minnesota and South Dakota points up some of the things that happen to various types of carpet with wear and cleaning. It may help you decide which is for you—wool loop, wool twist, acrylic or nylon carpeting.

Chemical-free carpets, the researchers found, looked soiled sooner than wool carpets. They cleaned easily, but resoled rapidly. After heavy traffic and soiling, vacuum cleaning produced a cleaner appearance on wool than on the synthetics, according to the researchers.

Looped carpets of either wool or acrylic fibers were quite acceptable in texture and appearance after home or commercial cleaning. However, neither wool twist nor nylon carpeting shampooed well. Nor did commercial cleaning improve the appearance of the wool twist. (It was clean but the carpeting itself didn't look better).

Barefoot in winter!

Some think babies enjoy Electric Heat more than grown-ups. After all, Electric Heat keeps the house so warm and comfortable that mothers let their children play with a minimum of bother and clothing.

Besides, Electric Heat is so safe that parents forget about dangers of fumes and fires. And it's so clean because dust and germs aren't circulated throughout the house.

But it really isn't true that babies enjoy Electric Heat any more than big people. We know lots of older folks who enjoy walking around their home barefooted since they installed Electric Heat.

But you would, too!

ELECTRIC HEAT

You really owe it to your family to learn more about low-cost Electric Heat. It will cost much less to install than you realize. And think of all the comfort and convenience Electric Heat offers your family. Call us for free information.

Background Scriptures: Titus 1:18 through 2:11; 1:1-5, 12-15.
Devotional Reading: Ephesians 4:1-7.

DOES WHAT a man believes affect his life? The New Testament, at any rate, gives little room to stand for the man whose faith and life are kept in separate compartments. Faith that cannot work out in life, faith that works out in evil living, faith that has no connection with life at all, is not faith in which Jesus of the Apostles would take any interest.

Paul says to Dr. Foreman, "I protect Titus, 'Teach what betts sound doctrine.' We could re-translate that: Teach what sort of person and what sort of living it is, which matches the high truths of Christian belief."

Being what you can be True Christlike goodness is not a ready-made thing. It is a sense and color for everybody. What is good, Christian, for an old lady is not necessarily good for the lady's grandchildren five years old. What is good for the old lady may not be good for a young man. Paul recognizes this. He doesn't want the young preacher Titus to preach to everyone just alike. Be good! When spoken to the older women means don't gossip, don't be an alcoholic. Be good to older men means be serious, be sensible. (Remarkable how sensible Paul is himself — elsewhere he speaks of faith, hope and love, but not here. To older men he speaks of faith, love and steadfastness. Older men have no great hopes; but they can still be steadfast!) Be good to a young man means: Control yourself. Paul seems to be saying not only "Be what you can be — the best you can be"; but also, "Be what you can be, you and not somebody else."

Be what you need to be
We have only to turn Paul's advice inside out to see how wise it is. What must we think of an older woman who is irreverent, a slanderer and a slave to drink? Paul wants Titus to urge (in his preaching and otherwise too, no doubt) the older women to just that kind of behavior which they of all people need to show. Or take the young men, for example. The commands or advice which Paul gives are not easy, and the short command he gives young men is perhaps hardest of all: Control yourselves. Youth is the hardest time in life to practice self-control; but if it is not learned then, it may never be learned. Once this writer had the exciting opportunity of speaking to about 400 men, all prisoners in the same great jail in New England. What struck the speaker was the fact that almost every man there was young, the average about 19 or 20 years old. Furthermore, their crimes and misdemeanors were mostly the kind of thing done on the spur of the minute, in a fit of emotion. Older men make careful criminals. These young men were too young to be cautious. But they needed self-control to be good citizens; and self-control was just what they didn't have. We would all love to control money, the lives of others, political movements, public opinion... we all want to control. But the hardest and most important thing is controlling yourself. Be what you need to be!

Adorning the doctrine
The congregations Titus would preach to had many slaves. They would no doubt think: It's all very well for your preacher to tell us what we ought to do. But I'm a slave. I'm at the bottom of the pile. I can't call my time my own. I can't call myself my own. I do what I have to do, I have no choice. Well, Paul has a word for these poor men too. Be a Christian in the things you have to do. Even a slave can be honest. Even a slave can be obedient. Even a slave can, in respect, he can give satisfaction to the man who paid good money for him. There is a more and a less Christian way of doing even the things you have to do or else... There is a more and a less Christian way of performing the simplest acts such as sweeping the floor or pruning a tree.

If what you did yesterday still looks big, you haven't done much today.

We Won!

Garry and I won first prize last Saturday! It was the young people's Olde Tyme costume party at the church, and we had a wonderful time.

I go to almost everything the club puts on, and of course there are lots of activities besides parties and dances. We visit hospitals, we collect and repair toys for underprivileged children, and we help with various church events. We have regular religious discussion groups that often get me so interested I continue the discussion around the family dinner table all week long! Mom and Dad don't mind, though. They think it's good for me to be mixing with other young Christians, and they never worry when I'm over at the club.

Your own church offers many enjoyable and worthwhile activities for Christians of every age. Why not join? You'll be warmly welcomed.

crops and on soils that are tilled often. Leguminous crops when well inoculated will provide their own nitrogen. Likewise, a vigorously growing legume in a grass-legume mixture will provide nitrogen for both species. Thus crops will benefit little from the nitrogen in manure.

Organic matter is depleted more rapidly in cultivated soils than in soils covered by sod. The addition of farm manures will replace some of this organic matter.

A Look At Education

—by—

Eugene Robinson

Many of you have heard it said and maybe some of you have said, "Teachers really love it made. They go to work at 8:30 and get home a little after three. They work nine months and vacation for three months." Of course, most people forget that the paycheck goes on vacation for three months and the day does not end at 3:00, 3:30 or even 6:30 because good teachers spend many hours at night preparing for the next day, grading papers or attending some school activity. The teachers at Walton-Verona do not have a free time at school to grade papers or plan and are expected to attend PTA and other school functions. Someone may say all of this is good but just what are the teachers responsible for? I realize the teaching profession is like any other profession. You always have some people that shirk their jobs by being late, not attending the activities they should, and by being just plain lazy in the classroom. In fact, some teachers are just one-day teachers and that is pay-day. Then they complain about how little they pay really is.

I know that every teacher does and fulfill all his responsibility all the time, but I believe you a big percent of them do. The following is a list of things I like to think Walton-Verona teachers are responsible for. Many have accepted this and much more as their responsibility.

What are Walton-Verona Teachers Responsible For?

1. The very best job in teaching that we can do. (The main reason are here.)
2. Disciplining the children whenever and wherever it is needed and constructive, regardless of the grade level of the students involved. Never pass it off to someone else.
3. Cooperation with the administration. (It is working for and with you.) With the non-teaching employees, (they feed you and keep your rooms clean). With the community, it is your responsibility.
4. Professional attitude. Never allow the teaching profession to suffer because of something you may say, quote or have. Do not be selfish. Do not gossip. Do what the majority decision requires even though you may not personally agree. Remember, you could be wrong. A greedy teacher who often remains poor; in friendships, spirit, health and also financially.
5. Insist upon proper care of library books, free textbooks, equipment and supplies used by all your students.
6. The rooms you use. It is always a good idea to watch the physical aspects of your room or rooms. Cooperate with the building janitor. Tell them of any defect when you first notice them. Report any major items to the principal.
7. Constant supervision. Your first responsibility is to the welfare of the students that you come in contact with.
8. The various reports.
9. The grades of the pupils in your class.
10. Parents interviews when they are called. Never avoid them when you can.
11. Helping any student when you can. If you do not know how to help him, tell him so, he will think more of you than if you try to bluff him. He will know if you try the latter.
12. Assisting other teachers when they need help or request it. We are only as strong as our weakest link. Do your part to bolster any other link in our staff.
13. Promoting the programs of other departments of our school. Sure, yours is important, but they are all important.
14. Keeping lesson plan books. This is very important to you and the administration. This is vital

Piner PTA to Meet

The Piner P. T. A. will meet on Wednesday, December 18, at 1:00 p. m., in the Piner School. A Christmas program will be presented by the students, under the direction of the music teacher, Miss Berna. All parents and members are invited to enjoy this program.

Twenhofel PTA to Meet

The regular meeting of the Twenhofel P. T. A. will be held in the school cafeteria on Monday, December 14, at 7:30 p. m. William George and his students will present a musical program. Mr. Jacqueline Powell will display the art work of the students. All parents and friends are urged to attend and support the students and the school.

With beginning teachers. It is the best guide you can have and it helps others help you. It will assist a substitute teacher immensely.

15. Keeping good grade books. This is a must for every teacher. It is very important to the school records and the administration. Print whenever possible. Keep the figures and letter open so they be easily distinguished. They belong to the school after the year is over.

16. Be prompt. This applies to the mornings, bus duty, meetings and in getting your reports and records in on time. Never allow yourself to have to rush. To hurry is expensive to your time. Remember, When you are late, you are holding someone else back.

17. Attending teachers' meetings. There usually aren't too many meetings to attend, but be prompt when they are called. Meetings not be called just to say, "We had a teachers' meeting today". They will always be called for a good reason.

18. Attending school functions is one of your more pleasant tasks, if you have the right attitude. Students want you to come to see them perform. The parents like to see you, too. Don't miss many events that the people ask who you are when you finally do show up. Be as much a part of the school's social life as you are its educational life. It pays to know your students out of the classroom.

NOTE—If all these things sound like an ideal teacher, they are intended to do so. Why should we stay in a profession if we have no desire to be the best.

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—I did not receive my check for last month, and I want to know why.

A—Wait a reasonable period of time and the notify the VA regional office having custody of your claim file. Make sure you furnish your claim number and, if you have moved, give them both your old and new addresses.

Q—The envelope containing my check had the large letters "V-O" on it. What does that mean?

A—That is the way the postal authorities identify Veterans Administration checks that are to be released for delivery on the 30th of the month. Checks are printed and shipped to key delivery points throughout the country prior to the delivery date.

Q—I am a patient in this VA Hospital. How do I find out if I am eligible for a pension?

A—File application and request that your treatment records be requisitioned to support your claim that you are permanently incapacitated for earning a living. The VA rating officials must also consider the amount and nature of military service and type of discharge, amount of money you expect to receive other than from the pension, and your "net worth" and dependency status.

Home Agen's Party Line

—by—
Nancy White

Christmas time and all of the season's gaiety is here. All of the stores are piled high with Christmas materials and decorations. Many of the commercial decorations are quite expensive, so why don't you try to make some of your own. The children will love helping with Christmas and some of the traditional ideas bring back thoughts of the old fashioned Christmas.

Here are some ideas to start your imagination—use your own ingenuity.

Cost used flash bulbs with rubber cement. While wet, twine thread, yarn or ribbon around them. These make gay tree hangings.

A pretty openwork ornament can be made by dipping various sizes of string in liquid starch. Wrap around an inflated balloon and let dry thoroughly. Deflate the balloon and pull through the opening. Decorate in any way you desire.

Lace-paper dollies cut of folded into shapes make delicate and pretty ornaments. Use dainty dollies to form body of an angel. Use a small foam ball for the head, add features and wings to complete the decoration. Artificial fruit hung in bunches add color to the tree as do decorated eggshells. Blown eggshells, painted or dyed, can be decorated with glitter, braid, rickrack, sequins or cut-outs to make unique ornaments.

Other Decorating Ideas

Paint or gild a brick for an unusual candle holder. Insert the taper in the holes of the brick and add greenery, pine cones, ornaments or ribbon to the base.

Paint or spray with snow a tree branch with pretty form. Secure the branch in a base and decorate the tree with miniature homemade ornaments or set diorama figures around the base for a miniature winter scene. This would make a good background for snowmen that you can make.

To make the snowmen, use two large and 1 smaller popcorn balls to form the body. Use pipe cleaners for arms; candy and paper scraps form the features; fashion a paper hat. Why don't you make a whole snow family—it is so much fun to eat the remaining popcorn, too!

These are only a few ideas to start your Christmas ideas. Hope you and your family have many fulfilled days ahead in preparation for Santa's coming.

Things cannot always go your way. Learn to accept in silence the minor aggravations, cultivate that silence and consume your own smoke with an extra draught of hard work so that those about you may not be annoyed with the dust and soot of your complaints.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Keeney and sons were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Damon.

Miss Nannie Ballinger passed away quietly in her sleep at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. B. Richardson. Born in this neighborhood in 1882, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ballinger, she had made her home here all her life. A member of the Methodist church here, she was when health permitted one of the most faithful attendants. She is survived by one brother, Dawson Ballinger; three sisters, Mrs. Georgia Richardson, Mrs. Mabel Brannock, and Mrs. Mary Maddox; a host of nieces and nephews. Lord bless her memory to the good of all who knew her.

New Way To Open New Roads

FIRST OF THREE portions of Interstate 64 dedicated this month is this 6.3-mile stretch east of Louisville, officially opened as a car carrying Governor Edward T. Other parts of I-64 opened and now ready for motorists include a 13-mile strip north of Lexington (including part of I-75) and the new tri-level interchange at the intersection of the two highways, and a 10.5-mile strip in Boyd County near Catlettsburg. Most of the tobacco around the Tower has been sold at prices from 62c to 78c and the tobacco is also weighing out well.

We can't understand about the mail service from here to Walton. We mail our news Monday and our very efficient rural carrier picks it up about noon, who takes it to Independence, which is about two miles from here. The paper goes to press on Wednesday morning but my news arrives too late and gets in the paper the following week.

Fresh country sausage and pickled pigs feet are on the bill of fare here at the farm. Last week was hog killing time. Five fat porkers were butchered.

We are not trying to get some free advertising for our favorite grocery, as we believe that in the long range you can't save money by shopping around. But we want to say a good word for the clerks with a smile. The stores at Cox Road and Nicholson are cases in point. The clerks here always greet you with a smile, no matter how busy they are, and go out of their way in just being friendly. Just like homefolks. You will always go back to the place where folks are not afraid to smile.

Bob Brumback of Cincinnati, came out over the weekend and took home some of our good sausage, spare ribs and backbone for his deepfreeze.

Have you been complaining about the high cost of food? Take a look at the facts and you'll find you have no reason to complain. Food is one of your best bargains today.

Even though food prices are higher today than they were in the years just after World War II, for example, income has increased, too—food actually takes a smaller part of the family income than it did 15 years ago.

Food in the United States also costs less, in terms of income, than in any other country. For example, with an hour's pay, the United States factory worker can buy the food to cook a meal for four people, in Germany and England it takes two hours to buy the same meal; in France four and a half hour's work; and in Italy, more than five hours.

There may be several reasons why you're spending more money at the grocery store today. You're probably buying more food, because many people, especially growing children, are eating more. You're probably paying more attention to good nutrition, too.

You are also buying a greater variety of food, foods that are more appealing and nutritious, and many new foods that were not available 15 years ago. You're buying more convenient, too—more trimmed, packaged and frozen foods and more pre-mixed foods and heat-and-serve dinners.

Your food also is traveling farther to reach your local store, for food from throughout the world appears regularly on your table. All these extras cost money.

So remember, food really is a bargain. You are eating better, more nutritious, more varied meals at a lower cost in terms of hours worked than you ever have before.

Even bugs and beetles like a cozy fire in the fireplace on a cold winter evening. That's why they are likely to hitch a ride on an armful of firewood.

When colder fall weather arrives insects may hibernate in your woodpile. If these pests are carried into the house along with the wood that is not burned immediately, the warmer temperatures makes the insects think it's spring—they "wake up" and start to look for food.

Controlling these pests while the logs are stored outside usually is not practical—there is just too many of them. The best way to prevent these insects from causing trouble inside your home is to keep logs and kindling outside until you are ready to put them on the fire. Unless the wood is brought in the house quite awhile before it is used, the insects will not have time to respond to the warmth indoors.

A pile of cut logs stored outdoors often provides a winter home for several kinds of troublesome insects, especially the many varieties of beetles that make their homes in trunks of trees and under the bark.

Wood-dwelling beetles usually do not attack painted or varnished

Bake A Gorgeous Glamour Cake

TAKE IT EASY DURING THE HOLIDAYS... but do serve the most glamorous food possible! Sounds contradictory, but it's good advice, and quite possible if you take advantage of the convenience foods, such as cake mixes. Folks will be sure you spent hours making this excellent Chocolate Chip Pecan Cake—and you get an extra bonus of a dozen and a half cupcakes!

FRUIT FILLED CHOCOLATE CHIP PECAN CAKE

2 packages chocolate chip cake mix
1-1/2 cups very finely chopped pecans
Prune-Pecan Filling
Whipped cream, sweetened

Prepare 2 packages of cake mix according to package directions. Mix in pecans. Pour batter into three round 8-inch layer pans, which have been greased and floured on bottoms and sides; use remaining batter to fill 16 to 18 greased and floured cupcakes pans about half full. Bake at 375° for 28 to 30 minutes for the layer; 20 minutes for the cupcakes. Cool. Spread Prune-Pecan Filling between layers, frost with sweetened whipped cream. Decorate as desired.

PRUNE-PECAN FILLING

1-1/2 cups chopped plumped pitted prunes
1/4 cup dark brown sugar
1/2 cup chopped pecans
1 tsp. lemon juice
Combine all ingredients, blending well.

wood. These pests, and carpenter ants as well, take refuge in older homes, especially if they can find an unprotected surface. Once into the timbers of a house, they are difficult to get rid of.

So be careful about firewood stored too long. Leave the firewood and the insects asleep inside it outdoors, until you are ready to put the wood on the fire.

Accessories with a Zip for Fashion Dolls

A teenage doll can now live a fuller, more glamorous life! She can have her own beach cabana, complete with beach mat which doubles as a carry-all; she can have a matched set of luggage for her clothes, shoes and hat, and matching closet accessories for storing her clothes at home.

These items make wonderful gifts, and can readily be made from McCall's pattern #7476. This includes complete patterns and instructions for making three sets of doll accessories. Pictured here is one set—a fabric Beach Cabana, rick rack trimmed with a yarn pompon and a matching Beach Mat with slippared compartment, which folds into a Carry-All. Pelt, suede or pliable plastic may be used for the luggage and storage cases included in the pattern.

The Talon nylon cell Zephyr slipper used in each item provides the same smooth performance and appearance seen in top-flight grown up accessories. Now teenage dolls can be properly outfitted and sent off on all kinds of exciting excursions.

Many mothers today "help" their youngsters sew their own doll clothes. These and the unique new doll accessories offer an ideal way to teach sewing skills.

Auctioneer's Chant Starts Burley Sales

OPENING DAY of Kentucky burley tobacco sales is a hectic occasion at warehouses across the state. Here, at Lexington, State Agriculture Commissioner Wendell P. Butler (second from right in light hat) examines the tobacco with Julian Walden, extensive land owner in Woodford and Scott counties. Third from the front at left is Herbert Baker, auctioneer, from Whitman, Georgia. Others in the picture are buyers and growers. Higher prices on opening day were reported on this floor.

Glad to report Ott Inabnit, who was operated on for a ruptured ulcer, is back home and his wife, who has been ill, is much improved.

Hunters report rabbits are very scarce this winter.

Our neighbor, Mrs. Jesse Webster, handed me the wherewithal to keep the Advertiser coming for another year.

Our new neighbors are Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Bagby, who have moved to the Dyke Belew home, second door from your reporter.

WHITES TOWER

Mrs. Ralph Howard, Reporter

Well, this is a very busy community these days with folks selling their tobacco and hurrying with their stripping and shopping for Christmas and parties and all that pertains to the holiday season.

Mr. and Mrs. William Binder and son of Roselawn Drive, went to Louisville, last Saturday and spent the day in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Bockweg. Sunday, they went on to Camp Knox, where they visited with their son, Jerry, who is stationed there in the service.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Hawkins of California, spent last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Whitley of Collier Subdivision, but have now returned to their home. Herbert Barrow and boys spent one day last week at White Tower, to do a little hunting and visit with the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Howard and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Barrow and daughter, Patty, spent last Sunday in Maysville, at the home of his brother, Mr. and Mrs. George Howard. Mrs. Howard had just returned from the hospital a few days previous.

Jerry Colcord of Hempling Rd., Charles Colcord of Williamstown, and Ralph Howard of the Tower, plan a little trip to the Cynthiana Warehouse, on Saturday.

Little Scott Grubbs of the Tower has been on the sick list this week.

Presented to us—
for usefulness to you!

For the second year in a row, in recognition of our usefulness to those we serve, Southern Railway System has won the Golden Freight Car Award. This prized "Oscar" of the railroad industry is presented annually by Railway Progress Institute. No railroad has ever before won it twice.

To us, the Golden Freight Car is more than a cherished trophy. It is public acknowledgment that the people of the South are benefiting daily from Southern's constant efforts to provide better and lower-priced transportation. It will be a constant reminder to us that we must do an even better job.

This unprecedented recognition of our sincere and continuing efforts to increase our usefulness to those we serve is deeply appreciated by all of us on Southern. In the future, as in the past, we will go on doing everything in our power to provide ever-improving freight transportation at the lowest possible prices—saving money for both shippers and consumers.

Life is a burden, bear it; life is a duty, dare it; life is a thorn crown, wear it.

RYLAND HEIGHTS PTA

Ryland Heights PTA held open house at the school on Tuesday, November 25, during which time the parents had the opportunity to tour the school, view text books and other teaching facilities. The teachers were in their rooms to meet the parents and discuss the children and their school activities.

Mrs. Alfred Wilson, president, welcomed members and guests and presided over the business meeting after which followed the room count. Miss Wanda Saylor's first grade room received the attendance banner.

Miss Alma Cottengim, treasurer, gave the financial report. A net profit of $759.80 for the Fall Festival was previously reported.

Mrs. Paul Dorman has been appointed chairman of the special committee for Teachers Appreciation.

Refreshments were served by the fourth grade room mothers. Assisting Mrs. Albert Sandlin, hospitality chairman, were Mrs. Paul Hadden, Mrs. Alfred Wilson, Mrs. William Barnare, Mrs. Douglas Stephenson, Mrs. Roy Powell and Mrs. Donald Combs.

Two loans for construction of senior-citizen homes, one at New Castle and one at LeCenter, were recently approved by the Farmers Home Administration.

To be a King;
Act like a King!

This message is for men only... particularly men who haven't selected a Christmas present for his Queen.

Know what your wife really wants this year? A recent survey shows that an electric clothes dryer is a woman's most wanted appliance. Small wonder! It enables her to dry the family's washing anytime; even on these cold, rainy days. With an electric clothes dryer, she can "waltz through" washday. Sure beats hanging the wash up in the kitchen or bath!

(NOTE TO WIVES: For effective Christmas hinting, post this message in a conspicuous location!)

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Three Friends

Lesson for December 13, 1964

Background Scripture: Philimon.
Devotional Reading: Galatians 2:23-25.

WHO KNOWS how to find the book of Philimon in the Bible? It is one of the shortest "books," less than a page long. Who can name two Bible books that are shorter? Without looking it up, who knows who wrote it, and what it's all about? Well, it's about three men and their strange friendship. Strange because as most people would look at it, they didn't have much in common. One was a prisoner (on false charges); the prisoner was real enough, and one a free man. What was it these three men had in common?

The Thief and the Victim
One of these three was a man of property. He was at least rich enough to own a slave. The rich man was named Philimon, the slave Onesimus. The name was a kind of joke, perhaps, for the word Onesimus in Greek means useful or beneficial. Perhaps Philimon hoped Onesimus lived up to his name. Perhaps he thought — like a modern man who has gone to the wrong used-car dealer — that he had been gypped in the used-slave deal and been stuck with a slave who would never in the world be of any real use. Anyhow, this Onesimus had decided to go to Rome. Naturally he did not consult his master about this. Rome was a long way from Colossae where he lived, so he borrowed the money (again without mentioning it to Philimon). So he became a wanted man; wanted as a runaway slave, wanted as a runaway thief. Somehow or other he got into jail at Rome, probably because he had committed some other illegal act. But in jail, besides all the usual jailbirds, he met a most unusual man named Paul, who "by chance" knew Philimon and perhaps had seen Onesimus loafing about the house. Now the strange thing here is that Paul and the thief Onesimus actually became friends. No less than Paul tried to bring together and reconcile the thief and his victim. What was it that made Paul think he could possibly persuade the two men to live together as brothers?

Take another look at those three men. One of them, to judge from Paul's attitude to him, lived well within the law. You would have been surprised to hear of Philimon in jail. Onesimus was another sort of bird. Finding him in jail was a shock to nobody. He lived outside the law. Neither Philimon nor Onesimus, when you come to think of it, paid much attention to the law. Philimon didn't because he could possibly persuade the two men to live together as brothers?

Christ is the answer
At the risk of insulting the readers' intelligence, let us suggest the answer — it is all the same one — to the questions that have been asked. What did these three men have in common? At first, perhaps little. In the end, Christ. They were all three slaves (as Paul would put it) of Christ, they were Christ's men. It is the answer to the question: how can we get over the barriers between man and man, class and class? Again, what made Paul think he could reconcile a thief and his victim? The answer is, Christ had come into the life of Onesimus. He intended to live up to his name. Christ had made a new man of him. Or again: what law is higher than the highest human court of justice? It is the law of Christ, which means the law of love. In this short letter Paul mentions Onesimus about four times, but Christ eleven times. Our human problems would not be wiped out, but we would be on the way to solving them. If Christ were invited into every tense and angry situation.

The value of education will constantly increase because there are fewer jobs for the uneducated and because society's problems are becoming more and more complex.

A picture is a poem without words.

Wherever you are, wherever you go, you can dwell in the security of Christ's presence—He is your instant, constant help. He is your assurance of protection.

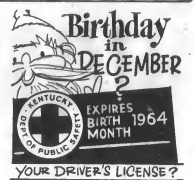

Making a fool of yourself requires little talent.

KENTON

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Parr and children, Danny and Melissa, of Columbus, Ohio, spent Thanksgiving day with his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Mollins and daughters. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Parr. Afternoon visitors were Mrs. Brenda Haney and son, Joey Dale. Later they were guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Parr and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Martin. They enjoyed seeing all their relatives. They returned home Saturday evening. Bernie has recently been promoted to District Manager at Cleveland, Ohio, and his family will move there later.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Barnes on their Golden Wedding anniversary celebration on December 6, held at the Kenton and Community Fire House.

What adds to accidents in the home is the fact that some people aren't thorough enough to get to know their way around.

A Look At Education

—by—
Eugene Robinson

Most parents and adults in general are concerned about children having the good things of life. Parents will go to all lengths to be able to buy material things for their children. In many cases the mother has gone to work in order to buy a few extras or in their words "be able to give my children some of the things that I did not have." Many children are left at home by both parents and the child has to get his or her breakfast or do without as some children have told us. In most of these cases the parents are not at home when the child returns in the afternoon. In short, parents are saying "I am willing to sacrifice my child's home life in order to make him a few extra dollars." This philosophy is heart-breaking for two reasons: (1) The child is missing out on the most important part of his life by not having a well organized and disciplined home, and (2) it is a proven fact that this type of condition contributes to poor school attendance and poor attendance contributes to failure.

Since the school and home are the most important things in a child's life it is only natural that we at school become concerned. We are concerned about the child's home life because it has a direct bearing on his progress in school. We are concerned about his progress at school and for a child to progress properly he must be in school. Also, he needs to leave home in the right frame of mind and should realize that he will be someone at home to help him at night. If this home is not the type that creates this condition many children lose interest and start missing school.

This thing of missing school has been and is becoming a bigger problem for all school people. It is a problem here at Walton-Verona and has recently become a concern of some parents. For this reason I want to briefly discuss the problem as we have it, and try to explain what the school is trying to do about it. Of course, I realize we at school cannot do much about it unless parents are willing to help. As I have already checked today (December 9, '64) absentees and there are 35 people absent from school. Of this 35 there are 22 of them in grades 7 through 12. In other words, out of 324 upper grade students there are 22 absent while out of 338 there are only 13 children absent. Why should the absentees in the upper grades be 7% while the elementary absentees are only about 3 1/2%? Do older children get sick easier? Of course not. One of the main reasons for this is the difference and unconcern on the part of both the student and the parent. How can a student be too sick to attend school and be on the street at 3:30 in the afternoon or attend a ballgame that night? How can a student attend a ballgame, stay out until after midnight and be too sick to attend school the next day? What the reason for being absent really is I do not know. I do know that there have been a lot of calls for shopping, baby sitting, working for parents on the farm or in the home, hunting, vacation, driver's license and many other reasons. This is how useless many of these absentees are; one student missed school three days trying to get driver's license and the day after he finally got them the police picked him up for improper passing. He then had to miss another day of school to appear in court. Another student missed school three days trying to get a driver's license and shortly thereafter passed a school bus unloading children at a speed beyond the limit. Other absentees are almost as useless and to mention a few; just playing hooky, working for someone, taking care of the babies while the parents work or visit, staying out to miss a test or to study for a test. I could go on and on, but I believe you can see the problem that we have. In fact, it is also bad that we have some students that have been missing at the rate of 15 days out of the last 30.

Next week I shall attempt to explain what effect this high rate of absenteeism has on the school and the student.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM AT SCHOOL TONIGHT

The annual Christmas program, presented by the Walton-Verona Schools, will be held Thursday evening, December 17, at 7:45, in the Walton school auditorium.

The program will feature all of the elementary students singing Christmas carols and the W-V mixed chorus and concert band.

This seems to be the largest gathering of people in the Walton-Verona area during the entire year, and this is truly the only community Christmas affair.

Hundreds of students will be present. The public is invited.

CHRISTMAS CANTATA

The Walton Christian Church choir and members from the Walton Methodist Church choir will present the Christmas cantata "The Eternal Light," by H. Alexander Matthews, at the local Christian church on Sunday, Dec. 20, at 3:30 p. m., under the direction of Gertrude L. Henson.

Soloists will be Marilyn Moore, Freda Parton, Nellie Egan, Dorothy Still, Jack Rouse, and Max Wernly.

BAND BOOSTERS

The Band Boosters of Walton-Verona Schools met at the band room on Monday evening with 9 present. President Jean Thornton was in charge.

A continuance of plans for the ham supper to be held on January 15 were discussed. Mrs. Andy Jarman is chairman of the event.

Mr. James Layne, Music Director, discussed with the group the Christmas program to be held on Thursday evening (tonight), and the Birthday calendars which will be sold in January, through a different company, as well as the music festival coming up in April.

Wa-Na Club Has Christmas Party

Saturday evening, Mrs. Robert Elenschnmidt, Mrs. John Taylor and Mrs. Clayton Jones were hostesses to the Wa-Na Club for their Christmas party at the RECC building, near town.

Husbands and guests of the club members enjoyed a ham supper and a social evening together.

Mrs. Robert Slayback gave the Spiritual Guidance, and Rev. Wm. Moore gave the grace before the covered-dish buffet supper was served.

Following the meal, Mrs. Asa M. Rouse had charge of some entertainment. The group, divided into teams, decorated a Christmas tree, using some of the men as tree trunks. Try to imagine Lloyd Yates, Charles Holder, William Moore, Nelson Popham, Pete Miller, John Taylor, and George Black as the models. A social hour followed.

Enjoying the evening were: Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holder, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Sturgeon, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rouse, Mr. and Mrs. Asa M. Rouse, Mr. and Mrs. James Wiser, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Yates, Rev. and Mrs. Heinz Wahrenburg, Rev. and Mrs. William Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Henson, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Webster, Mrs. Alva Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Flynn, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Popham, Mr. and Mrs. David Peebles, Mr. and Mrs. George Black, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Slayback, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Elenschnmidt, Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor, and Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Jones.

Oak Island Homemakers
At the December meeting, Oak Island Homemakers answered roll call with a fact about Africa. There was an exchange of handmade gifts and tickets were distributed for the Bob Braun "Good Morning Show," Dec. 18.

Plans were completed for the annual Christmas party, which is to be held at the Oak Island Baptist Church on December 19 at 6:30 p. m. All former members and friends are invited to attend. Hostesses for the day were Mrs. Donald Dressman and Mrs. Frank B. Jackson.

VACATION TIME

As is our custom, the Advertiser staff will be taking a vacation this year at Christmas. The office will close December 24 and will not be open for business until Monday, January 4, 1965.

Remember not to send in news or ads for December 21 as there will be no paper that week. Thank you for your cooperation.

Children's Xmas Program

Miss Rebecca Berna, Music Supervisor of the Kenton County Schools, will present a children's Christmas program at the Dec. 17 meeting of the Kenton Elementary School PTA, to be held in the school gym. Children from the different grades will participate in the program. The time is 8:00 p. m.

Mrs. Willard Clade called the Executive Board together Dec. 9 to discuss present business on hand.

There will be refreshments served after the December meeting of the PTA.

Boone County OK's Study For Home

The Boone County Fiscal Court has approved a study on the need and ways of paying for a senior citizens' home at Burlington.

The motion to approve a study—at no cost to the county—was carried, two to one, last week. Magistrates Dale Williamson and Charles Carpenter voted for the motion, and Magistrate Leo Lawson cast a no vote. He said he didn't want to obligate any future fiscal court personnel to the project.

The home would be available for residents of neighboring counties, according to Judge Bruce Ferguson.

Campbell County Judge A. J. Jolly, who led his county's Lake-side Place project for senior citizens, will perform the study. He will act as fiscal agent if Boone County decides to go ahead with the home with state aid.

When a good idea enters an empty head, it is in solitary confinement.

Simon Kenton PTA Enjoys Program

A short business meeting of the Simon Kenton PTA was held on Monday, December 7, 1964, in the school cafeteria.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Wesley Hall, president, and Mrs. Mullins, teacher and devoted chairman gave a very good talk.

Salute to the flag was led by Bruce Stephens, Scout member of Troop No. 8, of Independence.

Mrs. Elmer Lee, magazine chairman, urges members to subscribe to the PTA magazines, they contain a lot of worthwhile reading.

Mrs. Howard Fredericks, membership chairman, is doing a fine job in securing members, but wonders why some parents have not yet joined.

Mrs. Harold Buxton, program chairman, with the aid of Mrs. Sterling Stages, cultural arts chairman, presented a very interesting program. We were invited to the music room where Miss Elaine Satchwell, graduate of Simon Kenton, and now student of music at University of Kentucky Center, sang two beautiful Christmas hymns.

We then had the privilege of seeing Mr. Rodon give the band a rehearsal. This was most interesting, and the music was greatly enjoyed. The band now has a room of their own, this helps for better practice, also for caring of the instruments.

We, officers and committees of the PTA wish for each of you a Joyous Christmas and a New Year filled with many blessings.

The Boone County Democratic Executive Committee has terminated a traditional political custom with Gallatin County. The committee, composed of a committeeman and a committeewoman from each of the county's 23 precincts, voted last Saturday to notify Gallatin County that Boone would no longer abide by the traditional alternating of legislators.

It has been the custom to get behind a Boone candidate for four years, then a Gallatin candidate for four years in the race for state representative. The two counties form the 62nd Legislative District.

Rev. Herbert Tinsley, Warsaw, is the incumbent, and under terms of the old mutual party agreement would be entitled to the two-county support for another two-year term.

However, Dan J. Roberts, Walton, former state representative, has expressed his desire to run for the legislature, and the Boone Executive Committee concurred on the grounds that Boone's population of about 22,000 is more than four times that of Gallatin County.

At the same meeting, James C. Conner, Hebron, was re-elected titular head of the party.

Evergreen is one of the most traditional symbols of the holiday season. However, greenery when it dries out is both a fire hazard and the needles and leaves fall off throughout the house. So here are some pointers on the use of evergreen in your Christmas decorations.

Your cut Christmas tree needs to be kept moist throughout the holidays to reduce fire hazard and retard needle drop. Many water-holding bases are on the market. Be sure the one you get is deep enough so that it will keep a day will keep the water level well above the end of the cut stem. Then be sure you place water in the base regularly.

The base should also be stable enough to prevent tipping. Any cover for the base should be fireproofed. You can get fireproofing materials to treat the tree. However, keeping it moist is one of the best methods. Doing both adds to safety.

Use of commercially grown Christmas trees is growing in Ky. Most popular is the Scots pine, now commonly called Scotch pine. These and Austrian (black) pine are grown in Kentucky Christmas tree plantations. Balsam fir and black spruce are imported from Canada. Occasionally other types of evergreens from the western United States are used. Hemlocks are also used, but, like spruce, they tend to drop their needles early. The native red cedar (juniper) has been widely used and is still cut and sold to those who think it is the only kind of Christmas tree to have.

Regardless of which one you use, put the freshly cut stem in a large, deep base. Then water the tree often enough to keep the water level above the end of the cut stem.

Clippings from several of your evergreens can be used indoors for decorations. Japanese holly foliage stays fresh amazingly long when used to provide greenery in flower arrangements. Out of water it dries and withers as fast as other broad-leaved evergreens. In those Christmas decorations where you have used hollywood, the round-leaved Japanese holly is a good substitute. Berried American holly branches are widely used in Ky. for Christmas decorations.

Narrow-leaved (needle) evergreens are often useful Christmas decorations. The traditional Christmas tree is changing rapidly from red cedar to Scotch pine, balsam fir, and similar evergreens. Clippings of these and others from your own plants can be used. Often, clippings of many types of yews, junipers, arbovitae, as well as pines, firs, hemlock, and spruce can be used. Hemlock and spruce tend to lose their needles before you want them to.

Clippings (not shearings) of all types evergreens can be used if you will "pluck" pieces that are long enough for your purpose. You will have many such pieces if you delay your evergreen pruning until you need the green pieces for Christmas decorations. Cut the branches back to shorter side branches. But leave the plant still loose and graceful.

The Night Before Christmas

The Boone County Health Department extends to you a Christmas greeting with their own version of the old, familiar poem, "The Night Before Christmas:"

"Twas the night before Christmas when all through the house Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse,

When down through the chimney, all covered with soot, Came the "Spirit of Fire," an ugly galoot.

His eyes glowed like embers, his features were stern, As he looked all around for something to burn. What he saw made him grumble; his anger grew higher For there wasn't a thing that would start a good fire.

No door had been blocked my the big Christmas tree. It stood in the corner, leaving passageways free. The lights that glowed brightly for Betty and Tim Had been hung with precaution so none touched a limb.

All wiring was now, not a break could be seen, And wet sand at its base kept the tree nice and green. The tree had been trimmed by a mother insistent That the ornaments used should be fire-resistant.

And mother had known the things to avoid, Like cotton and paper and plain ceiling. Rock wool, metal icicles, and trinkets of glass Gave life to the tree; it really had class!

And would you believe it? Right next to the tree, Was a suitable box for holding debris, A place to throw wrappings of paper and string, From all of the gifts that Santa might bring. The ugly galoot was so mad he could bust, As he climbed up the chimney in utter disgust. For the folks in this home had paid close attention To all the rules of good "fire prevention."

Goshen Mission

The regular meeting of the Goshen Christian Mission was held December 2 at 1:00 p. m. It was delayed until afternoon so several ladies of the Mission could attend the Paul Dixon show in the morning as members or friends of the Piner-Fiskburg Ladies Auxiliary. All enjoyed the show.

The president, Mrs. Ruby Worthington, called the meeting to order by asking Bro. Mastin to lead in prayer. The roll was called by the president in the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Elaine Mastin. There were 13 members, two visitors, and a child present.

The treasurer, Mrs. Edna Callen, read her report. It was accepted as read. The offering for the afternoon was $16.75; cards and Christmas gifts sold, $16.30; total collection, $33.05.

The Sunshine reported, Mrs. Edna Colston, reported 117 cards sent and 15 visits made to the sick.

Ways and means chairman, Mrs. Gertrude Marshall, gave a report on the white basket ladies made up for a family in the community for Thanksgiving.

It was decided to fix several fruit baskets, as is done each year, to give to the elderly folks for Christmas. It was also decided to send Christmas cards to boys in service who are members of the Goshen church.

There was no hostess for the meeting. However, Mrs. Gladys Colston served each lady, before the meeting, a piece of Christmas cake, ice cream and coffee. Mrs. Gertrude Marshall had the haremment beautifully decorated in the Christmas theme.

Hostesses for the next meeting will be all the ladies with Mrs. Lillian Elliott in charge of table settings, etc. The program leader will be Mrs. Ruth Worthington.

After the meeting, the Christmas program began. Each lady read a poem or something pertain-

The 85-acre park just off U.S. 227 on the Madison County side of the river is near the site where Daniel Boone and his companions in 1775 established Fort Boonesborough. The park's natural sand beach area will also be graded, a new walkway to the beach will be constructed and the bath-house will be remodeled. Other areas have been sodded and seeded.

AI 4-H Congress

Charlotte Richardson, member of the Keen Teens 4-H Club, has returned from one of the most wonderful weeks she will ever live.

Charlotte was one of 33 delegates from Kentucky to attend the 43rd National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, November 28 through December 4.

She was selected state winner in the light horse and pony project. Her trip was sponsored by the Illinois Central Railroad. She has carried this project four years and organized the Kenton County 4-H Klop Klub.

During her week, many activities took place. She toured the Chicago Art Institute and the Chicago Museum of Science and Industry. She also attended various friendship parties, general assemblies and discussions, National 4-H Press Service, special 4-H banquets, a pop concert by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Arthur Fiedler, and the evening horse show and rodeo at the International Livestock Exposition Center. It was an enchanting week and Miss Richardson will long remember it.

Kentucky has an active organization for development of all her resources which links development organizations from the community to the state level. There are community development clubs, county development associations, area development councils, and the Kentucky Development Committee.

SUPPORT YOUR PTA!

It's everybody's job!

BRINGING NEW INDUSTRIES to a community and keeping them happy after they get there is everybody's job. No one man or organization can do it alone.

Community leaders help by initiating and carrying out long-range civic policies and programs attractive to industry. Owners and managers of existing plants help by welcoming industrial newcomers and making them feel at home. Men and women workers help by showing their willingness to do a full day's work for a fair day's pay.

Yes, and Southern Railway helps, too! Southern's Industrial Development Department constantly seeks new industries for available plant sites. Throughout the year, our national advertising urges industrialists to "Look South" for new and greater opportunities. And we do our best to provide an ever-better, low-cost mass transportation service, so vital to the modern industrial South.

All of this effort helps all of us. For a community's economic growth does more than provide new and bigger job opportunities. It quickly spreads out in all directions to benefit men and women in almost every type of service, trade and profession.

'Little Gal of the Golden West' Is National March of Dimes Child

A blue-eyed lady of four years, known affectionately in her home town of Denver as the "Little Gal of the Golden West," is the 1965 National March of Dimes Child. Her name is Michaeline ("Mickey") Lea Heinicke.

Mickey symbolizes the quarter-million American infants born every year with severe birth defects on whose behalf contributors to the March of Dimes have financed programs of research, medical care and education.

Mickey's mother, Maxine, tells of the tragedy that today befalls one in ten families in the United States.

"Like tens of thousands of other couples, Paul and I were heartbroken and numb when we learned the truth a few days after Mickey was born. I am a nurse, and I had had some experience with babies born with an open spine, which was the case with Mickey. I was under no rosy illusions that this third child of ours would ever walk."

"But," asks Maxine, "do you remember that song, 'Did You Ever See a Dream Walking?' The refrain comes back to me every time I see Mickey walking on her crutches and braces, or furiously riding her hobby horse in the yard, or doing an Indian war dance to her phonograph records. I say to myself, 'this is my little dream walking.'"

"But my husband and I would never have experienced this real-life dream without March of Dimes help."

Mickey, whose spinal rupture was repaired when she was only three days old, is now midway through a tour that precedes the coast-to-coast March of Dimes campaign in January. Although severely handicapped, this four-year-old thrives on the long days tedious air-hops between cities, appearances at conventions and the strain of meeting Senators, Congressmen, Generals, stars of stage and screen and other public figures.

Mickey is already a veteran trouper, unimpressed by the might in high places. Her mother says, apprehensively: "Birth defects are the greatest problem than polio ever was. To attain the same successful end that was achieved in eliminating polio, we need not 50 birth defects centers but fully 150 centers to help these afflicted infants and children. Funds are also needed desperately to support research, inquiries into the many scientific problems involved."

"I sometimes look at the crippled Mickey around our country, at children born without arms or legs, at other tots doomed unnecessarily to lives of mental retardation—all due to birth defects; and I wonder how many of our warmhearted citizens can fail to demand and to finance a means to end this shocking destruction whatever the cost."

Basil O'Connor, president of The National Foundation, says that the need for many more such centers is acute.

Thousands of people are combing the woods this hunting season. Help make it a safe season by following a few simple rules.

Be sure of your target when you shoot. Keep the safety on until you are ready to shoot. Never point your gun at anything you do not intend to shoot. Remember to unload your gun before climbing a fence or tree, or before placing the weapon in your car. Remember, too, that gunpowder and alcohol do not mix, and when you get home, make sure your guns are unloaded before they are stored. Put your ammunition and guns in separate places, away from children and out of their reach.

Feeding beef steers on grass alone for about 80 days and then giving them shelled corn free choice the rest of the grazing season was successful last season at the U. K. Ag Experiment Station. Dr. Neil Bradley, beef research, says the test confirmed findings of the previous year as to the system's value. The first year test animals traded choice in carcasses. Last season they averaged high grade to low choice in a similar test.

"It seems to be a good way to combine the cattle, grass and corn and get the type of slaughter beef in demand now," he says. "Last year was not a good year for beef cattle prices, but we found we still did all right with our test steers on this system."

He noted that the test also compared value of such items as trace mineral salt and bonemeal offered or force fed.

"In the force-fed groups, the animals got up to 14 times as much mineral salt as offered free choice, and up to 12 times as much bonemeal."

"However, there was still no advantage to the force-fed groups over the freechoice groups."

In recent years 18 of the 500 largest farms in the U. S. have located plants in Kentucky.

THE BIBLE SPE

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

"God With Us"

Background Reading: Matthew 1.

WHAT DO WE SEE MOST at Christmas? A fat "saint" who probably never lived; babies; manger scenes; sleighs (who sees real ones any more?); wreaths and poinsettias. But these are not the real Christmas.

The day is a birthday. Never mind the fact that the date is almost certainly not the date on which Jesus was born; granted that the date and the festival were not specially noted until about three hundred years later. The fact is, this is the day now marked off by the church as an annual celebration of the birth of our Lord. It is not meant to be a day for glamorizing motherhood or babyhood; not a day best celebrated in department stores. Santa Claus will do as a happy make-believe; but Santa is not the meaning of the day. If we celebrate it as the Lord's birthday, we may well say we are at the same time celebrating the birthday of the world.

The two names of Jesus
We can put together two sentences about the name of Jesus. When a baby is born, visitors who come to admire ask as a first question: What do you think you'll name her (or him)? The baby born at Bethlehem, whatever the year, whatever the weather, had been named before he was born. It's a very interesting thing Matthew says here. The child is to be called Jesus, the angel told Joseph; and Matthew comments that this fulfills a prophecy which says plainly that his name shall be called Emmanuel. So far as the New Testament goes, no one actually called Jesus Emmanuel. The family did not; his mother did not; the writers of the New Testament generally use other ways of speaking of him. Every reader is entitled to his own guess as to why this was, and why Matthew sees in "Jesus" the fulfilling of the prophecy that his name would be called Emmanuel. (Emmanuel is, of course, just another spelling, meaning the same thing exactly, God with us.) The guess ventured here is this: Jesus was so to speak his public name; Emmanuel was a private name (even Jesus never used it) — one might say God's name for his son; we might say that the private name explains the public name.

Name of an Army man
Nobody in Jesus' time could have been surprised by the name he bore. No doubt many boys had the same. Just as boys to this day are named for George Washington and Robert E. Lee, so boys in those days were named now and then for Joshua, the famous army man, one of Israel's heroes in her hall of fame. The name Jesus and the name Joshua are just the same in Hebrew, Jesus' own language. The name means deliverer, rescuer, one who comes to the help of those in distress. The name has also a tinge of triumph about it. It means a conquering hero, one who delivers by beating down the enemy. The name would suggest someone like a gallant knight of feudal times, his sword unsheathed for the defense of the weak and helpless, rescuing prisoners from dungeons. In olden times men had given the name "Messiah" to the hoped-for Deliverer; and the language of many of the prophets used had led people to think the Coming One would be a great military man, saving the Jews from the Greeks or the Romans as the case might be. But the name Jesus was never taken by Jesus in a military way. He raised no army, would not accept even an army of angels if it were offered him. Jesus' enemy was not the Roman empire, not Pilate, not Herod. It was Evil in every form, it was most of all Sin. Sin is the worst tyrant that ever choked the life out of men who should be free. Every time we hear the name Jesus, we are meant to think of him as the deliverer from sin.

Republican Club Party

Over 150 people attended the annual Boone County Republican Club Christmas party, held Dec. 10, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Howard Ravenscraft, Riverview Drive, Hebron.

Following the covered dish dinner, a short business meeting was held to elect officers for the coming year. Elected president was Kenneth Harper, Sr., Florence, and named treasurer was James Deister, U. S. 42, Union. Re-elected to the office of vice president and secretary, respectively, were Carrie Martin and William Conrad.

Outgoing President Chas. Wiley commended the club on its tremendous growth, drive and enthusiasm the past year. Campaign Chairman William Tanner noted that Boone County tied for first in the district toward achieving their goal in the presidential election, and ranked fifth in the state—proof that hard work pays off despite heavy odds.

Named to Committee

Mrs. Connie Quinn, director of the division of Clean-up and Beautification in the Kentucky Department of Natural Resources, has announced the appointment of a state-wide committee composed of representatives in all of Kentucky's 120 counties.

The Boone County named to this committee was Mrs. Dorothy Caldwell of Burlington.

A Look At Education

—by—
Eugene Robinson

The state law says that any child that is physically and mentally able must be in school and attend regularly. The state law further states that the local school board, through its employees... pupil personnel director, principals and superintendent... will see that the law is complied with. The law further states that money will come from the state on basis of the number of students that attend school and the district will be penalized or lose money for each child that misses school. So you can see that school officials really have two concerns in trying to keep children in school. First, it is for the good of the child, or what he can gain by being present, and secondly, it is for the financial benefit that comes to the school district by the child being in school.

Schools throughout the state have used various methods in trying to keep children in school. We have attempted several different things at Walton-Vernon and most of these have not proved to be successful mainly because parents would not or did not support the plans. At the present time, the Walton-Vernon regulation says that students will be given an excuse for being absent because of sickness or death in the family. All other absences are unexcused and the student will be given a zero for that day's work.

This regulation has brought strong protest from some parents and I can understand why they feel the way they do. Farmers have said, "I need my child to work." If we excuse boys for this, then a local merchant could say I need my child to clerk in the store or a mother could say I need some help with my spring cleaning on the days I am home from my job so I want my child to stay home and help me. You see there is no end to it, and an excuse of this type is just as legal as the other.

We have talked to some authorities about giving driver's tests on Saturday, but no one seems interested. The question comes up... if a child has waited 16 years to get licenses, why can't he wait a few more months and get them in the summer? It seems to me that vacations could be taken in the summer and hunting trips on the weekend and so on. What I am trying to say is if a child misses school for a day that day is gone forever and what happened in the classroom cannot be reproduced. It is over, regardless of how much extra work is done and a child just missed something. It is just a matter of parents deciding which is more important... my child's education, a trip, or the day's work he may get out of him. It is just that simple and far too many parents are saying by their actions that education is not important. They are really saying that a little pleasure or an extra buck is more important. Someday when someone checks the school records and finds that your child was absent a lot or poor grades were made because of being absent, don't be surprised if they are turned down for jobs. Would you employ a person that did not stay on the job? Well, some of your sons and daughters are not staying on the job.

As I said earlier in my discussion of this problem, we have trouble in carrying out the regulation because of parents that protest strong enough to be dishonest about it. One parent said to me when we would not excuse their child for some reason other than sickness, "Well, in so far as you know my child was sick and will bring a note signed by me stating this." I'm sure this happened and is still happening. Parents that do this or allow their child to do it are teaching them that they can do anything, lie about it and nothing will happen. Mom and Dad, what are you going to do someday when your children (Continued On Last Page)

To Get Home For Boys at Bellevue

With Corps of Engineer authorization last Saturday to use 11 acres at Lock 38, Bellevue, in Boone County, Kentucky's entire Child Welfare program begins a change toward better administration.

The long-sought approval was made public by Welfare Commissioner Richard Clendenen, who said a camp for 40 to 60 boys, aged 10-13, will be built on the site. The Welfare agency plans to renovate the five buildings—worth about $100,000—which were installed when the lock was developed.

It will be the agency's seventh such camp for juveniles, and will round out a system in which each unit will have a specialized program. Clendenen said when the camp opens sometime next year, it will help reduce population at overcrowded Kentucky Village. At the same time it will make possible intensive treatment of boys on the basis of their special needs, Mr. Clendenen added.

Judge Bruce Ferguson said the camp would be an asset to the county. "Hereafter," he said, "if we had a juvenile to be detained, the only place we could keep him was in the woman's quarters in the Boone County Jail. I have been told we'll be able to send such boys to the new camp until time to handle their cases."

Judge Ferguson also said the facility will employ 20-25 local people as cooks, caretakers, house parents, etc.

The Welfare agency had tried for months to get the engineers, who wanted the land developed for recreation, to release the property for institutional use. The Parks Department, however, rejected a bid on the land saying it wasn't large enough.

We have by frugal spending, advance planning, and daily sacrifice arrived at a position of sound financial condition and are not planning to raise our rates or threaten the community with closing our doors to the needs of the good people hereabouts.

We have always said that we will go any distance, at any time to help some person out of danger—we see no need of abandoning this principle."

PINER HOMEMAKERS

Christmas was celebrated by the Piner Homemakers Club, Dec. 15 at the RECCO building, near Nicholson. Mrs. Wm. Woltermann arranged lovely table decorations. She put Christmas characters under inverted clear glass goblets and used them for candle holders. Each of the red candles was decked with a red bow. Each place setting consisted of program folder, a Christmas napkin and a smaller red candle. These candles stood in a stereofram ball adorned with a tiny poinsettia. They were lighted during the candle light service.

Traditional carols were sung by the group. Nina Tomlin and Effie Colough prepared the turkey and trimmings. Others brought covered dishes. It was fun to open gifts and learn who secret pals were all this year.

Each member brought a towel for a burned-out family and homemade candy for elderly shutins.

Add superphosphate materials to farm manures which the latter accumulates in barns, feed lots and loafing areas. This will reduce loss of nitrogen from these as gaseous ammonia.

Superphosphate kept nitrogen losses in three months to 3 percent of the total in tests. Straw kept the loss to 19 percent, rock phosphate 45 percent. Non-treated wastes lost 56 percent.

Daily rates of superphosphate for various types of animal manures are: Cattle and horses, one to two pounds per head per day; hogs and sheep, one-half to one pound per head per day, and chickens, one pound per day for each 100 hens.

Use high-quality bedding to prevent nutrient losses in liquid manures. Uncut wheat and oat straw will absorb about twice their weights in water. Cut or shredded straw will take about two times as much water as uncut straw. Shredded corn stalks, peat moss and wood shavings are good absorbents. Uncut straw allowances per head per day are: Cattle, 9 pounds; steers, 7 to 10 pounds; horses, 10 to 15 pounds; hogs, 1 1/2 pounds, and sheep, 1 lb.

Food will continue to be a bargain, retail clothing prices will probably increase slightly, and the volume of consumed food purchases will continue to expand during the next year.

The outlook for 1965 is for continued expansion in food expenditures, though at a reduced rate. This year's increase in good expenditures is partly due to price increases, partly due to increased population, partly due to larger consumption of food per capita, and partly due to more and higher priced marketing services.

Underpinning the rise in food expenditure is an exceptionally large increase in consumer incomes this year. The outlook is for continued strength in incomes and the economy in general.

Many people inquire about recipes for using leftover turkey. This is an excellent recipe that is shared by Florence Imlay, former Foods Specialist with the University of Kentucky Extension Service.

Turkey or Chicken Noodle Ring
Two cups fine noodles...cook as directed on package (much better if chicken or turkey broth is used to cook noodles in)...drain...1 T turkey or chicken fat or butter...1 T flour...½ cup cream...½ cup rich broth...1 teaspoon salt. Make the above ingredients into a sauce. When slightly cooled add ¼ cup grated cheddar cheese, and few drops of onion juice, and the yolks of 3 eggs. Blend.

Add the drained noodles to the sauce. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into a well buttered ring mold. Place over a pan of boiling water and bake about 35 minutes at 325 degrees.

Unmold and serve with creamed turkey or chicken in the center of the ring. Other ideas for using leftover turkey are some of the following: turkey and rice soup, broiled turkey and cheese sandwiches, turkey a la King, and various casseroles.

Try this baked turkey salad for a different idea.

Baked Turkey Salad
(Makes 10 Servings)

2 cups cooked turkey, diced...2 cups celery, diced...½ teaspoon salt...1 tablespoon onion, minced...½ cup nuts, chopped...1 cup mayonnaise...2 tablespoons lemon juice...½ cup stuffed olives, sliced...½ cup cheddar cheese, grated...1 cup potato chips, finely crushed.

Combine all ingredients except cheese and potato chips. Spoon into buttered 1½-quart casserole. Combine cheese and potato chips, sprinkle over turkey mixture, bake in 375 degree oven for 20 minutes. Serve hot.

WHITES TOWER

Mrs. Ralph Boward, Reporter

Well, we have some very cold weather at this time, but it looks like there will be no white Christmas this year, but there is still a couple of days for that to happen.

Robert Grubbs of the Tower has returned from the service and has returned to his job with the telephone company, we are glad to report.

Pvt. Jerry Binder of Roselawn Drive, came in from Ft. Knox, where he is stationed with the special air borne forces, for the holiday season and looking fit as a fiddle. He is a grandson of this writer and we were all very glad to see him. He will return to his base January 1.

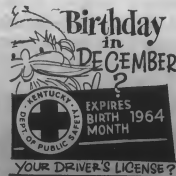

Pvt. Joseph Goedde of Decourage Road, is due to arrive from the Navy base where he is stationed for the holiday season, and I am sure there will be a warm welcome awaiting him.

Herbert Barrow, Enquirer man of Latonia, has been honored with the announcement that he has been made a Kentucky Colonel, we are proud to say.

Miss Cora Cox and her brother, Jerome, and George Perkins of the Tower, are spending a quiet weekend at home but plan to go to their original home in Williamsburg, for the holiday season.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Caldwell of Visalia, have moved to Latonia, and plan to sell their pretty home at Visalia.

A very pretty sight was the home of Mrs. H. L. Faulkner of McCullum Drive, last Tuesday for the Homemakers' Christmas party and a very gracious hostess indeed.

A new dimension
on the Southern today!

MICROWAVE COMMUNICATION is the new dimension in fast, dependable railroad service. And Southern Railway, in its spirited determination to be of ever-increasing usefulness to customers, has in use along its lines today the nation's largest privately-owned industrial microwave system.

What's more, plans have already been announced to more than double the present system of 1,900 route miles by an additional 2,200 route miles.

Total cost of this modern, reliable, all-weather communications medium will be about $28 million. Southern looks on this as an investment in an even safer, even more efficient and reliable railway. Microwave speeds up our system of keeping tabs on the availability of equipment and on the movement of freight. It helps us keep freight moving on the demanding schedules our customers require. Overall, it means better, lower-cost, more useful service on Southern Railway.

Adapting new and better methods to railroad operations, or creating them ourselves, is putting "Southern's accent" where it belongs — on the things that help us increase our usefulness to customers. All in the South benefit.

Strange Kingdom

Lesson for January 3, 1965

Background Scripture: Matthew 3.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 61:1-11.

HAVE YOU EVER heard so much about a person you have never met, that it almost seems that you have met personally after all? Let's suppose you have a friend — call him Bill — who in turn has a friend named John. In the course of a year or two Bill has told you so many stories about John that you feel you know him. You know how he acts, you can guess what an emergency; you may think well of him that you want nothing better than to arrange to meet him. And yet Bill has never given you the whole story of John's life. What he has given you are living glimpses into the character of a real man.

The New Testament gospels are like that. Strictly speaking, the gospels do not give us the story of Jesus' life. What they do is to give us a number of short stories about him, a number of remarks he made. They tell us so much — every bit of it revealing to us the man who we feel we know the vital facts about Jesus.

Each of the four gospels puts together a different set of stories and reminiscences of Jesus; and each mosaic comes out a different (but not contradictory) picture. The portrait in Matthew comes out showing Jesus, a child born "across the years" to be speak, a young man earning his living for years as a carpenter, being all the time a King. This was astonishing, how could Jesus have astonished you, too, if you had been there. Jesus lived in what would nowadays be called an occupied country or territory — occupied by the military of a foreign nation, that is Rome and the Romans were everywhere. Now the Romans had one Caesar and that was enough. (In future years that was not enough, but that's another story.) The point is that every Jew in the place ground his teeth every time he thought of the hated Romans and their insolent soldiers. The question is, how could Jesus or any one else claim to be a King without getting entangled with the Romans?

Great expectations

There were two reasons in particular why Jesus did not immediately get pounced on by the watchful Roman security police. One was that he did not at first lay claim to a throne, when people called him Messiah (which meant something like King-Elect) he would vigorously hush them up. Another reason was that he lacked the things most pretenders to a throne would be expected to have, such as an army and a squadron of diplomats. But the real reason why it was so long before the Romans took notice of him was that he turned out to be so different, and his kingdom so different, from the king and the kingdom the people were looking for, that his own people, the Jews themselves, did not recognize him.

Reality

What they got, or what they were offered, was something. Some One, far better than their greatest expectations; a king who would not only be the legal heir to David's throne, — which Jesus was — but one whose "all authority in heaven and earth" had been given. They expected a Kingdom, right away, in which every evil which tormented man would be destroyed, and right maintained by force. What they got, or what they were offered, was a kingdom of the heart, a realm that might have to wait centuries to be fully established, yet one which could begin now — and does exist in the hearts of faithful people everywhere. The news of this kingdom is never expressed as a second-best, or as a disappointment; it is always good news, — for that is what "Gospel" means. It is the best news there is. The kingdom of Christ is as near to you as your next prayer; it is as powerful as the Spirit of God.

Kentucky's five financing plans give the state every modern financial technique it conceivably could use.

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—Is there great difficulty involved in changing beneficiaries on my National Service Life Insurance policy?

A—No. Changing the beneficiary on your GI insurance policy is easy, and can be accomplished by sending the VA insurance office where you pay your premiums. Be sure to include your policy number.

Q—I would like to know if there is any advantage in having my GI insurance policy premiums deducted from my compensation payments?

A—The most important advantage is that it relieves you of the necessity of remembering to pay each premium when due, and eliminates the possibility of lapse. You also save the time and cost of drawing a check or money order and mailing it your VA insurance office.

Q—I am a widow of a serviceman who was killed in a training accident. He had only peacetime service. There are two children for whom I would like to provide a good education. It is my understanding that only "War Orphans" are eligible?

A—Your children appear to be eligible for educational assistance through the VA. In certain circumstances peacetime service is sufficient. See your nearest VA office for further information.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Wise Men's Gift

Lesson for December 27, 1964

Background Scripture: Matthew 2.
Devotional Reading: Isaiah 60:1-6.

LIKE GOLDEN GLEAMS of light in a dark house of mystery, the wise men of Matthew's story come and go. They came from the east, they brought their gifts, they went home another way. How many there were, what were their names and where their homes, no one knows. What was the star that led them? Did they know who the "King of the Jews" really was? Did they forget all the adventure, as the years grew cold? The church has never known exactly what to make of this story. Some count it a legend that has found its way into the original story. Some supply details not in the Bible.

They did not know who he was.

The wise men called the Child they were seeking "King of the Jews." Followers of this Child would find higher names for him in time. They would call him Savior, Son of God, even God only-begotten. It is very doubtful whether these visitors could have passed a good examination in "Christology." But they brought their gifts all the same. If they had known who he was, they might have come or sent messengers, from time to time during the years. They might have waited till the Child was grown, and sent some one to find what wisdom he had gained from his mind. When the story of his life had been written, they might have asked for a copy. No, all they saw was a Child, and he was to be a king. That he would be king of the world and not of the Jews only, that his throne would be not in Jerusalem's doomed walls but in the hearts of men, they did not know and could not know. They did not wait till they knew all about him before they made their gifts. They knelt to him as the highest they knew. They paid him tribute they paid no other. So it may be with us today. Do you know who Jesus is? The wisest man can never quite put into words the full meaning of Christ. But do you know his superior? Some super-Christ? There is none on the road, none promised to mankind. It will be time to speak of a greater if God sends one. Meanwhile what Christ requires is loyalty, not explanation. Following brings understanding.

They brought what they had.

The gifts are interesting. Gold we can understand; that would befit a king. But myrrh and frankincense? These were spices such as one could buy in any bazaar. For some reason it has always been supposed that these wise men were rich, even kings. Alas, wise men are not always rich in this world's goods. It is just as likely that they had spent all they had simply on the journey, and could spare only the little they had left for gifts. There was nothing to go with the gold; no pearls, no silver, no jewels. These were humble gifts, myrrh and frankincense; but if that was all they had, they gave it and gladly.

So it may be with us. We read stories of great and gifted men, and we think how much we could do for the kingdom of God if we were only men like Saint Paul, Saint Augustine, Martin Luther or William Carey. We doubt whether we could really endure to the end as martyrs if we fell into the hands of communist secret police. So because we cannot offer Christ great heroism, or outstanding genius, or immense wealth, we offer nothing at all.

They did not ask to be repaid. The gifts of the wise men were gifts, not loans. Not bribes. These men sent no statement of accounts payable. They did not think the Child, even a royal child, owed them some generosity in return. They were never repaid, never reimbursed for the expense of the long journey. A gift from them was a true gift, it was not something on account. Once more a thought for these days when it is still Christmas: how many of our gifts we made, how many of the generous thoughts we had, how much of what we may have done for Christ in his church, was really given?

IN THE WAKE OF A SONG

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

Candle in the night... the old story made new again... the love for the Christ Child, poignant, deep... the nostalgia of past Christmas remembered. In the wake of a song, "Silent Night, Holy Night," all this comes to mind. And we envision Christmas with the trappings of holly and mistletoe, the flick of bright red ribbons, the glimmer of the star on the tree.

Yet, amidst of the Christmas comes in mid-winter. There is no holly, no mistletoe, and there's not apt to be a tree. But it is Christmas just the same.

This is not merely a season, this time of the birth of Christ. It is much, much more. To understand it fully... to see it in its entirety... share in the Church.

TAYLOR MILL

Ernest J. Kyle, Reporter

Ponds on farms around the Tower are beginning to look natural again, being almost full of water since the recent rains. Several of them had bulldozers at work raising the water level from four to eight feet.

Bob Mathis sold his tobacco recently. It brought a top price and weighed out exceptionally well. Mrs. Jess Webster, who has been quite sick, is much better at this writing.

The writer would like to buy a barrel of dried walnuts as we lacked quite a few pounds in filling orders this year.

The Pentecostal Church of God is putting the finishing touches on the addition to their church on Taylor Mill.

NOTE: News mailed Dec. 14; received Dec. 16.

CARD OF THANKS

Accept my sincere thanks and appreciation, all my relatives and friends who sent cards, made visits or remembered me in their prayers while I was so ill with pneumonia recently. A special thanks to Dr. William M. Waller for his medical services, and to Mrs. Omer Black for her faithful and loving care. Your kindnesses will be remembered. 11-52c —MISS EVA ROBERTS

A Look At Education

For every 27 absentees we average a day for the year the school loses between $500 and $600. At the rate we are going now we will average more than that. This is enough money to buy a bus which we need very badly as some of our parents that have children picked up early will testify. If we had $800 to spend on classroom material and equipment I think our teachers could do a better job. This amount of money figures out to be $1.30 in state money that we do not and will never get.

Parents, if the school does the best possible job in teaching your child and in getting all the money available for your school, you must do your best in keeping your child in school.

A high school education is something that extra dollars and extra jobs will not buy. It is something that is available if the children will take advantage of it. Mother and Dad, you just have to accept some of the responsibility of seeing that your child is in school and that he or she does his best while there. Really, if you care about your child's future you will see that he does not miss a day of school unless he is sick. If you really care about his future you will accept the fact that the few dollars he made for you while staying out of school to work or the pleasure he got just from missing is nothing compared to the vast benefits a good high school education will offer him. By keeping a child out you are denying him of quality education and denying the school the opportunity of giving children the best as far as finances are concerned. Listed below are some occupations and the additional money the job would pay in a lifetime to high school graduates as against people without a high school diploma: Carpenter, $31,000; Plumber, $30,000; Truck driver, $23,000; Plasterer, $42,000; Service worker, $34,000. Lifetime earnings according to years of school completed have been quoted as follows: Less than 8 years, $143,000; 8 years, $184,000; 1-3 years high school, $215,000; 4 years high school, $247,000; 1-3 years college, $293,000; 4 or more years of college, $417,000.

Another point to consider is that any employer, when considering high school graduates for a position, will select those that have better grades and better attendance records. I sincerely hope that with the coming of the new year that parents and students will accept their responsibility and really work toward good school attendance. It takes only common sense to realize that a good education is the most important thing a person can have and to neglect same is almost as bad as neglecting one's health.

Youngsters See Santa

Santa Claus visited the Walton Firehouse recently and spoke to 385 youngsters at both Verona and Walton. Treats were provided and a ride for each on the equipment. This was the largest turnout ever and the helpers were pressed to see that everyone was attended. The local firemen say, "Make this Yule Tide Season a happy, holy time—remember to be safe with your trees, homes, autos."

Office Closed Dec. 26

According to Charles N. Benson, Boone County Circuit Court Clerk, his office in the Burlington Court-house will be closed on Saturday, December 26.

VERONA

Florence Edgington, Reporter

Mrs. Lewis Searcy left Tuesday by plane for Nevada, to be with her daughter who was quite ill. We are glad to report the daughter is now getting along nicely. We hope to see Mrs. Searcy home soon.

Jim Bob Hamilton arrived home Sunday from Texas, where he is stationed. He will report back to camp January 3.

Thursday with Mrs. Alice Vest of Walton, with nine members and five visitors present. The January meeting will be with Mrs. Verie Webster.

This scribe wishes each and everyone at the Advertiser a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

CARD OF THANKS

James Reed, pastor of Beaver Lick Baptist Church, wishes to express his personal gratitude to each of the members and to the friends of the church who contributed so generously for the purchase of our new piano. We truly rejoice at this expression of unselfishness and generosity. Many, many thanks for contributing to our need. 11-51*
